FARM BUREAU OPENS MEETING

Asheville, Feb. 1.—Approximately 550 delegates braved the wintry blasts of snow and ice today to attend the opening sessions of the North Carolina Farm Bureau's convention at Vanderbilt Hotel.

The four-day program began with a vesper service sponsored by Associated Women, an affiliated group. Previously delegates had registered to start the convention.

R. Flake Shaw of Greensboro, executive vice president of the bureau, accompanied about 250 members on the Goldsboro-Asheville train trip. He said 1,500 members were expected, but many were prevented by the weather.
