RALEIGH, N. C. SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 27, 1861.

THE EFFECT OF THE SOUTHERN VICTORY.

We stated in our last paper that one of the effects of our late great victory would be the speedy recognition of the independence of the Confederate States by the powers of Europe. Further reflection confirms us strongly in this opinion. The battle of Manassas will prove to the world that the contest in which the South is engaged, is no mere insurrection of party rebellion; but the effort of a great and determined people to assert their independence and right of self-government, and as such, it will be recognized by all Europe. The victory achieved by the South is the most signal of modern times. The battle was fought on ground chosen by the Federal Yankees, and after months of preparation made for it, by General Scott and the ablest officers in the Federal army. The Yankees have no excuse for their utter defeat in "masked batteries," entrenched camps and bush-whacking, as they were whipped in the open field in a square stand up fight, and by men not numbering in their ranks, half their number of troops. There can be no lying official report of the Battle sent to Europe for the purpose of undervaluing the power of the South. The battle was fought in the hearing, and almost the sight of the entire Diplomatic corps. They saw the flying Yankees enter Washington accompanied by wagon loads of the dead, dying and wounded. They witnessed the panic with which the inhabitants of the Federal Capital were seized, and their despatches to their respective Governments will convey truthful tidings of one of the greatest battles ever fought, and one of the most brilliant victories ever achieved, and the power of the South as a great nation will be at once recognized, and her right to declare war, make peace, contract alliances, conclude treaties and do all other acts and things which independent nations may of right do, be fully acknowledged.

THE LATE COL. FISHER.

The remains of this fallen hero and patriot were brought to this city on Wednesday morning by a special train from Goldsboro', and were taken on to Salisbury under the escort of a detachment from the Twelfth Regiment of State Troops, Colonel Pettigrew. During the short time the train stopped at the depot, crowds flocked into the car containing the coffin, on the top of which, were placed the sword and hat of the deceased patriot. Those articles were preserved by the faithful servant of Colonel Fisher, who was near him when he fell, and who bore him from the field. In the hat are two holes, one in front and one in rear, the fatal ball having penetrated the forehead of Col. Fisher, and passed entirely through his head. The Regiment of Colonel Fisher had barely been landed from the Rail Road cars half an hour when he met his death from the fifth volley discharged by the enemy. The Regiment was badly cut up, and Lieutenant Colonel Lightfoot severely wounded. Col. Fisher was the son of the late Hon. Charles Fisher, of Salisbury, who was for many years conspicuous in the public service of this State. On receiving his commission, Colonel Fisher resigned the presidency of the North Carolina Rail Road, an office which he had for some years filled in the most creditable manner. A braver man than Colonel Fisher never lived. He carried his life in his hand for the service of his country, and at the hour of need freely offered it upon its altar. The train containing his remains was appropriately draped in mourning, and the flag on the Capitol lowered to half-mast in token of respect for the lamented dead.

THE NORTHERN PROGRAMME.

A renegade Englishman, by the name of Baker, is making himself conspicuous in the Senate of the United States, by his excessive zeal for the conquest of the South. In a late speech, not as late as Sunday's battle, however, he says: "The President has asked us for $200,000,000; we propose to give him $500,000,000. He has asked us for 400,000 men; we propose to give him half a million. I want sudden, bold, forward and determined war; and I do not think anybody can conduct a war of that kind as well as a Dictator. I hope to be among the last of all men willing to sign new arms at all. I will never vote to do it till without treaty, the flag of the United States waves over every portion of its territory, and over a population either enthusiastically rallying beneath its shadow, or else actively subject to its sway." We may have to reduce the Southern States to the condition of territories, and send from Massachusetts or Illinois Governors to control them. We give these exquisite excerpts as specimens of the spirit and temper of the Rump. Richmond Dispatch.

OFFICERS OF THE FOURTEENTH REGIMENT NORTH CAROLINA VOLUNTEERS.

