A Meeting of the friends of the American Party will be held in the COURT HOUSE, on this (Wednesday) evening at 75 o'clock, to ratify the platform of principles adopted by the National Council. A number of the Delegates, and other gentlemen will be present and address the Meeting.

NORTH-CAROLINA RAILROAD.

The North Carolina Rail Road will be com pleted as far as the town of Lexington by the 4th of July next, at which time and place the citizens of Davidson propose having a grand Celebration, which the friends of the Road throughout the State are respectfully and cor dially invited to attend. The following distinguished gentlemen have been invited to be present on the occasion, viz: His Excellency Thomas Bragg, Gov. John M. Morehead, Hon. Calvin Graves, Gov. William A. Graham, H. W. Miller, Esq., John A. Gilmer, Esq., Ralph Gorrell, Esq., Hon. J. W. Ellis, Hop. D. F. Caldwell, Hon. Daniel M. Barringer, James W. Osborne, Esq , and Hon. Green W. Caldwell.

MAJOR DONELSON'S SPEECH.-We publish to day the entire speech of this gentleman, as reported, at the New York meeting. It is said to have been the great feature of the meeting in New York, and a bombshell from the Hermitage thrown into the ranks of the spoils democracy. They must now either definitely abandon the whole story. It defines the true national policy of the Know Nothings; which is a war of extermination against this rotten Pierce dythe question in its legitimate shape to the coun- for them in it. On the great question of oppositry, whether we shall have a new government, a iministered by men of Union principles, or the continuance of a corrupt and trading coalition also do they send back their greeting from the of Northern and Southern nullifiers, Van Buren free soilers of the Buffalo stamp, and Jeff. Davis secessionists and fillibusters. Let the Know Nothings circulate this speech of the adopted o n and intimate political confident of Old Hickory. We want to know what the Democracy will turn up.

The understood determination of the present Admin'stration to proscribe every man holding public office, within its reach, who may join the American party or vote with them, is a great political blunder, to call it by no other nor worse name. When the people see the heads of departments descending to the task of "turning out" watchmen and messengers, because they vote as they please at the municipal elections in Washington, they very naturally feel as if the Administration had come into the arena, for a contest, and they are inclined to take sides against it, for the purpose of showing that it has not power-and that it can be rebuked for an unnecessary exercise of authorthis opinion.

The Platform of Principles laid down by the American Convention is now discussed in the newspapers. This is what we want to see, in the place of general abuse and denunciation. Fair argument will lead the public mind toapprove what is right and reject what is wrong. If after such fair discussion the American people decide upon any particular plank in that platform as unsound, it can be removed, without fear of disturbing the structure. The "principles," for the most part, must be approved of, and will finally triumph.

THE WESTERN EXTENSION .- The " Salisbury Watchman" says that a very commendable an. imation now prevails in that town upon the subject of the Western Extension of the Rail Road. Town meetings will be held weekly until the stock of the road shall have been all world. And it is this that Americans want, an account of two cases of recent occurrence in subscribed, and the Company organized for ac- and that feeling will make our Union perfect. tive operations. The public men and enterprising citizens in that section are using exertions to secure this desirable object, and from this elimination of character grows out of the the feeling prevailing there can be no doubt but necessities of the case—the very oppressions

The New York Tribune, Times, Courier, &c., seem to think that the American party is dispersed by the recent secession in Philadelphia, and that it ceases to be a national organization. To this the N. Y. Express replies, that this fact lives : that this is the only political organization we now have, which can act nationthe transfer of its power to its chosen successor.

AMERICAN MEETING IN WASHINGTON. delphis. Six thousand American freemen were there, comprising delegations from every ward in the city, from Georgetown and Alexandria. Ithough the enthusiasm of the multitude was deep and pervading the greatest order prevailed, and nothing occurred to mar the harmony of the occasion.

