and was working at Carolina Mirror Corporation in North Wilkesboro at the time of his enlistment in service.

Recently Corporal Mahaffey's parents received a beautifully decorated diploma that had been awarded to their son in testimony to his fine character and Christian faith. The parents are very proud of the award and rightly so. Set up like a regular diploma, decorated with a border of stars and the flag above the diploma issued by Vincent A. Cox, Chaplain of the 38th Engineers, reads:

"To certify that Vernon T. Mahaffey of the 38th Engineer Regiment, has adhered faithfully to Christian principles during his services in the Army of the United States of America, World War 2.

"Loyal and courageously, he has cheerfully resigned himself to hard labor, sacrifice and the demands of modern warfare and has remained faithful to his God and to his country.

"In spite of inevitable anti-Christian influences, such as irreverence toward God, blasphemy, drunkenness, adulterous, riotous gambling and profanity, his Bible, his God, his church and his prayers have been his close companions and military efficiency and courage have been his practice.

"The undersigned takes pleasure in approving his fine character and the fact of his faith in God"—Signed by Vincent A. Cox, Chaplain 38th Engineers.

Cpl. Mahaffey is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, of North Wilkesboro.

A Baby Industry Does A Man-Sized Job

Thanks to the pioneering of your State Extension Service and other agencies, poultrying has ceased to be a side line and become an important industry—especially vital in war agriculture.

Electric brooding, lighting, laying houses, water warming, ultra violet radiation and other practices are playing a great part in today's production records.

Our Rural Service Department has for years worked closely with your County Agent and Extension Specialist to encourage more efficient, more profitable poultrying.
