D. A. R. Chapter Met Tuesday Afternoon

The April meeting of the Rendezvous Mountain chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. W. Eshelman with Mrs. Russell G. Hodges as associate hostess, having a number of visitors from nearby chapters. Mrs. Hodges, the regent, presided for the business session at which time Mrs. Eshelman, chairman of the nominating committee, presented a list of officers for the current year in the chapter. The officers, unanimously elected, are regent, Mrs. Gordon Finley; vice regent, Mrs. R. G. Finley; and treasurer, Mrs. E. N. Phillips.

Mrs. W. C. Grier and Mrs. C. Don Coffey, Jr., who recently attended the National Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution held in Washington, D. C., gave fine reports of the meeting. For the program Miss Ellen Robinson gave an interesting paper on Flora McDonald.

Visiting D. A. R. members were Mrs. Lina Rousseau, of Granite Falls, district director, who made a short talk. She was accompanied here by her sister, Mrs. Abernathy. Other guests included Mesdames Harrell, McNeer, and McDaniel, from Elkin; Mesdames Miller, Sherrill, and McElwee, from Statesville; and Mrs. S. B. McLaughlin, of Charlotte, the latter a houseguest in the Eshelman home.

At the close of the meeting the group was invited into the dining room where a delicious tea course was served with tea being poured by Mrs. C. T. Doughton.

Electrical Safety Very Important

"The 'killers' and 'firebugs' hiding in electric wires must be kept under control," according to J. P. Choplin, county agent for the State College Extension Service. "They may strike without warning. When used safely electricity brings happiness to the entire family and helps take the backache out of routine farm chores."

The National Safety Council recommends three steps for electrical safety.

The first step is a safe wiring job. All wiring should be inspected by a qualified inspector certified by the power supplier. Circuits, outlets, and wire sizes should be planned to meet the needs without overloading. Temporary wiring, unnecessary extension cords and other amateurish installations should be avoided. The entire wiring system is no safer than its weakest link.

The second step is good electrical appliances safely installed. When you buy electrical appliances look for the "UL" label signifying that the equipment has been tested and approved as safe by the Underwriters Laboratory. Stationary equipment should be grounded and may require special circuits for safe use. Portable equipment used in damp places should also be grounded.

The third step is safe use and maintenance of the electrical system and appliances. The best wiring and equipment needs some attention now and then. Watch for broken insulators, frayed cords, loose outlets or switches and damaged or worn fixtures. Don't delay repair—it may cost a life. Be sure the electric current is turned off before any repair work is attempted.
