THE CAPACITY OF THESE SIX ARMY TRAINING CENTERS totals more than 250,000. The top number (on the map) indicates the peacetime capacity, and the lower number is the wartime peak. (Central Press Association) four years. At that time, Willis Smith's baby daughter was about 11 years old.

She grew up to be a beautiful girl, graduating from high school about the time Jim got out of the service she entered Duke University. Anna Lee finished last spring between the first and second primaries. Jim Dorsett, as might be expected, was up to his neck in the campaign for Smith, but still found time to carry on his suit with the Smith daughter.

"That's about all there is to the story, except that Jim and Anna Lee will be married, come September, and that Dorsett is in the reserve and hopes Uncle Sam can stay off his path long enough for him to finish his honeymoon and see his father-in-law safely into the halls of the United States Senate.

Gilreath Club Has Interesting Meeting

Mrs. J. D. Costner was hostess to the Gilreath Home Demonstration club in July meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Albert Baity. "God Bless America" was sung and the collect repeated. Mrs. Ed Hendren, read the minutes, and gave the treasurer's report.

The demonstration was "Identifying Shrubbery." It was given by Mrs. T. C. Tevepaugh, who showed how to prepare a box for rooting shrubbery and raise with a one-to-one mixture of sand and sawdust, the size, ventilation, depth of soil, watering, shade, production from cold, selection of cutting, and how to plant them.

Mrs. Tevepaugh showed a large selection of different shrubs and identified them by their common names and told where it was best to use them. She also gave out material on shrubbery, which gave much information.

Mrs. Elizabeth Costner gave an interesting report on poultry.

A box supper was planned by the club for the August recreation. It will be given at Mt. Crest School the 4th Saturday in August. All members are urged to come and bring a nice box. A good time is in store for young and old.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Ethel Costner, served delicious refreshments. — Reported.

University Provided Willis Smith With A Law Partner And Future Son-In-Law

Raleigh — Last Sunday's papers carried the announcement of the forthcoming marriage of Raleigh Attorney Jim Dorsett and Miss Anna Lee Smith, daughter of Democratic Senate Nominee Willis Smith and Mrs. Smith.

Back around 1939, Smith was in Salisbury and as was his habit stopped for a friendly chat with his old friend, Banker J. K. Dorsett. They talked about finances, the war in Europe, and other things. During the course of the conversation, Banker Dorsett casually remarked that he had a son studying law at the University of North Carolina and he thought this boy might make Mr. Smith a good junior partner sometime. To this, of course, Good Friend Smith agreed.

Time marched on, and in the spring of 1941 Duke Alumnus Willis Smith thought it would be a good idea to have a young Carolina man in his firm. He picked up the telephone, called the University Law School and told them he wanted their best man.

The reply was that they had just the man for him. This student, name of Dorsett, was not only tops in the class but was editor of the Law School's publication, "Law Review." A few days later they sent him over to see Willis Smith.

During the early stages of the interview, Attorney Smith asked Dorsett if he happened to be related in any way to "my old friend, J. K. Dorsett, who also lives in Salisbury."

"Yes," replied Jim Dorsett, "he is my father."

That did it. Smith recalled the conversation. Jim passed the bar, joined the Smith firm, and a few months later was called into the service, where he spent the next