From among the numerous speeches made upon the occasion, we have only room for a brief synopsis of that of KENNETH RAYNER, of North Carolina. He was received with cheers for the old North State and Rayner. He said there were occasions in the life of every feeling man, when the emotions of the heart could not find utterance on the lips. Such an occasion was the present to him. He appeared here under somewhat peculiar circumstances. Ten years ago he retired from yonder Capitol, aftersix years service as a representative, disgusted with the corruption that had taken ossession of all political parties, and fully im ressed with the idea that the greatest honor in this country was retirement from political office and the political strifes which had degenerated into a mere scramble for the spuils. Little did I then think that I should ever be called here to testify to higher truths. Little did I here and to advocate principles higher than those in which I participated at the Capitol during six ears service there.

The preceding speaker had alluded to the misnot worth any comment. It is the lot of all men, engaged in a good cause, to be calumniated. He was called Philip in one of the Baltimore journals. We are informed that a cer tain rich man did once go and succeed in converting a heathen to christianity. If I should make the attempt on some of these heathen, who misrepresent us, I should not succeed as well as did Philip of old. [Cheers.] They have conversed with the man in yonder White House, and they could not say they had talked to a Solomon." [Laughter and applause.] Coming as I do from our labors at Philadelphia, it is right that I should allude to the transactions of the late National Council. The enemy had circulated throughout the land the story that division and distraction had entered into the American family at Philadelphia. I can say with pride and joy that this is not the large and helpless families are dependent upon There was no division on the great American principles—the distinguishing features of the order.

On that distracting question which has entered into and divided all political parties, and nany churches of the land, there was a difference of opinion. We did not attempt to patch up a theory that should read two ways, and be fitted to each section; but looking to one common cause, to the pretection of American Protestantiam, we were united as one man. On slavery alone there was a difference. The members from the North, who disapproved, protested. honestly and manfully, but did not secede. And now, instead of coming into the field with Mr. Pierce or sink with him. This speech tells one regiment, at the next election, we shall present two immense brigades that will sweep everything before us. [Cheers.] Let not the powers here in Washington and the pimps nasty and all concerned. Major Donelson puts of sentiment on this question. There is no hope tion to their encroschments there is no division -no North, no South. All over the North our camp fires are lighted on every hill-top. So sunny South. Cicero once said that he always wondered how two soothsayers could meet each other in the street without bursting into a laugh in each other's faces! So I often wonder how the editors of the New York Tribune and the Richmond Enquirer or the Union can meet without laughing in each other's faces. They each fight against propose to do with Mr. Pierce, and where they Americans making common cause, and seem to fight each other, continually stirring up sectional teeling. Butif they wait until after an electiona few months hence—they will feel more like bursting into a cry when they meet. [Cheers and laughter. What brings together this great assembly !-Why are they so quiet and orderly? Why no riotous demonstation? It is the character of the Anglo-Saxon race to respect laws. The motto on yonder banner is the characteristic of our people, (alluding to a transparency with the motto "To PERPETUATE AMERICAN FREEDOM OUR OBJECT.") [Cheers.] This great movement grows naturally out of the development of the American character. Certain great events among every people go to make up their distinctive na tionality. In the progress of a nation its character is developed. The peculiar characteristic of the Jewish people was their ceremonial laws. Of the Greeks, the great epic poem of the Trojan war contained all the glorious ity. The result will show the correctness of characteristics of their nationality. It was a devotion to their country that would sacrifice life and every thing dear for its honor and glory.

