Paul Gentry Sets Basketball Record

Paul Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gentry, former residents of this city now in Richmond, Va., bids fair to set an all time record as a high school basketball player.

At Hopewell, Va., January 25 Paul set a new single game record by scoring 50 points as Jayem high walloped Hopewell Blue Devils 83 to 40. "His ball handling was great, the best ever seen here, and his shooting was magnificent," press reports said.

Following is reproduced an article in the Times Dispatch January 27:

Look out, folks, John Marshall's Paul Gentry is back in form.

The likeable, easy-going Justice forward who set a new Group I high school season's mark of 432 points in 21 games last year, including 91 points in the tournament held in Norfolk, was just "taking things easy" during Jayem's first fire ball games, but now he's "ready to go full steam."

Paul established a new Group I individual scoring record at Hopewell Tuesday night by tossing in 22 field goals (in 34 attempts) and six charity throws for 50 points as the Justices won 83-40.

"About half of the goals were tap-ins," Coach Jim Hickey stated. Paul is one of the best in the business on follow-up shots as well as a fine hook-shot artist.

Gentry, who not only is a crackerjack shot but also one of the best ball handlers and ball hawks ever seen in these parts, injured his right knee in a freak accident during football season and had a cartilage removed. Although Paul declared the knee did not pain him in early drills, Hickey hesitated to turn him loose.

"Suppose you had been in my shoes?" Jim asked. "What would you have done? I didn't want Paul to cut at full speed right away and possibly reinjure the knee. I wanted him to take it easy and work his knee back in shape gradually."

Now Paul's ready to show the doubting Thomases who were shaking their heads after seeing Gentry in action prior to the Hopewell tilt. True, Paul had hit the hoops for 17, 22, 10, 18 and 11 points, respectively, for a 15.6 average while "taking it easy" but the fans had begun to cry that even that respectable performance wasn't up to par for a fellow like Gentry.

All Sharpshooters
What they had failed to consider was the fact that Paul was shooting very little—and you can't make baskets unless you shoot. This year's Jayem club is even better than the '48 team. Even Hickey admits that much. Every man on the team can shoot.

"Paul just didn't have to shoot," the Justice coach reminds, "with fellows like Simmons, Huff, Roach and Hoffman around. So he fed them the ball."

Everyone seemed to be worried except Gentry, Hickey and his mates.

"Well I thought Paul was ready Tuesday night," Hickey continued, "so I just turned him loose." Then he smiled slyly. Paul was the only regular to play the entire 32 minutes.

With reserves in the game, with the exception of Gentry, the regulars on the bench started to chant "Feed the ball to Paul."

This John Marshall team is a funny lot for high school youngsters. They're pretty good ball players themselves, but there's absolutely no resentment to the "fuss" people make over Gentry.

N. C. Retailers Are Optimistic About Year '49

Raleigh.—Most North Carolina retailers are optimistic about 1949 prospects, the State Merchants Association reported yesterday.

They expect a volume of business which will compare "very favorably" with the large volume of 1948, the association said it determined from forecasts received from representative merchants in every section of the State.

"An overwhelming majority of the predictions are unreservedly optimistic," declared W. L. Dowell, executive vice president and secretary of the association.

He added, however, that some of the forecasters mentioned anticipated declines in prices and a transition from a seller's to a buyer's market in predicting a retail volume of five to 10 per cent below that of last year.

Most of the forecasts, he said, agree that 1949 will be a good year for retailers because of a high level of employment, good wages, demand for quality merchandise, and general prosperity.

Good Games Coming Up Here This Week

Highway Mechanic Injured By Blowout

George McNeill, of Parsonville, a mechanic at the highway division garage here, was painfully injured Wednesday morning when a tire about which he was working exploded.

Mr. McNeill and a colored prisoner were playing large tires on a heavy roller when a tire they were working on the machine blew out and slammed the rim across Mr. McNeill's face. Deep facial cuts and bruises were inflicted and he was treated at the Wilkes hospital. The colored man received cuts on one leg.

Cancer Goal For State $210,000

Mt. Airy, Feb. 2.—Governor Kerr Scott has accepted the appointment as honorary chairman of the American Cancer Society's April fund-raising campaign in North Carolina, Mrs. George E. Marshall, Commander of the State Division of the Society, announced today. E. Y. Floyd, business man of Raleigh, will work with Governor Scott as active chairman.

"North Carolina's goal of $210,000 will not be easily reached," Governor Scott said in accepting the appointment, "but I feel strongly that the people will meet the challenge. I am familiar with the accomplishments of the American Cancer Society in North Carolina, and with its plans for the future. The complete cooperation of doctors and laymen has been most significant."

"The work of the American Cancer Society in this state has deserved the national recognition it has received, but the praise given it by North Carolinians is perhaps more important."

Governor Scott continued, "It is a distinct pleasure to accept the post of honorary state chairman and to work with Mr. Floyd and his associates in the April campaign of the American Cancer Society."
