Lions Defeat Statesville Team 19 to 6 Friday

North Wilkesboro Mountain Lions found the Statesville Greyhounds tough competition Friday night at Statesville but won a convincing 19 to 6 victory over the Iredell boys.

Outcome of the game was probably decided in the opening minutes. North Wilkesboro kicked off to Statesville and Brad Davis recovered a Statesville fumble on the 30-yard line. Davis made 15 yards in two tries and power plays carried to the 2, where Davis went through the line to score. Try for point through the line failed and the score was 6 to 0.

The second period was on a-tout even terms with neither team able to get up steam for a serious goal line threat until the third period. Davis began ripping the Greyhounds' line for first downs and from the 13-yard line McGinnis went around left end on a beautifully deceptive play behind good blocking to score. Try for point again failed.

Statesville's Smith, fast running back, thrilled Statesville fans with a 50-yard run in the third period to the 20. But in four downs of trying to score the Statesville lads lost two yards and Hudson got off another of his long punts to get out of the hole. The Greyhounds then put on a short drive which carried for two first downs.

Early in the final period, the Mountain Lions got on the march which carried to pay dirt when Davis went over from the three and added the point through the line to make the score 19 to 0.

Statesville's lone touchdown came late in the game when Coach Bowers had about half the second team on the field for North Wilkesboro. Smith momentarily fumbled a punt, inside the 20 and when it appeared he was bottled in the corner he broke out down the sidelines and ran 30 yards to score.

Brad Davis was a powerhouse in the Mountain Lions' backfield and he repeatedly ripped open the Greyhound line for substantial gains. McGinnis also ran well and Badgett looked like he was away for a score when a Statesville defender slugged the ball from his arm, for which Statesville was penalized 15 yards.

Committee Met Friday to Make Definite Plans

Legion Clubhouse Will Be Temporary Quarters; Ask Municipal Funds

At a meeting of a committee of citizens with Major Roy Forehand and Col. R. E. Thompson final plans were made for reactivating the National Guard in North Wilkesboro with organization of Battery C of the 112th battalion of the 30th division.

Major Forehand, a combat veteran of the Pacific war, had previously agreed to assume command of the battery through the organization period.

An extensive recruiting campaign to secure the authorized strength of 77 enlisted men and five officers will begin on Monday, November 10, and all who are interested in becoming members of the guard are asked to be at the North Wilkesboro town hall at eight p. m. on that date.

The committee Friday estimated that costs of the guard organization to the point where it can be federally recognized will be $750. The committee will ask $250 each from the Town of North Wilkesboro, Town of Wilkesboro and Wilkes county.

The greater part of this fund will be needed for construction in order that the American Legion clubhouse may be made in shape to pass inspection as a temporary location for the guard. The Legion, Major Forehand said, has offered use of the clubhouse at guard headquarters and drill hall rent free until January 1.

Major Forehand explained a contributory membership plan. For $25 yearly a person may be a contributing member of the guard, which carries certain valuable privileges, not the least of which is that a contributing member can be excused by law from jury duty in North Carolina. The local battery will be allowed 25 contributing members.

Close cooperation has been accorded the National Guard movement by the North Wilkesboro city council, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, Major Forehand said, and continued cooperation will be essential to the successful operation of the battery.

It is explained that enlistments in the guard is not confined to veterans, but any male 18 years of age and over in good physical condition may enlist. Veterans may enlist at the same rank held in service provided there is an operation in the guard for that rank.

The battery may be federally recognized 60 days after 20 per cent of the authorized strength is attained, at which time federal funds are available.

Plan For Armory

In the next congress will be a bill to provide for funds for erection of armories, with federal and state funds supplemented by municipal funds. Armories will be municipal property of towns in which they are constructed and may be used for many types of public gatherings when not used by the military organization.

Wilkesboro Takes Measure of Jonesville 34 to 6

By WES HAYDEN (Sports Writer Winston-Salem Journal)

Elkin, Oct. 31.—Flipping the pigskin around like a red-hot coal, Coach Eddie Adelman's Wilkesboro Ramblers ran and passed a big and bruising Jonesville outfit dizzy in the second half to attain a 34-6 triumph at Memorial Park here today in their seventh straight decision of the year.

