Why should I bother to save?

Saving is the time-tested plan for getting the things you want: a new home, a car, household conveniences, a vacation, or a summer cottage, for instance. There is no substitute for thrift. And the dollars you save today will buy more later on when prices go down. Save for a definite purpose and you'll add zest to living.

County Agent Sees Need For Safe Farm Driveways

The farmer who condemns cities because of narrow streets and blind alleys may have a similar traffic hazards right in his own front yard, says Paul Choplin, County Agent for the State College Extension Service.

Mr. Choplin refers to the farm driveway, which he says, is a blind alley of weeds on many farms. "More than one third of our farm accident victims are from motor vehicle mishaps," he adds. The National Safety Council recommends the following procedure in building a safe driveway:

1. Measure a distance of about 700 feet or 290 paces along the highway to the left and place a marker at the edge of the pavement on the side nearest the driveway entrance.
2. Measure a distance of about 700 feet or 290 paces along the highway to the left and place a marker at the edge of the pavement on the side nearest the driveway entrance.
3. In the same manner set another marker 700 feet in the opposite direction but this second marker should be on the side of the highway opposite the driveway entrance.

4. Sit in the driver's seat of the car. If the markers can be seen, the sight distances are proper if the traffic going by the farm does not exceed 60 miles per hour. If the markers cannot be seen, then weeds, bushes, and other obstructions must be cleared away to make the driveway safe.

If a heavy, slow-starting truck will be using the driveway, the markers should be set 830 feet away in each direction instead of 700 feet.

Mr. Choplin called attention to the fact that a highway right-of-way is usually 66 feet in width. If it is necessary to trim bushes or remove obstructions on this right-of-way, the matter should be taken up with the highway official under whose jurisdiction it falls, he said.

Fireworks Injuries Decrease Sharply In North Carolina

Durham, N. C.—Injuries caused by fireworks in North Carolina decreased sharply since the 1947 State Legislature banned the sale and manufacture of fireworks, according to a survey released by The Hospital Care Association.

Signed reports were received from 1161 North Carolina physicians who stated they treated 106 patients injured directly or indirectly from firecrackers, Roman candles and or fireworks during the thirty-day period of December 10, 1948, to January 10, 1949.

Two years ago a similar survey reported that 751 patients had been treated for fireworks injuries. There were only 2 injuries by fireworks in Wilkes in 1948, compared to 8 in 1946.

The Hospital Care Association is a non-profit Blue Cross organization which provides 170,000 North Carolinians with a voluntary plan of prepaying hospital, maternity, and surgical bills.

Executive Vice President E. M. Herndon said:

"The original survey and this year's survey were conducted as a service to the public and to our members. In both instances, all physicians signed their reports in writing. The results show not only a marked decrease in the number of patients treated, but also in the number of seriously injured persons' and in the number of hospital admittances due to injuries caused by fireworks. The danger has not been eliminated but progress is obvious."

"All North Carolina is indebted to the newspapers and doctors for their vigorous crusade and to the legislators and State officials for effecting this considerable saving in the health and well-being of our people."

Twenty persons, mostly youths, were seriously injured during the past Christmas-New Year season as compared with 121 two years ago. Nineteen hospitalized cases were reported in the last survey as compared with 74 two years ago.