At an election for officers of this Regiment, held at Garysburg on the 16th inst.: Captain William J. Clarke, C. S. A., was unanimously elected Colonel. Major T. Brown Venable, A. Q. M., was unanimously elected Lieutenant Colonel, and Captain Jonathan Evans, of the Cumberland Plough Boys, Major. This Regiment is entirely offered by native born North Carolinians, and is said to be one of the finest in the service; it is between one thousand and eleven hundred strong.

THE WRECKED PRISONERS.

The men taken from the vessel wrecked at Hatteras Inlet, and laden with coffee, were brought to this City on Tuesday and very promptly released by the authorities on the ground that they were driven on the coast by a stress of weather, and were not belligerents. This decision is in precise conformity with the grounds laid down by Mr. Attorney General Benjamin. We deeply regret to learn that Col. McRae's Regiment, or that portion of it which was in the battle on Sunday was very badly cut up. At the last accounts neither Col. Jones or Major Badham had been seen or heard from.

LAMB CHOPS.

Of over eleven hundred of Ellsworth's "Pet Lambs," or Zouaves, only two hundred survived the battle on Sunday. Old Fuss Feathered and Pluteneo, is very fond of "hasty plate of soup." How does he like such "lamb" chops as were served up on Sunday by the Arkansas boys with their tooth picks?

CAPTAIN YORK.

We are sincerely glad to be able to state, that so far from having been killed, as was apprehended, in the great battle of Sunday, Captain York of the Wake Greys escaped without any other injury than a slight one received from one of our horses, which in "the heady current of the fight" came in collision with him. A Yankee having taken a fancy for letting the Captain's blood, fired at him with a musket and missed him, whereupon the gallant York drew his pistol, shot his foe dead, and took his musket to send home to his wife as a trophy, together with a letter informing her of his safety, and well being. A passenger who was in the battle, passed through here on Wednesday with the letter and musket. In the course of the engagement Captain York's company were so scattered that he could not manage them as a company, but he succeeded in collecting some dozen of his men, and with them joined a Louisiana company, and continued the fight. All honor to this truly "noble son of York."

NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN CREDIT.

With the loss of Battles by the North and the utter demoralization of its Troops—with the loss of manufacturers, trade and commerce, how is it to raise $400,000,000, or even $100,000,000? What earthly basis of credit can the North present to a capitalist? None earthly. Every item which constituted its credit has gone, and when its money now on hand is spent, and it is going fast, the North will be utterly and irrevocably bankrupt.

THE SOUTH CASE IS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT.

Its material interests are yet unharmed. In the battle field, its prestige is pre-eminent. It has won one of the greatest victories on record, and secured by its property enough to more than doubly remunerate it for its expenditures in the War. With Breadstuffs sufficient to feed a hundred millions of people, and with cotton, sugar and tobacco in abundance, the South can present to the capitalist a basis of credit which in firmness cannot be surpassed.

PRESIDENT DAVIS IN HIS SPEECH IN RICHMOND UPON HIS RETURN FROM MANASSAS.

There is no doubt that in property of all descriptions, we have taken enough to pay the expenses of the war up to the present time. We had the pleasure of seeing our friend, James Lynch, of Petersburg, the inventor of the Gun, in this City on Thursday. Mr. L. is a very ingenious man.

THE RALEIGH, KILLES WE LEARN, LEFT SUFFOLK FOR NORFOLK ON THURSDAY.

The Ellis Light Artillery leave to day, but we do not know whether their destination is Norfolk or Manassas. Most important, if true. Passengers for the Goldsboro' morning train of yesterday, report that Beauregard has re-occupied Alexandria, and at the last accounts was storming Arlington Heights. God grant that our gallant army may have taken those Heights, and that the next news may be that Washington City has been battered into a heap of ruins.

