Farmers' Day October 13th

Thursday, October 13, was set as date for the annual Farmers' Day celebration in North Wilkesboro by the Trade Promotion committee of the Wilkes Chamber of Commerce in meeting here this week.

October 5 had previously been mentioned as the tentative date, which was changed in order to allow greater time of preparation for the event following the annual Wilkes Agricultural Fair the week of September 19.

Plans call for a bigger event than the successful Farmers' Day celebration last year, which drew a record crowd with a parade of 32 units and many other attractions.

The parade this year will be the headline attraction for the morning program. It will include units representing the varied agricultural, industrial and commercial interests in Wilkes county. Prizes will be given for the best parade units entered by farmers. These will include motor, horse, oxen and goat drawn vehicles and equipment.

R. R. Church is Farmers' Day general chairman and Major Roy W. Forehand will be parade chairman. October 1 has been set as deadline for entries in the parade, and entries are already being accepted at the chamber of commerce office.

Local high school bands and bands from neighboring counties will participate. Participating merchants will give tickets for the many merchandise prizes to be awarded during the day.

Following the parade will be an hour for contests and giving prizes, along with a band concert. The afternoon program will include agricultural awards by the chamber of commerce, music and entertainment act on an outdoor stage on Ninth street.