The Roman character was formed by great events in different periods of her history. The man who had at first collected and embodied a nationality from all the different tribes and peoelevated to the stars, to a seat among the gods. Look at the English character and nationality. The very name of John Bull has a charm for an Englishman. It expresses their character .--They have developed their character from the event in the Revolution of 1688, which was the crowning distinction of their national character. Words are things, and certain of them never die. When one of Wellington's Generals, at Waterloo, beheld the dreadful slaughter of their soldiers by the French, he said to the old Duke : "It will never do to let this slaughter go on." His reply was: "My God! what will they say at home if we surrender!" This is the character. It is the home-feeling-the glory of a name at home in their own nation. It is this, that has sent their drum-beat triumphant around the We are now eliminating our character out of the various elements that have been thrown that the charter will be secured at an early day, and abuses that have been heaped upon the American people. I know well the sufferings and privations you have been made to endure here. We see a man put under the heel of oppression, turned out of employment because he is an American. Instead of returning cheerfully to his wife and little ones, the hardlaboring man goes home some night, and with sorrow on his countenance, tells his wife he is discharged, and has no place to labor for his bread, and knows not what to do. [A Votor ally against the existing Administration and That's exactly my case; I have been turned out of employment, and have six children dependent on me for support.] You have r out the sacred right of secret voting. The o' mions of power are watching you, to be tur ned out by the pimp of the White House, if you refuse to Sunday evening last. The Governor's mansion, sustain him. [Cheers.] A may sour refuse to we learn, (which has been strangely allowed to we can hardly hate. We have nothing but remain unprotected by lightning rods,) was struck in several places and considerable damgloat over any poor man they can throw out of employment for being independent and acting like a freeman. [Cheers.] Oh! is it not too much to see such men turn ed out of employto support the American ticket. This is an important movement, and will add greatly to the strength of the American party in Georgia.

The foreigner who lands on our shores has no heritage in our feevolutionary battle grounds—no tears for the graves of our fathers. He cannot feel like an American about them. It is not natural that he should. He does not feel

That will be Mr. Campbell, of Pennsylvania, as a member of the Catholic church !" This was evidence of a bargain with Bishop Hughes. It is against such numiliation that the people have aroused.

He concluded with an eloquent appeal for united action, and for devotion to the Constitu tion and the Union. Three cheers were given for Rayner and

THE REIGN OF TERROR.

We publish below from the "American Organ' few specimens of the anti-proscriptive tendencies of the present Administration. We, too, might give some extracts from Roman history, illustrative of the present times, and showing ome points of agreement between the reign of Tiberius and the present administration, particu larly in the agencies by which innocence was oppressed and vice triumphed. It is true that human life is safe, as vet, in our country-and that "the means by which we live," alone, are taken from the victims; but, in other respects, think it would be my good fortune to appear the state of things is similar. There, there was a system of espionage, established, kept up, and rewarded by the Emperor and his minister, Sejanus, by which the best and most innocent, representations of a New York paper. This was and most deserving for their services to their country, both in peace and in war, were marked out and doomed to destruction. In the classic anguage used at the national metropolis, so filled with both reformers and their victims, here they are "spotted," and are sure to receive Execu-

Here, as in the times of the Roman tyrant, the best men in the public service are often se lected for proscription. Those best suited for their offices, from qualifications and past merits, enjoy no exemption. Many who fought with honor in the various wars of the country, and even wear honorable scars, earned in honest conflict, are no more exempt than others. That the salaries of anxious fathers does not excite one feeling of compassion, and they are driven forth without a single resource.

"The pain had extended over the whole scalp and dewn the back of the neck, and was so constant and severe that her mind began to wander, and so decidedly worse was she getting as to induce a closer inquiry as to the seat and cause of the pain, when it was very clearly traceable to the pimple on the upper lip, which had become enlarged to about the size of a large pea, hard, of a purple color, and from the centre a slight watery discharge issued. The sensation was that of constant shooting pains of the most intense character from this pimple over the whole face, head and neck, even down to the breast; and what was equally remarkable, great prostration of the vital energies.

"At this stage of the case, Dr. Hosack was called, and at once recognised it as Pustule Maligne. As it was then midnight, he deferred operating. All the symptoms had greatly aggravated by merning, which induced him to perate at once." He made a crucial incision of about eight lines

Second.—II., a young man, 26, years of age, on Wednesday morning, October 17th, 1854, observed a small vesicle on the upper lip, which he opened; from that time he began to experience great pain in and around the tumor. The disease continued rapidly to increase, and the shooting pains were so severe that he was not able to sleep that night. On Thursday morning he took a dose of medicine, but without any relief, and in the afternoon his state so alarmed the family, that they sent for Dr. Hosack; and in two or three hours after, when I went with him to assist at the operation, the tubercle on the upper lip had enlarged to about the size of a small grape, rendering speaking difficult; at the centre it was of a dark color and there was a slight discharge of sapies from a small opening at the apex. The tumor was freely divided, and the sides of the incision presented in a marked degree the honey combed appearance of which I have before spoken .-This case was treated as were the others, and the patient, in about ten days from the time of the attack, was perfectly well.'

