WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 4, 1862. TO THE TOBACCO PLANTERS OF VIS

C. S. NITRE BUREAU, RICHMOND, May 8, 1862.

Notwithstanding the large yield of Natre from caves, frequently advertised in our newspapers, the receipts from that source have not been sufficient, and the Government is under the necessity of looking to other sources to meet the demand of the service. It is well known that the tobacco barns of Virginia and North Carolina contain a considerable quantity, which, by a very simple process, can be obtained from the sarths of the barn floors, and an appeal is now made to every planter to engage in the manufacture of this article, which is so very important to the Government at this time. Experiments on the earths of tobacco berns were first instituted, under the direction of Captain Minor, by Mr. F. J. Barnes, and it was satisfactorily ascertained that all induced bern floors contain more or less Nitre, according to the length of time they have been in use. A barn which has been in use some twenty years will contain nitrous earth to the depth of six or nine inches; and one which has been in use son five years only, two or three inches. Many of the older barns, it is believed, will yield as much the older barns, it is believed, will yield as much as 150 pends of Nitre; and planters will flud it no less profitable than it is patriotic to engage in the manufacture of Saltpetre, inasmuch as they will be paid by the Nitre Bureau asventy-five cents per pound for all Nitre which contains no imparities over 10 per cent. Captain Minor has kindly furnished this Bureau with the information which he had collected on this subject, and unites with me in the publication of this notice. PROCESS-DRIPPING. Procure four barrels, with one head in each, as near water tight as practicable (flour barrels will do,but whiskey or molasses barrels are better), number them 1, 2, 3, 4. Make false bottoms in them with twigs, or otherwise, as may be most convenient line the barrels over this pretty well with straw of hay, extending this lining some distance up the sides, and fill with earth from the floor of the barn Pour sufficient water to each barrel thoroughly to moisten it. Each barrel should be a little inclina to one side, and should have a spile hole as near th bettom as possible, which must be stopped with wooden spigot for about twelve hours after the firs water is poured in, andthen usstopped, and th water allowed to run or drip into some vessel provided for the purpose. The dripping now from No. 4 should be returned to it until it drips clean that from No. 3, should be poured into No 4, th from No. 2, into No. 3, and that from No. 1 int No. 2 pouring after this, all the fresh water in: No. 1 Thus it will be seen that the fresh water passes first through No. 1, taking up its solub-sub-tances; that this partially changed liquid goo into No 2, getting still more nitre; that on bein drawn off from No 2 it passes through No. 3, an 50 Pair tirey, Blue, Draband Mixed color of Clots | drawn off from No. 2 it passes through No. 4, and and colored Clots | drawn off from No. 2 it passes through No. 4, getting an additional pair for single-pattern to cat purposes of the following pair of the second No. 4 is as highly concentrated through No. 4 may be set some and some state. The close type from No. 4 may be set some and some state, unships not the new tor Southern we.

After the water has been passed through No. 1 four times, it will be exhausted, and can be emptioned and filled with fresh earth and placed as No. 4 of the series No. 4 becoming No. 3, No. 3 No. 2 and No. 2 becoming No. 1; the present No. 1 (former No. 2) will now be filled with fresh water, and this liaving drained through the earth will be emptied and fresh earth put in and the barrel placed as No. 4, thus preserving a continued rotation of the barrels and avoiding the necessity of stopping to refill all at once. Care should be taken in pouring the clear lye into the vessel for boiling, to pour in as little of the sediment as pos-sible, thus having so much less filth to get rid of it boiling. Where it is not convenient to get barrels, hoppers may be used, conforming, as near as practicable, to the same rules as with barrels. The hoppers should be made of split timber or slabs, converging on all sides, and made as tight

Botting. Procure an iron pot large enough to hold the liquor to be boiled, and pouring all the liquor in-to it, boil it bri-kly, when a scum will rise on its surface; this soum must be skimmed off and re-turned to the barrels, and the boiling continued until a drop taken up by the end of a suck be-comes hard or solid when let fall upon cold meta-or upon a plate. The liquor is now to be dipped out of the pot and poured into a cloth placed over a tub or bar-rel, and allowed to strain through into the tub below and become cold. Assoon as the liquor begins to cool crystals of Saltpetre will commence form ing, and when cold the liquor left-called mother liquor— must be poured off from the Saltpetre back into the pot with the fresh liquor for boiling, as it still has considerable Saltpeire in it.

LATER FROM NEW ORLEANS-YANKER DESPOTISM.

The Mobile Register has statements from a lady from New Orleans, which confirm other accounts and the tenor of Butler's orders, to the effect that the conquerers are making the unhappy citizens feel the iron heel of their power .-The following is, the substance of her state-

Every day the military surveillance become more rigid and the regulations more stringent. Butler, as the most infamous of his orders indi-Butler, as the most infamous of his orders indicate, is levying flerce warfars upon the ladies. They grievously offended his Yankee highness by wearing, as trimmings of their bonnets, &c., semblances of the Confederate flag, and the Southern colours, red and white. Picayune ordered them to indulge no more in such demonstrations of rebellious sentiment, under penalty of condign punishment. How many obeyty of condign punishment. How many obey-ed and how many were punished our infor-ment does not set forth. But she does state that Mrs. J. B. Walton, ledy of Colonel J. B. Walton, of the Washington artillery, is now in close confinement, because she refused to remove the little fing which formed part of the trimming of bar bound. It is thus that the valtrimming of ear bonnet. It is thus that the valorous Picayune avenges so much of the rout at Buil flum as was due to the wall-served guns of the Washington artiflery. Persons were being arrested and consighed to dungsons at the whim of the Yankee despot.

Our intelligence from the nove because of the course is to the effect that fifty thousand men had been landed in the city, and were now quartered within and about it, and gardening the court of the coast, lakes and rivers.

A great deal of sickness, and of a very fatal type, was prevailing among the unacclimated Yankess of New England, and seventy dead invaders were carried out from one hospital and buried during a ringle night. One-informant says it was common talk the Yankee officers that Mobile would soon t attacked, and they said that the city would to shelled without hesitation if resistance was made after gunboats were in range.

When the indy applied to the Yankee provost marshal she tendered a Confederate total in payment of the fee exacted. The official took it and buried it violently back into her face the money she paid the amount.

The Orienians are finding out what being a conquered people means. Let their sad experience instruct us that any other evil it more endu rable, any suffering preferable, to the scourge of Yankee masters.

THE GUN BOATS AT CITY POINT Yesterday morning at early dawn, there were ten gunboats lying in the stream fronting City Point. Soon after sun-rise three of them advanced, and commenced throwing bage shads in every direction for miles around. After discharging some two or three hundred, and neither eliciting any response or seeing any sign of a rebel soldier, the advanced, and landed some three hundred Has sians, who speedily took possession of the unoccupi ed buildings at the Point.

Late in the day, the gunboais advanced some two or three miles up the Appomattor shelling, the banks of the river on both sides. Two shells passed through the residence of Mr. John Bland We heard of no other building being struck. No pursons were injured. It is supposed that the enemy is endeavoring to reach Port Walthali, only five miles from City Point, and within three miles of the Richmond and Petersburg Railroad.

We learned last evening that the Yankees, who landed at City Point in the morning, again em-barked in the afternoon, and went down the river. They seem to be afraid to remain ashore at night. - Petersburg Express of Wednesday
