Navy To Initiate Enlistment Drive

An all-out campaign to enroll in the United States Navy men required to man and maintain the essential activities of the Navy Fleet will be conducted throughout the nation during the week of February 22nd to 29th. This period has been designated as "Fill The Fleet" Week, and will climax an accelerated recruitment activity to begin in January. Aim of this concentrated campaign, which bears the endorsement of national civic organizations and leaders, is to enlist in the Navy enough young men to keep in operating condition, the currently active ships, aircraft, and supporting bases of the United States Fleet. Fill The Fleet Week is designated to provide replacement for those who will leave the naval service by reason of retirement, expiration of enlistment, and other attritional causes. The Navy now is facing a critical personnel problem. During wartime, ninety-two per cent of its strength consisted of naval reservists. With demobilization and return of most reservists to civilian life it became necessary to accept short-term enlistments in the regular Navy to fill the gaps caused by rapid demobilization and still maintain the active forces required in support of our national policy. It is these enlistments that are now expiring in large numbers—a total of 232,000 during the 1948 fiscal year—which creates the urgent current need for recruits to maintain the Fleet at operating strength. Through local leaders, clubs, and civic organizations, each citizen is being asked to give full and active support to the achievement of the recruiting program.