The American meeting in Baltimore, on Wednesday night last, was, says the American, "t'be greatest political demonstration ever witness ed in Baltimore. "Sam' was multitudinous, enthusiastic, and uproarious. He opened wide the great American throat, and abounded in hurrahs, discharges of cannons, fireworks, mottoes, music, and banners, showing his vitality to be no longera debateable question. The entire space of Monument Square was packed with perspiring humanity. Not less than twenty thousand persons were gathered within its area, whilst half that number througed the approaches to it." Andrew Kennedy, Esq., presided, assisted by twenty vice-presidents. The meeting was addressed by Kenneth Rayner of North Carolina, Albert Pike of Arkensas. Jacob Broom of Pennsylvania, A. R. Boteler of 15 ct s. per bbl. Virginia, Wm. S. Crowley of Baltimore, and many other speakers.

GRO MEN, Aleck, Sam, and Johnson. ALECK is a Mason, Carpenter, and Blacksmith, of yellow complexion, inclined to be bald, sharp featured, stout and active, with a good long foot, about 80 years of age. He took off with him a carpet bag, and I presume he took with July, one thousand eight hundred a him a memorandum book, in which I authorized four, and not before, without the him to keep and collect his accounts for work

SAM is a younger brother of Aleck, also a Mason,-may be known by his being very likely, straight, with a smiling, good humored expression of countenance—a shade darker than Aleck, These two may be trying to get employment as ed cash value of the real est masons, or at some other mechanical work. JOHNSON was raised by Mrs. Patterson, of eight hundred and twenty Orange county, N. C., to which place, I suppose, he will resort. Johnson is somewhat of a blacksmith and carpenter. He is about the medium size, copper complexion, 30 years of age, teeth not good, eyes red, as though he was fond of be furnished by the subscribers, on application to drinking, quick of motion and of speech, a little inclined to stoop in the shoulders as he moves. I will give the above reward for the apprehen sion and confinement in jail of each of the above negro men, so that I get them again. JAMES W. DOWNEY. RIDGEWAY, N. C.

FOR SALE, highly valuable water-power on a never failing stream, with an abundant supply of water, and near the Railroad. HE subscriber, intending to remove to the southwest, wishes to sell his OIL, GRIST, AND SAW MILLS situate on Neuse River, about nine miles northeast of the city of Raleigh, and two and a half miles from Huntsville Depot, on the Raleigh and Gaston The mill tract contains about thirty two acres of land lying on both sides of the river.

The OIL MILL is in perfect order, its machine ry is of the most approved construction, and is capable of producing fifteeen thousand gallons, per annum, of cotton seed, linseed and castor oil. There are also attached to it one of Carver's largest size cotton gins and a cotton screw. Fifteen years' acquaintance with the oil making business justifies him in the remark that it is one of the most profitable and satisfactory that he has any knowledge of.

The SAW MILL, re-built two years ago, and running with Hotchkiss's vertical wheels, is surpassed by few in the country, and a ready sale found for the lumber at the mill. The GRIST MILL has a large custom, and being in a thickly settled and largely grain-growing neighborhood would, with slight repairs, command a custom yielding 500 barrels of toll corn a year, while at a small expense a flour mill could be attached to it which would yield an annual toll of one thousand bushels of wheat.

A more favourable opportunity for a profitable investment, in Wake county, has never been presented. In the hands of a prudent and energetic man, who would give them his personal attention. these mills would pay for themselves in a very short time.
