FORCE IS NO BASIS FOR PEACE, CANADIAN JUDGE TELLS BAPTISTS

Cleveland—"Neither fear nor force can constitute a permanent basis for peace," Justice J. W. Estey of the Canadian Supreme Court said yesterday. Speaking before the eighth world congress of the Baptist World Alliance, Justice Estey outlined the history of the United Nations charter. He pointed out the Charter provides a means for "open debate of differences" between nations.

"There is nothing the wrong-doer fears more than that his wrong doing should be examined and discussed before the public and that he by the public be condemned," the justice continued. "The greatest factors in the influencing and moulding of public opinion are the concepts of right and wrong, which at a given time the majority of the people have formed. The church has been and ought to remain the greatest factor in developing these concepts . . ." he added.

The World Council of Churches, he said, supported the U. N. Charter because it was the nearest approach ever made by statesmen toward church ideals of "love thy neighbor as thyself" and "on earth peace, good will toward man." Taking note of the war in Korea, the justice said, "We hope and pray that it may remain within that area and soon be terminated. We cannot, however, be unmindful of the possibility that it might involve a conflict upon a much larger scale. "There are, however, factors in the present circumstances from which we may derive much well-founded encouragement. The majority of the United Nations are united and resolute in their determination to achieve peace and security," he continued.

The congress earlier honored some 120 displaced persons. Three of them described escapes from Russian and Nazi domination. They were the Rev. P. Gordiejew of White Russia, Miss Tabea Korjus of Estonia and Dr. Adolph Klaupike of Latvia.

Union Church W.S.C.S. In Monthly Meeting

Mrs. D. E. Turner was hostess to the Women's Society of Christian Service of Union Methodist church for the July meeting. Mrs. Earl Baker led the meditation period and gave a talk on the topic for the month, "Never Again Such Insecurity—A Story of Israel." Mrs. Baker was assisted in the program by Mrs. J. P. Crysel, Mrs. Alfred Crysel, and Billie Sue Baker. Mrs. D. E. Turner gave a most interesting report on the conference meeting of the Woman's Society she had attended recently at Lake Junaluska. Mrs. Claude Laws, the president, occupied the chair during the business session.

A social hour and refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the meeting. The August meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. W. Mahaffey, August 15.