SAFETY OF CAPTAIN DELAIGNE.—The friends of the brave Capt. J. A. DeLaigue, in this city, have received positive information of his escape from the enemy and of his safety and convalescence. He managed, though desperately wounded, to get out of sight of the Hessians, and hid himself in the woods, where he remained until favorable circumstances aided his escape to the house of a friend. He has been most kindly treated, and is now convalescing. At the first opportunity he will be brought home to his rejoicing friends.—Petersburg Express.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

George V. Strong, Esq., of Goldsboro, has been appointed by President Davis, District Attorney of the Confederate States, in and for the State of North Carolina. We learn that Mr. Strong was selected without any solicitation on his part, and solely on the recommendation of his friends. This appointment is well deserved, as Mr. Strong is distinguished for public and private worth. He has the confidence of his fellow-citizens, as exemplified in the very large practice he has obtained from them and which has been increasing for years. We rejoice at this appointment not only because we have long known and esteemed and respected the incumbent, almost from boyhood, but because we are sure the public good will be promoted thereby. We think the services which will be as well and faithfully performed, as would by any other man in North Carolina. Goldsboro Tribune.

THE WAR IN MISSOURI.

St. Louis, July 18. Yesterday sent you some cheering news, the victory of our brave State Troops. This information, as I told you, I knew to be reliable. I have just been in possession of a private letter, for the truth of the contents of which I vouch. You will find that day opening and closing, and that this State is drawing to a close. The letter which I refer to is dated "Knob Nester, July 11," and states: "I have just concluded to write, in order to contradict some of the falsehoods published in the Republican in regard to the battle of Cartage and other movements of our State Troops. The statement that we lost six hundred men is false. The following, from a doctor who was in the fight says: "That the brave State Troops met the Federals under Col. Seigel's command unexpectedly, at about eight miles north of Cartage. They were 2,500 strong, and having the choice of ground, they planned their cannon in the most commanding position. Governor Jackson, with about twelve thousand men, of whom only about two thousand were armed, except with shot guns, descended upon them, and they were met by a large force of cannon, which he planted as best he could. Seigel opened the fire on them, which was kept up for eight hours, when our cavalry outflanked them and making a charge, broke their ranks. The Federals then retreated in some confusion, our boys cutting off about seven hundred of their number, four cannon, and a great number of wagons, arms, and supplies. The fighting was then kept up for eight miles to the entire route. When at Cartage, Col. Seigel made a stand, but was routed, leaving 18 wagons of provisions, camp equipment, mules, and one wagon load of cakes, pie, &c., intended for a feast for the Federals after cleaning out our boys—a good joke, but the result was that they were left behind them. They were checked by night overtaking them. They then rested for refreshments, which it may be imagined they were not in the least wanting. Gen. McCulloch joined them with 6,000 Rangers, who followed the Federals on Saturday, the result of which had not been ascertained up to the time our messenger left; but as General Pettigrew's report, which was received from the South of Cartage, they certainly captured the whole command. After our boys had cut off the wing of the enemy with their four cannon, the best they had, they then moved on to the right, and broke their ranks, and would give up the guns. The cavalry, in which our Johnson boys played a conspicuous part, charged on them, and in many cases they would not surrender. They were then cut down by our men, and their heads cut off. They got all their principal officers, one of whom being surrounded, shooting two of our men after being surrounded. They of course riddled him, and he fell. They then cut down the rest of the men, numbering not less than 20,000. McCulloch had 3,500 infantry about 30 miles back in Arkansas, who doubtless have entered the State before now. Our arms, fifty tons in all, are being sent to the front. We have about four fifty pounders in with him, and said Col. Seigel Springfield to pieces in ten shots. I have no doubt Springfield is taken before now. Up to Sunday we were fighting all day, and our boys were in the front. Our arms, fifty tons in all, are being sent to the front. We have about four fifty pounders in with him, and said Col. Seigel Springfield to pieces in ten shots. I have no doubt Springfield is taken before now. Up to Sunday we were fighting all day, and our boys were in the front. They got all their principal officers, one of whom being surrounded, shooting two of our men after being surrounded. They of course riddled him, and he fell. They then cut down the rest of the men, numbering not less than 20,000. McCulloch had 3,500 infantry about 30 miles back in Arkansas, who doubtless have entered the State before now.
