Gardner-Culler Vows Wednesday At First Methodist

Miss Mary Lee Gardner, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Frank Gardner, of this city, became the bride of Donald Turner Culler, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Culler of Wilkesboro, at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon, in the First Methodist church. Dr. Gilbert R. Combs, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The vows were spoken before a background of palms and ferns interspersed by seven-branched candelabra, holding cathedral tapers, and large baskets of white gladioli. The chancel, covered in white, was adorned with a train of smilax.

In prelude Miss Lois Scroggs, organist, played "Prelude et Cantilene" by Samuel Rousseau, "Canon in B Minor" by Robert Schumann, and "Pastoral" by Cesar Franck. Miss Jo Lassiter, soprano, sang "O Perfect Love" by Burleigh and "Ich Liebe Dich" by Grieg. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was played for the professional. Mr. Lewis Vickery, baritone, sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Forsyth as the benediction. Mendelssohn's march from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was played for the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Mrs. Henry Sink, of Mooresville, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Tilson of Lincolnton, Miss Margaret Dameron of Yanceyville, Miss Mary Dula of Wilkesboro, and Mrs. Donald J. Moffatt. Flower girls were Mary and Martha Lomax, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lomax.

The bride wore a gown of ivory dutchess satin with marquise yoke and peg top, long fitted sleeves ending in calla lily points over the hands, fitted bodice and side hip drapery with unpressed pleats in front and back and extending into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of imported pure silk illusion fell from a coronet of very fine imported ceylon beads. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and baby breath centered with an orchid and showered with satin ribbon.

The matron of honor wore a gown of dawn pink marquisette over taffeta with hoop skirt, fitted bodice, soft scoop neckline with fichu and side bow, and short matching mitts. Her bouquet was fashioned with a cluster of sweet peas on a colonial fan made of net and satin bows, and showered with satin streamers. The bridesmaids wore gowns of foam green marquisette fashioned like that of the matron of honor, and carried matching fans with sweet peas. Their head-dresses were coronets of marquisette and sweet peas. The flower girls wore pink dresses similar to those of the bridesmaids, and carried half opened net parasols showered with sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore a sheer crepe afternoon dress of haze blue with sweetheart neckline filled in with imported alencon lace. Her matching hat was of Balli straw with lovely roses and illusion trim. She wore white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray shadow crepe dress over pink with pink hat and gray accessories. Both wore white orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home. After an unannounced wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 412 Ninth street. For travel, the bride wore a summer weight two-tone suit of canary and navy with a large picture hat of matching color and navy accessories.

The bride was graduated from Virginia Intermont Junior College, Bristol, Va., and received her A. B. degree from Greensboro College. The bridegroom is a veteran of the Army Air Force and attended National Business College, Roanoke, Va.

The Reception

At the reception the guests were welcomed at the door by Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Swofford. Mrs. Culler received with Mrs. Gardner, the bridal couple, and bridesmaids. Mr. and Mrs. Edison Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stout presided at the guest register in the den. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tomlinson and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fritts were in charge of the gift room. On leaving the gift room, the guests were invited into the garden where they were served cake and punch by Misses Lucile Casey, Mary Elmore Finley, Harriet Crutchfield, Vivian McNeil, Martha Anne Lineberger, Gastonia; Mesdames Robert Smoak, Ray Watts, Dwight Miller, Bob Day, and Charles Winters. Others assisting at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kilby, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vickery, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Hutchens, Mrs. F. C. Forrester, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones, Mrs. Ralph Buchan, Mrs. W. F. Gaddy, Mrs. T. H. Waller, Mrs. Ivey Moore, Mrs. M. P. Hunt, Mrs. William Marlow, and Mrs. C. B. Lomax. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Horton and Mrs. Mary Moore Hix. During the reception piano music was rendered by Miss Lois Scroggs.

Following the reception the bride and groom, wedding party, and those assisting with the reception were invited into the dining room for the cake-cutting.

The bride's table, spread with a white cutwork maderia cloth over pink was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Silver candelabra, holding pink tapers, and arrangements of pink carnations in low silver bowls carried out a note of pink and white. After the first piece of wedding cake was cut by the bride, Miss Georgia Spencer cut and served the cake.

A bee magazine should be included as necessary equipment for every beekeeper.

The vegetable garden should be given a definite and prominent place in the farm enterprise, as it serves the double purpose of providing a health insurance policy and a savings account for the farm family.
