

Blue Ridge Road Link To Open

Asheville, Oct. 22.—Completion of the 270-mile Blue Ridge Parkway link between this gateway to the Great Smoky Mountain National Park and Roanoke, Va., gateway to the Shenandoah National Park, is expected by July, 1950.

Parkway Supt. Sam Weems today told a conference of North Carolina and Virginia officials about plans for a formal opening ceremony at the state line.

Weems met the North Carolina-Virginia delegation at the Bluffs, midway between Asheville and Roanoke, where a 24-room lodge has just been completed. The Parkway superintendent said this is the only overnight facility to be built on this section of the Parkway, as private accommodations in resort areas bordering the Parkway are readily accessible to visitors.

The luncheon and gasoline station at Cumberland Knob will be continued and similar day facilities will be installed at Crabtree Meadows, 40 miles east of Asheville, Weems stated. These are all the service facilities planned for the Parkway between the state line and Asheville, he said, explaining that Parkway policy was to keep such installations at the minimum required by public convenience, and to provide access roads to private lodging and eating places and service stations adjacent to the Parkway.

The Bluffs Lodge, patronized since it opened Labor Day, will close November 1, but plans now are for it to reopen for the 1950 season on May 1. The lodge, and all other Parkway concessions, are operated by National Park Concessions, Inc., under exclusive contract. Rates and services are strictly supervised by the Parkway organization.

No commercial signs are permitted on the Parkway, but chambers of commerce of cities and towns along its route are now preparing an informational folder which will advise tourists of facilities available at each access road intersection.

These will be ready for distribution through information rooms on the Parkway at the beginning of next season.

The meeting was opened by the president. We heard the devotionals, then sang, "Come ye Thankful People Come." The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Then we read and approved. Then we elected our new officers for next year. Mrs. Dan Hudson, president; Mrs. Ted Carpenter, vice president; Mrs. G. W. Scroggs, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Hudson will appoint the project leaders at a special meeting. Mrs. Clyde Ward was chosen as representative to attend the "Family Life" meeting at Elkin, Y. M. C. A. on the 24th of October and she will have charge of the demonstration next month, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Dan Hudson November 18th, 2 p. m. Our booth at the Wilkes Agricultural Fair won 5th place a $5.00 bill.

Mrs. Annie H. Greene told us of her trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado. It was so very interesting we all wish we could have gone with her. We can hardly wait for our next council meeting. Mrs. John Robert Church will show some slides of pictures they made while on their trip, also tell us of the National Council meeting they attended.

Mrs. Annie H. Greene, home demonstration agent, gave a most helpful demonstration on transplanting shrubs. She gave us many good points on this subject. She showed us several large sketches to see the proper way to prune and transplant shrubs. Also when to prune and transplant shrubs, fertilizing and care of special plants.

Boy And Girl Die Of Coal Fumes

MT. CLEMENS, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller found their two-and-a-half-year-old son, Dennis, and an 11-year-old baby sitter dead upon returning home early today.

Fumes from a coal stove filled the small cottage. Three other children of the Millers were overcome from the fumes.

Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Schwark quoted the 30-year-old couple as saying they came home at 4 a. m. after spending most of the night at a tavern.

The baby sitter, Judith Insecho a neighbor girl, was found dead on the kitchen floor near the stove. Apparently she had fallen from a chair after stoking the stove to keep warm.

Deputy Schwark said the fumes were caused by too much coal being put in the stove.

Little Dennis, a "blue baby" who had an operation last summer to correct his abnormal heart condition, was found on a bedroom floor. Schwark said it appeared the child had been awakened by the fumes and crawled out of bed before being overcome.

Auto Plunges Into Swamp, Driver Dies

Clinton—An Automobile overturned into the waters of Ward swamp near here, taking the life of a 21-year-old Fayetteville man.

Walter LeRoy Ayers drowned when his rented car plunged down an embankment 13 miles north of Clinton on Highway 701.

A passing motorist observed a wheel of the upturned vehicle protruding from the waters at 11 a. m. Officers theorized that the accident had occurred five hours earlier.

Although Ayers suffered abrasions and a fracture, Coroner J. S. Ayers (no relation) ruled that the victim died by drowning.
