Thurston-Lowe Marriage Saturday At Taylorsville

Miss Lucy Goodale Thurston, of Taylorsville, became the bride of Mr. James Lucius Lowe, of North Wilkesboro, Saturday evening, February 8, at eight o'clock at the Presbyterian Church in Taylorsville.

Dr. Joe Carter, of Newton, former pastor of the bride, and Rev. M. J. McChesney, pastor of the bride, officiated, using the ring ceremony. The church was decorated with arrangements of plumosa, amilax, white snapdragons, floor baskets of white gladioli, and candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The pews were tied with white gladioli and white satin bows.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Howard Gryder, organist, presented a program of nuptial music consisting of "Nocturne in E Flat by Chopin" and "Schubert's Ave Maria." Miss Gladys Campbell sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was used for the processional and during the ceremony "Liebestraum" was played. Mendelssohn's March was used as the recessional.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother-in-law, Mr. Carl Buchan, of North Wilkesboro. Serving as usher-groomsman were Dr. Tom Thurston, of Durham, Mr. Steve Thurston, of Atlanta, Mr. Robert Thurston, of Taylorsville, brothers of the bride, Mr. William Brame, Mr. Philip Brame and Mr. Jerry Derr, of North Wilkesboro.

Miss Geit Thurston, of Taylorsville, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink brocade taffeta styled with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, and three-quarter length sleeves. Her headdress was a shoulder-length veil of net, in matching pink attached to a halo of braided pink net. She carried a blue fan bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis showered with net and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Cook and Miss Ruth Cook, of Staten Island, N. Y., Miss Cynthia Townsend, of Jacksonville, Fla., Miss Annette Wadlin, of West Orange, N. J., Miss Lucy McNeely, cousin of the bride, of Mooresville, and Mr. Tom Thurston, of Durham, sister-in-law of the bride. They wore dresses and headdresses in blue styled like those of the maid of honor and carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers.

Little Miss Anna White, of Taylorsville, and Master Tommy Thurston, of Durham, nephew of the bride, dressed as miniature bride and groom, preceded the bride, scattering pink rose petals.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Dr. Asa Thurston, wore a wedding gown of white slipper satin designed with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves ending in an accordion pleated ruffle, and a draped skirt with a bustle back of accordion pleats sweeping into a long train. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion fell from a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms and she carried a white satin fan bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis showered with net and stephanotis. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Thurston, mother of the bride, wore black lace and chiffon gown and an orchid shoulder bouquet. Mrs. Lowe, the bridegroom's mother, wore a gown of black lace and a shoulder bouquet of orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents at their home in Taylorsville. The bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Lowe, Dr. and Mrs. Thurston and members of the wedding party stood in the receiving line. Greenery and white gladioli decorated the home. Mrs. William White and Mrs. Sloane Payne poured coffee from silver service at each end of the table. Others assisting in the hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Sherrill, Mr. Sloane Payne, Mr. William White, Miss Fannie Lee Pruitt, Miss Ann Campbell, Miss Lillian Zachary, Miss Joy Teague, of Taylorsville; Mr. and Mrs. Thurston McNeely, of Mooresville, and Miss Dicky DuVall, of Atlanta.

Later in the evening the couple left on a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling the bride wore a pink gabardine suit with brown lizard accessories and a white orchid shoulder bouquet.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Asa Thurston, of Taylorsville, and the great-granddaughter of Rev. Asa Thurston and Lucy Goodale Thurston, the first missionaries to the Hawaiian Islands. She attended Peace Institute in Raleigh and was graduated from Woman's College of North Carolina in Greensboro in 1946.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucius Smith Lowe and the late Mr. Lowe, of North Wilkesboro. He was graduated from North Wilkesboro high school. Upon the death of his father he took over the family business, Lowe's Hardware. During the war he served four years in the army, spending six months in Okinawa and Japan. Since receiving his discharge he has resumed his duties with Lowe's Hardware. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe will be at home after February 24th, in North Wilkesboro.

Many out of town guests from Wilkesboro, North Wilkesboro, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Chapel Hill, Atlanta, Hickory, Mooresville, Charlotte, Elkin and Durham attended the wedding and reception.

Ammonium nitrate has been made available in pill form for use in fertilizing.

Commissioner

Thurston-Lowe Cake Cutting

Immediately following the wedding rehearsal Dr. and Mrs. Asa Thurston, of Taylorsville, entertained at their home in Taylorsville on Friday evening, February 7th, honoring their daughter, Miss Lucy Goodale Thurston, and Mr. James Lucius Lowe, whose wedding was solemnized Saturday, February 8th.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered by a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, flanked by antique slippers filled with mixed flowers, and candelabra holding white tapers. Ribbon streamers extended from the symbols in the base of the cake to the edges of the table. The home was decorated with greenery and white flowers. Miss Geit Thurston, sister of the bride, assisted in cutting the cake and Mrs. William White presided at the punch bowl.

The bride-elect wore a Grecian gown of pink and rose chiffon Jersey and a corsage of Gardenias. The bridal party, members of the two families, and intimate friends were present.

Saturday morning February 8th, Miss Thurston and Mr. Lowe were honored at a wedding breakfast at the Hickory Country Club by Dr. and Mrs. Tom Thurston, of Durham, brother and sister-in-law of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stevenson, of Hickory.

The breakfast table was graced with jonquils, iris and acacia. Covers were laid for fifty guests including the bridal party, members of the two families and intimate friends.
