

DRESS REVUE CONTEST HELD SUCCESSFUL BY 4-H CLUBBERS

The annual county 4-H Dress Revue Contest was held Saturday, June 25th in the Ballroom of Hotel Wilkes in North Wilkesboro. Thirty girls from the different schools in the county participated—each being a blue ribbon winner from her particular school. Local school revue contests were held during May and the blue ribbon winners were chosen to compete in the County Contest.

Winners from the Senior Group included: Lucille Walker from Millers Creek School, modeling a school dress; Karen Bishop from Millers Creek and Betty Fay from North Wilkesboro modeling church and street dresses.

In the Junior Group, winners included Christine Eller from Mt. Pleasant School modeling an apron; Marie Osborne from Mulberry School who modeled a skirt; and Anna Gray Brown from Mulberry School who modeled a cotton dress.

Betty Fay, from the North Wilkesboro 4-H Club, was declared county winner in the Senior Group. She modeled a pretty white waffle pique dress with white accessories. Betty will represent Wilkes County in the State 4-H Dress Revue to be held in Raleigh during 4-H Club Week, August 1-6.

Anna Gray Brown from the Mulberry 4-H Club was chosen Junior County Winner. She modeled a pretty yellow two-piece dress with white accessories.

Lovely and useful prizes were awarded the winner by the following stores: Duke Power company, Rhodes-Day Furniture Company, Gray Brothers Furniture Company, J. C. Penney company, Spainhour's, Belk's Department store, Steele's Jewelry store. Coca-Cola Bottling company of North Wilkesboro contributed $10.00 for expenses for the county winner to attend 4-H Club Week in Raleigh. City Florist donated lovely flowers to be used in decorating the stage for the contest, and Coble Dairies furnished refreshments for everyone when the program was ended.

Mrs. Agnes Watts, Home Agent in Alexander County, Miss Irene Brown, Home Agent in Yadkin county, and Miss Dorothy Warden, Assistant Home Agent from Yadkin, were judges for the Dress Revue.

up by appealing to the distillers. At the same time the office of the attorney general of Maryland has moved to have the state's liquor regulations prevent such sales.

New Edition Of "Carolina Homes"

Available free to readers of The Journal-Patriot, a brand new edition of "Carolina Homes" has been announced by the publishers. Comprising thirty-seven especially chosen plans covering many styles and types of homes, complete plans for each design shown are available to the prospective builder for a nominal charge.

"Carolina Homes" represents the efforts of top-flight North Carolina architects who cooperated with the brick and tile manufacturers of North Carolina to bring you this book. Every design was selected from many entries by a special committee of experts appointed by the North Carolina Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Every home shown has its own features of desirability; all are considered by the experts to be extremely "livable."

Distillers May Help Keep Rum Out Of Dry Area

Raleigh, July 11.—The State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has been promised that distillers will do everything possible to stop the flow of taxpaid whisky into dry counties of this state.

Board Chairman R. W. Winston, Governor Scott's appointee as chairman of the board, talked with representatives of leading distillers in New York last week end.

"Without exception, the distillers interviewed expressed a desire to do everything necessary to put an end to the sales", Winston said upon returning here.

"We received 100 per cent cooperation", said the board chairman. But it remains to be seen what the distillers can or will do.

"Within a week or 10 days letters from all leading distillers advising what methods they would adopt in an effort to stop illegal traffic of whisky into North Carolina are expected", the board chairman said.

There has been some reason to believe that a large portion of the illegal liquor being shipped into North Carolina's dry counties has come from Maryland for several years. Sam Gildar, Baltimore liquor wholesaler, and several North Carolina bootleggers, paid fines in Guilford county for conspiracy to violate this state's prohibition laws when Gildar sold the North Carolinians liquor that Guilford county Sheriff John E. Walter's deputies seized in 1947. Gildar paid a $10,000 fine, although he contended he never had been in this state. Afterward Gildar apparently sold his business.

Tax lists sent to A.B.C. officials here from Maryland show another person operating from the former address of Gildar's company, the Foster Distributing Company, but the business of selling truck loads of liquor for shipment to dry areas of North Carolina has continued.

It is the supply of such wholesalers that Winston hopes to dry

WHO HAS INVESTED MOST IN SERVING THIS COMMUNITY?

Whether it has a skyline or just a few homes in "neighboring distances", we are all proud of our home community.

We want it to fare well, to prosper, to grow in good living.

The Duke Power Company has had the privilege of aiding the growth of the Piedmont Carolinas communities we serve. Service to each of them, of course, represents a large investment in generating plants, distribution lines, offices, and personnel.

In terms of service and citizenship this investment means humming motors, productive tools, time-saving appliances, gleaming lights, safer streets, cheerier homes, new industries, and more jobs.
