

L. C. Breeders Top Poland China Sale

North Carolina Poland China hog breeders sold their animals at an increase of $14.50 per head over the average price in competition with breeders from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, South Carolina, and Georgia at the recent Southeastern Poland China Type Conference and sale at Orangeburg, South Carolina.

P. M. Horton of Wake County sold the top gilt for $205 and Walter Kirby of Wilson County sold the top boar for $150. Horton, Kirby, Douglas Hill Farm of Scotland Neck, and R. S. Leonard of Black Mountain marketed their animals at an average price of $87.50 per head.

The purpose of the conference, according to Swine Specialist Jack Kelley of State College, was for breeders of Poland China hogs, extension workers, and vocational agricultural teachers to meet and agree on the best type of hog to grow.

The official type committee was made up of hog breeders, packers, and one member each from the animal husbandry departments of North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia. About 300 people took part in the conference, which included the judging of nine classes of hogs.

W. P. Farrior, assistant farm agent of Halifax County, came second in the judging contest with a score of 885 out of a possible 900 points.

County Agent J. O. Anthony of Wilson County said that the hogs from North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia "showed up just as well or better than the hogs consigned from outstanding breeders of the Western states."

Hire Handicapped; It's Good Business

This is the slogan of the United States Employment Service for National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, October 6-12 which is set aside annually by Act of Congress and Presidential Proclamation.

Mr. J. B. Williams, President of the Wilkes County Chamber of Commerce, today suggested that employers take inventories during this week to determine availability of jobs for disabled workers. "The purpose of this week," Mr. Williams said, "is to promote employment opportunities for physically handicapped persons in jobs which match their skills. Personnel inventories will show not only that most establishments have some handicapped workers already employed, but that they are efficient workers, and thus illustrate possibilities for other such workers in similar jobs."

Mrs. Kathryn A. Lott said that the United States Employment Service has the facilities to counsel, select, and refer disabled veterans and other impaired workers to employers. USES, she stated, can assist both management and labor through referral of qualified workers for jobs and in some cases for accredited apprenticeship programs, but cannot bring disabled workers and jobs together unless employers list their employment needs with USES. She further stated that physically handicapped workers have records for production, absenteeism, turnover, and accident frequency that equal or exceed comparable records among able-bodied workers. Employers are urged to "List that Job Today with USES which a Disabled Person Can Do—It's good business to hire the Handicapped."

Who Said
"NOBODY DOES ANYTHING ABOUT THE WEATHER?"

This is the loft full of hay that rains would have ruined if these good farmers had not already schemed with Reddy Kilowatt to outsmart the weather by calling in this Duke Power Company rural service specialist to help plan their installation of hay drying equipment.

Here are the simply constructed air ducts of a barn drying installation that, in one season alone, saved twice its cost.

One of the Jersey bobby-soxers that will benefit from hay quickly and evenly cured, with no nutrients leached out by sun or rain and a maximum of vitamins and chlorophyll left in. →

Hay drying is only one of the ways in which electricity is helping to reduce the risks and increase the profits of farming. For further information, one of our agricultural engineers may be reached through your nearest Duke Power Company Office.
