They've been running around too much...

The wheels of a car frequently "run around" at a speed of 1,000 revolutions per minute or more. At this speed, even slightly unbalanced or out-of-line wheels set up destructive vibrations that ruin a car's wheel and steering mechanisms. Shaky steering, uneven tire wear, body rattles and squeaks — all may be caused by out-of-balance or misaligned wheels.

Visit our service department today and let us check your steering system with our precision John Bean Wheel Balancing and Aligning Equipment. You can see for yourself just what is wrong. Savings in tire and chassis wear will more than pay for the job.
