T. B. Hospital To Be Enlarged, Two More Wards

Addition Will Enable Convalescent Patients To Be Isolated

Wilkes Tuberculosis hospital, which was reopened over a year ago and has been serving well in the overall public health program in Wilkes county, is being enlarged.

Ground has been broken for a substantial addition to the building.

The new addition will house two wards of four beds each.

The new wards will be used for patients who are not seriously ill, and will isolate them from those in worse condition. Previously there had not been space for separating patients and all were together in the large wards.

The addition is being constructed by the Wilkes Chapter of the Tuberculosis Association, with funds derived from the sale of Christmas seals.

Wilkes county provides an appropriation toward operation of the institution, but no public funds were available for construction.

It is expected that the new addition will be completed and ready for use in the next several days.

National Affairs Confab Aug. 2nd In Winston-Salem

Importance of a national affairs conference, to be sponsored August 2 by the Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was stressed at a luncheon meeting of chamber officials from practically every city in the Winston-Salem trade territory on Tuesday, July 19.

Tuesday's session was a planning meeting for the conference which will attract businessmen from this entire area, and will highlight all the major issues now before the eighty-first Congress. The meeting will be held following a dinner at the Robert E. Lee Hotel, Tuesday night, August 2.

William J. Bird, national affairs advisor of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D. C., discussed conference plans Tuesday, and gave an insight into the purpose of the August conference, which is one of many currently being conducted in the Southeastern section of the United States to better acquaint businessmen with important Congressional issues.

Represented at the meeting, besides businessmen from the Winston-Salem chamber, were representatives from chambers of commerce in Lexington, Thomasville and the Tri-City Merchants Association of Leaksville.

Delegations from all of these cities and others in this area, are expected to join with scores of Winston-Salem business leaders to discuss congressional issues at the August conference. It will be the first time that local business and professional men have had an opportunity to hear well informed Washington speakers review the entire legislative scene which has highlighted the eighty-first Congress.

First speaker at the August conference will be Earl B. Steele, Washington, D. C. editor of the governmental affairs publications of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Mr. Steele, who is one of the most informed newspaper men in Washington, will discuss "The Eighty-First Congress, Its Record, Its Future."

The other of two speakers on the program will be William J. Bird, national affairs advisor of the national chamber's southeastern division, who spoke at yesterday's planning session. Bird, thirty-two year old chamber spokesman, will present a practical and enthusiastic approach to "Help Yourself to Better Government."

L. P. Dickie, southeastern division manager of the national chamber, from Atlanta, will conclude the program with a round-table discussion in which all business men will be urged to participate.

All businessmen in the Winston-Salem trade territory are invited to attend the conference, which is similar to other conferences recently held in Eastern North Carolina where businessmen report as being the most informative and important conferences ever held in their communities.

A dutch trust dinner will be held prior to the meeting, and reservations for the conference should be made promptly through the Winston-Salem Chamber of Commerce.

Data Given On Tennis Tourney

Turner Rich and Mike Williams seem to be a sure bet to win honors in Midway Pontiac's All-American Tennis Championships. Rich is in the Junior Division, Williams in the Men's Singles Division.

Rich, 17, has won several Junior tennis tournaments this summer. Only Falk looms as the threat to his winning. McNeill is given an outside chance to win, but he's hot one game and cold the next. Rich has drawn McNeill in the opening round and is a favorite to win in straight sets.

Williams, football, basketball, and tennis star at Davidson College, has been outstanding in many tennis tournaments throughout the Carolinas. Bill Carrigan is a real threat to Williams. Carrigan won the Greensboro Tennis Tourney not so long ago, and as Williams, has been outstanding in every tournament he has entered. It will be a fight right down to the wire with Williams a slight favorite.

In the men's doubles Carrigan-Parker seem to have a clear road to the championship. Bill Thomas-William Gray might give them some trouble. Gordon Finley-Gene McNeill seem to be out of the race.

Trade Promotion Committee Appoints Group Chairmen

Trade Promotion committee of the Wilkes Chamber of Commerce is planning another event which is sure to be beneficial to the buying public of northwestern North Carolina.

Wilkes Dollar Days will be the big event for the month of August and the dates will be August 11, 12 and 13.

During this event the dollar will come into its own and will buy more merchandise than at any time in the past eight years.

Wilkes Dollar Days were planned in a meeting of the Trade Promotion committee, of which Gilbert T. Bare is chairman. The committee has asked that all types of business participate, and a chairman has been named for each group as follows: grocery, Prestley Myers; furniture, Charles H. Day; hardware, C. E. Jenkins; service stations, Culler & Winkler; appliances, Paul Cashion; jewelry, C. T. Burke; clothing and general merchandise, L. S. Spainhour and John Prevette; drugs William J. Brame, tires and accessories, C. J. Swofford.

Each group chairman will contact merchants in his respective line and will make efforts to have all to participate by special dollar days values and advertising.

The committee has urged that all merchants plan immediately their advertising for the event, keeping in mind that whenever practical outstanding values will be offered for one dollar by reduction of present prices to one dollar or by offering a group of articles for one dollar. In higher priced merchandise reductions of several dollars will be offered.

It is expected that the committee will make Dollar Days a semi-annual event in the Wilkesboros. In many cities Dollar Days are one of the most popular trading events of the year and are much appreciated by the buying public.

Wheat Acreage Is Set For State

Washington.—Southern states would take much smaller percentage cuts generally in wheat production next year than big wheat states under details of a Government program announced yesterday.

The program is aimed at keeping down surpluses.

Colorado was asked to make the sharpest cut—35.5 per cent—of any major producing state.

The department announced state acreage allotments under a 1950 wheat program setting the national planting goal at 68,944,099 acres.

This is about 17 per cent less than the 83,173,000 acres planted for this year's crop, now indicated to be the third largest of record. The national allotment was announced last week by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan in a statement telling of declining overseas markets and dangers to troublesome surpluses.

The state allotment will be appropriated among counties and farmers under regulations set up in crop control legislation. Only those farmers planting within their allotments will be eligible for government price support aid. The department said the state allotments were made under provisions of law and were based primarily upon the seeded acreage in each state during the past 10 years, adjusted for recent production trends.

The 1950 allotments and the 1949 acreages for other states, respectively, included: North Carolina, 442,407 and 487,000; South Carolina, 210,010 and 207,000.
