Farmers' Day Is Tribute To Farmers

Thursday, October 13, will be Farmers' Day in North Wilkesboro.

This annual celebration is staged by the merchants of the Wilkesboros as a tribute to farmers and a token of appreciation of business interests to the man of the soil.

The Farmers' Day program this year is made up primarily of entertainment—something that the farmers and their families can enjoy.

Opening feature of Farmers' Day will be the big parade, starting in Wilkesboro and ending on North Wilkesboro streets. In the parade will be numerous units depicting various phases of agricultural, commercial and industrial activity in Wilkes county, and there will be units designed primarily for entertainment.

After the parade there will be a band concert and a period of contests designed to entertain the crowd as well as participants. Many prizes will be given away from tickets which are free at stores and which entail no obligation.

The afternoon program will have presentation of several agricultural awards given by the Chamber of Commerce and to be presented by L. Y. Ballentine, North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture.

Joe King, of Winston-Salem, will put on his famous comedy act and there will be plenty of mountain music.

The Trade Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which is made up of merchants of the Wilkesboros, invites every farmer and every member of his family to take off Thursday from their daily labors and to have a good time in the Wilkesboros.

LIFE'S BETTER WAY

DRIFTING ALONG

So many drift along life's way
And just exist from day to day;
They have no aim that's great and high,
No cause for which they live and die;
No purpose seems to fill their hearts,
No care for good they might impart;
Just drifting on the sea of time
And going to no place sublime.

They drift to what their eyes behold,
Where trifles glitter and unfold;
They drift along with giddy folk
As though to live is but a joke;
Drift to what they think will please,
Will give them pleasure, luxury, ease;
They choose to glide instead of shift,
Because it's easy just to drift.

So many only drift along
And make of life a jazzy song;
They drift the way the current flows
With all its vain and empty shows;
They drift and never look to see
That out in vast eternity
Each one must meet the race he's run
And answer for the deeds he's done.

They choose the dazzle, not the gem,
The false and not the diadem;
They drift along with merry crowds,
Like breezes float the fleecy clouds;
They think when fancy's satisfied,
And they are pleased in selfish pride,
They've gained the pearl, and that is it,
Although it is but counterfeit.

They drift and dream that they shall own
The realm of honor and its throne;
That when they come to fashion's shrine,
And measure up in every line;
Or have a social standing high
That gratifies the lustful eye,
The climax of this life is reached,
And it shall never be impeached.

Short of Intoxication

"Without signs of intoxication in the full ordinary or in the legal sense of the term, the bearing and individual attitude of mind suffer temporary change as an effect of the drug; and those in contact with the person so affected have for the time being to deal with an altered individual, whose mind lacks temporarily its normal factor of judgment and conspicuous elements of its self-control . . . Under the influence of alcohol, accuracy, avoidance of accidents, tactful handling of colleagues and subordinates, observance of discipline, punctuality, reticence in matters of confidence, are all jeopardised; and an additional source of friction may be brought to complicate the relations between the employer and employed."—Medical Research Council appointed by the British Medical Association, in Alcohol, Its Action on the Human Organism.

Troop 35 Winner 6-0 Over Troop 34

Saturday, October 1, Boy Scout Troops Nos. 34 and 35 met at Memorial Park in an exciting football game in which Troop 35 was the winner 6 to 0.

The game was scoreless until the second play of the third quarter when Bumgarner lateraled to J. Hayes, who ran 75 yards after shaking off one opponent. He was backed by some good blocking.

Both teams played good ball throughout the game.

Playing for Troop 35 were Meade, Absher, Hartley, Sworford, Sidden, Barnette, Elledge, Bumgarner, W. Absher, J. Hayes, C. Hayes, J. Hartley and Cox. In the Troop 34 lineup were Winger, Poteat, Pearson, Triplett, Brown, J. Wallace, Foster, Hardister, Caudill, Wallace, Rhodes.

Margot Kvelprud, 23-year-old Norwegian farm girl, sailed for home recently after having spent the summer living and working on farms in several counties of North Carolina.

The average yield of late summer cabbage in North Carolina is estimated at 6.3 tons per acre. About 4,100 acres are being grown.
