Mrs. Wiley Brooks Bible Class Hostess

Mrs. Wiley Brooks was hostess to the Daily Bible Reading Class of the Fairplains community, which met Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Colvard was in charge of the meeting, which opened with the group singing "Leaning On The Everlasting Arm." The study was I and II Timothy. Prayers and Hymn, "Blessed Be The Tie", completed the devotional period. Preceding the Bible Study, Mrs. Brooks had a dinner for the members of the class and visitors, which was enjoyed very much.

Apples Cracking Because Of Rain

By CARL E. VANDEMAN
During the last ten days of June we were all hoping for rain because it was so dry. Now for the past ten days or more we have been hoping it would quit raining for a while. Seems like we can't get the weather adjusted to suit us.

Some Stayman apples are cracking wide open because of the prolonged rainy weather following the dry spell. Bitter rot and black rot both are almost sure to start infection in the apples that have cracked open. Bitter rot is likely to spread to the other apples that are not cracked. A good thorough spraying of Bordeaux mixture 4-8-100 should be the best way to keep down the loss from bitter rot. This spray should be put on when the trees are not wet, because if the trees are wet and the spray dries slowly the blue-stone will cause considerable russetting on the fruit. Such russetting might cause more apples to crack open.

Trees that have a full crop should be thinned and all the cracked apples taken off. This thinning will not only get rid of a lot of worthless fruit but it will help the rest of the apples on the trees to grow to better size and color.

It is too late to use lead arsenate in your spray without too much danger of having an excessive residue of this poison on your fruit at picking time. D.D.T. could be used to control second brood worms if they are a problem in your orchard; that is, on any apples that will be picked after the 20th of August.

Plans are being made for the Brushy Mountain Fruitgrowers picnic and summer meeting on August 18. Plan now to attend. We want all the fruit growers to be present for this interesting and worthwhile meeting. More details later.

Skull Fracture Halted Bleeding

Roxboro, July 19.—A skull fracture probably was responsible in saving the life of T. C. Sanders, employee of Service Dry Cleaners who was severely injured Monday when his head was accidentally thrust into the blades of a 36-inch blower fan in the plant.

Duke Hospital physicians, according to Bill Sanders, son, said that the blow on the head cracked a small bone, which pressed on a main artery which was cut by the blades and stopped flow of blood. Had not the bone pressure been applied, the results might have been fatal from loss of blood. Sanders was operated on late Monday night in Duke Hospital to relieve the pressure on his brain.