Adelman, remembering a 38-0 nod the Ramblers had racked up in an earlier meeting of the two clubs this year, started his second stringers. It was a mistake that the Wilkes Countians spent the entire first half in rectifying after spotting the blue-clad Jonesville gridders a six-point lead in the first quarter.

Coach Adelman sent in his first team when a bad pass from center made it impossible for Whittington, first-string quarterback, to get his punt off, and Jonesville took over on the Wilkesboro 35-yard line.

Freeman going in for a bit of the same sort of hipper-dipper that later proved the Jonesville undoing, romped 16 yards on a double reverse for the Jonesville tally.

A 58-yard sprint by Ray Triplett, on a lateral from Bill Whittington, knotted the count with a couple minutes of the first half remaining and Jack Groce hit the line for the point to make it 7-6 at the half.

That play set the pattern for a wide-open onslaught in the last two periods as the Ramblers dug deep into their bag of tricks and came up with a light-fingered brand of stuff that was too fast to follow. Groce put the visitors up with a 78-yard trek early in the third period, Whittington added another minutes later on a short plunge, and the winners racked up two more tallies in the fourth canto. One came after a pass from Whittington to Triplett and the other on a beautifully-executed end sweep that went for nine yards and a score almost before anybody in the park spotted Whittington with the ball.

Campaign Now On For Street Lights In Holiday Season

Committee Plans To Make Christmas Lighting Here Outstanding In State

The campaign to raise $3,000 for Christmas lighting of streets in the Wilkesboros got under way today.

The Trade Promotion committee of the Wilkes Chamber of Commerce plans this year extension of Christmas lighting to cover an area almost double that of last year. The number of streams will be increased from 36 to 63 and the number of stars from 10 to 25. In addition, much of the wire formerly used has worn out and must be replaced.

Last year a fund of $2,000 was raised, but because of the vast amount of material to buy the budget was increased this year to $3,000. Next year, the committee said, the cost should be reduced about 50 per cent under this year's figure, because the materials will be available from this year and replacements will be small in comparison.

The committee has learned that other cities and towns in the state this year will have improved lighting, and if present plans are carried out, the holiday lighting in the Wilkesboros will remain outstanding.

The committee in discussing the plans issued the following statement:

"We want to make the Wilkesboros the best lighted and most attractive towns of this section of the state, places to which people want to come and go home talking about. Regardless of where your business is located, encouraging people to come to town and stimulating the Christmas spirit helps you and everyone else."

Teske Speaks At Kiwanis Here And Visits Orchards

Horticulture Specialist At V.P.I. Says Great Opportunities Here

A. H. Teske, extension horticulturist at Virginia-Polytechnic Institute and recognized as one of the leading authorities on apple production, addressed the North Wilkesboro Kiwanis club Friday and spent some time at orchards on the Brushies.

W. G. Gabriel was in charge of the Kiwanis program and Mr. Teske was presented by Tom S. Jenrette, secretary-manager of the Wilkes Chamber of Commerce.

Opening his address, Mr. Teske advocated a diversified agriculture for this section, saying that diversification would be better financially and in the interest of health with a better diet for the people.

He stated that he visited Wilkes about 12 years ago and found that the apple growers take problems too easily, explaining that they should operate their orchards according to good business standards as a merchant or industrialist would operate.

The speaker advocated planting of proper varieties which have most demand on the market, and that they should market their apples in good, uniform packs. This section, he said, is not taking advantage of its opportunities in horticulture, particularly apples. He explained that the states of Washington and Oregon have no better opportunities, yet produce and market a vast amount of apples. Access to consumer markets and an earlier marketing season are especially advantageous here, he said.

Prof. Teske outlined the following four points as essential here:

1. Plant trees on proper site with good elevation and drainage.
2. Plant varieties that have a ready market. Out of 1,500 varieties, only five or six are successful for marketing.
3. Modern methods of spraying save time and money.
4. Uniform and attractive packing of apples will establish a reputation valuable in the market.

While in Wilkes, Prof. Teske spent some time at the ABC orchards on the Brushies in company with J. B. Williams, Tom Jenrette and Carl E. VanDeman. He also visited other orchards in this section.
