SOCIETY

District Seminar Largely Attended

"By His Light Shall the Nations Walk" was the theme for the Statesville District Seminar held Thursday, September 16, at the Woman's clubhouse in North Wilkesboro with the members of the W.S.C.S. of the First Methodist church acting as hostess for the day. Mrs. J. C. Madison, of Hickory was in charge of the opening devotions which included a prayer by Miss Lella Tuttle, Lenoir, a returned missionary from China.

The four study books for the year were presented by Mrs. C. A. York, High Point; Mrs. J. P. Hornbuckle, Newton; Miss Lillian Walker, Charlotte; and Mrs. J. D. Ames, Tryon. Mrs. J. B. Steele, Hickory, who presided for the meeting, in her introductory talk gave an explanation of the various types of classes that might be held.

America's Geographical Frontiers, which is a study of the book "On Our Own Doorstep" was given by Mrs. York. This is a graphic introduction to the problems of the hour in Alaska, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, and the Virgin Islands. In closing Mrs. York stated that what we need is a bridge of love that these step-children may come over and come into our homes and hearts and not be left on our own doorstep.

Mrs. Hornbuckle, who presented Spiritual Life Growth, also the book, "Newness of Life" for Dale Stentz, of Shelby, who was unable to be present due to illness, emphasized the need for prayer groups establishments of Christian homes with family altars, grace at table, and the quiet hour. A telegram was sent to Mrs. Stentz, who was taken ill while attending a seminar meeting at Asheville, and put in a hospital there.

Miss Walker, who spoke on "China in the Asia of Today" urged more local societies to accept missionary projects, both in the home and foreign fields. Due to high costs of living salaries of missionaries must be increased.

Mrs. Stentz in presenting "The Bible and Human Rights" outlined four phases of the text, the Bible in human rights, the church in human rights, the United States in human rights, and the world in human rights.

Some of the essentials in program building as given by Mrs. Madison were variety, using more members, attractive rooms, worship centers, inspiring leaders, and the presentation of community needs.

In the noon worship hour led by Mrs. Hornbuckle, she used as her theme, the stewardship of small blessings, using as a scripture text, "How many leaves have you?"

Approximately 125 attended the meeting which included a large number of the district officers. At 12:30 a picnic lunch was served on the clubhouse grounds with the invocation being offered by Dr. J. C. Stokes, of Maiden, a former pastor of the Wilkesboro church.

members were guests for the supper. Other visitors included Miss Sallie Hauser, of Raleigh, and Mrs. Bernice Ulrich Ross, of Rutherford, N. J.
