> POETRY. THE PROPOSITION. To be Sung in Sixteen Flats.

BY FRANK MYRTLE. ()! dearest, say you love me, O! say you will be mine : I cannot live without thee, My heart is wed to thine; Thy cheeks are like the roses.

Thy bosom like the driven snow, Love in thy heart reposes, Thy lips with bliss o'erflow. HER ANSWER. Kind sir, I must refuse thee,

It grieves me to deny ; But if you will excuse me, I'll give the reason why, You have not cash enough, sir, To hang one hope of heaven upon, Besides I can't consent, sir, To wed a demijohn!

WHAT HE SAID. Excuse you! yes, dear madam,

I told a monstrous fib : Were I an Eveless Adam. I'd scorn so false a rib. That bliss has stained your lips, ma'am; Your heart is false, yours manners rough, Besides I can't consent ma'am, To wed a box of snuff!

PICCOLOMINI KISSED BY MISTAKE. WHAT SHE THOUGHT OF IT.

During Piccolomini's late sojourn at the Spencer House, in this city, the following incident occurred through a mistake, as natural as it must A young gentleman, residing in the northern part of this State, received a letter, last week. from his sister, who had been attending school in Kentucky, stating that she would be on a certain day at the Spencer House, where two friends of. hers were going, and that she would look for him to arrive in good season, and accompany her The brother, Alfred, came at once, for he had not seen his sister for nearly two years, having passed much of that time in New York, and, on arriving at the hotel, asked for Miss and the number of her room. Hoping to surprise her agreeably, he thought he world go up unannounced, having learned the floor and the position of the apartment. Just before her reached the room he saw his sister, as he supposed, coming out. She was small and plump, as when he saw her last, and thought he would conceal himself behind the wa'l of the hall until she came

He did so, and in another moment a pair of little feet was falling in pedal music upon the floor. She was within reach of him. It was she, of course, he thought, although the wavering shadows of the evening rendered objects somewhat indistinct. That little head with dark tresses, and humming of an air-always his sister's habit-made him confident. He would hesi ate no longer; so he extended his arms, and clasping the diminutive figure before aim, and bending down and imprinting three or four cordial kisses on one of the most delicious of mouths, he asked, "Don't you know your brother, you little rogue?" The "little rogue" looked blank with amazement, and then muttering something very sweet but not intelligible, slipped out of his half-enclasping arms, and retreated in the direction she

Alfred now saw he must have made a mistake, and, as no one appeared, he went to the sen-ior proprietor to explain the awkward position in which he had been placed, having no desire to be compelled to be shot at or shot by ome genuine brother.

the Colonel, who was well acquainted with Alini for his sister. For the first time the brother learned that the diminutive divinity was in the city, and immediately wrote her an apology, saying he could not regret what had occurred on his own account, but would if she desired it, on her's. He had no idea he was pressing the Psychean lips of the loveliest and most fascinating songstress in the world, and that the missake had only taken place because she was as beautiful as his sister. She had his most humble apology for what had occurred, and if she would not be satisfied, he would return her what he had taken.

When this note was translated to the bewitching Marie, and she was assured of its sincerity, she laughed immoderately, and said she had sup-posed perhaps kissing a pretty girl (here she look-ly very archly) on meeting her, was an American custom. It had frightened her at first, but now she did not care, for said she, in her attractive English-Tuscan, "Ze kees deed me no 'arm—in- | ww. augustus muis deed it was not so dees-vat you say set is?-deesa-gra-ble."

Prov. O. J. Wood & Co.—Genta: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four see customers, and the approbation, and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convince us that it is a most valuable Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen $2 size; and believe us yours very respectfully, (Signed) DANIEL LATHORP & CO. HICKORY GROVE, St. Charles Co., Mo., Nov. 19th, 1856. Prop. O. J. Woon—Dear Sir: Some time last sum-mer we were induced to use some of your Hair Reuto-rative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our luty to you and the afflicted, to report it. Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some call it scald head. The hair almost came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with so little hope of success. but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and inxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can new say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child.— We can, therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect semedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair.

Restorative, as scalp and hair.

We are, yours respectfully,
GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM. PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have used two bot-tles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest. discovery of the age for re-storing and changing the hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its oriout the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind. Yours respectfully. O. J. WOOD & CO., Proprietors, 312 Broadway, New York, (in the great N. Y. Wire Railing Estab-lishment, and 114 Market street, St. Louis Mo. And sold by all good Druggists.
