the Abolition radicals. The astonnding manifestations from the North convey the idea of an emphatic and impressive popular verdict against the Abolition faction which has ruled the Government at Washington. The Northern papers are busy with attempts to lesson the value of the results of the election in the ayes of the South. Their value, however, is determined by the circumstance that the principal idea on which the recent canvass in the North was conducted was, that the Democrats were a peace party in disguise, and with this issue thrust in their faces, the people of the three most power-ful States in the North have given unprecendented majorities to the Democratic candidates, and a blow to the Abolitionists at the ballot-boxes that will stagger them into the back-ground.

low York dates of the 5th instant, state that the Federal army is making rapid advances into the different Gaps of the Blae Ridge heretofore held by the Confederates, and are now in posses-slop of all the Gaps as far as Ashby's, their forces being in front of that position. On the 4th inst. General Stabel, with a portion of Sigel's com-mand, according to the Northern accounts, drove the Confederates out of Thoroughfare Gap, and General Carl Schurz immediately occupied it. — General Bayard's force meantime holds Aldie and all the country between that point and Sigel's front. Buckland Mills is also stated to be in possession of the Federals. The Herald states that the "rebels" are pretty closely out flanked, hemmed in, and cut of from Richmond. It says that General McClellan is fifty miles nearer the rebel capital than Gen. Lee's army, and a vigor. ous movement-protected, of course, by a cau-tious stiention to his rear-may at any moment put him in possession of that place.

Papers of the same date make the announcement of the death of two Federal Generals-O. M. Mitchel and J. B. Richardson. The former died at Beaufort of yellow fever, on the 31st ult., and General Richardson died of the wounds received at the battle of Sharpsburg, on Monday night. Sec. 11 - 24

GEO. D. PRENTICE'S OBITUARY ON HIS SON.

George D. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal. publishes in that paper the following obituary of his eldest son, a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Confederate service, who was killed in the late successful attack upon the town of Augusta, Ky:

Obituary .-- William Courtland Prentice died on Monday last, at Augusta, Ky., of wounds received in the conflict at that place on the preceding Saturday. He perished in the cause of the rebellion ...

It is not in the columns of a newspaper-it is only in the family circle or in the hush of solitude-that the emotions of a parent over such an event should have uperance. The tears of weep-ing eyes and the fast trickling drops of bleeding hearts are not for the public gaze. The deep sgonies should be content to fold their sombre wings in the soul. Consolation could not come from the world's sympathy; it can be looked for only from God and his angel time. Nay, there are griefs that time itself has no power to allay or soothe-griefs that like running streams, are deepening their channels forever.

Wm. Courtland Prentice was no common young man. He was remarkable in his powers and in his temperament. A model of manly peauties, he had extraordinary intellectual energy, a strong thirst for strange and curious knowl-

On Wednesday evening last the enemy advanced in considerable force, by the Hamilton road, towards Tarborough. They were met by our troops commanded by Gen. Martin and Gov. Vance,and after a sharp skirmish, they fell back towards their gunboats. The rumors of a battle were premature.

The latest report is that the enemy is in considerable force at Hamilton. Our forces were in position to meet them wherever they might attempt to strike.

It is also reported that the enemy have complete control of the river as high as Greenville, and that the latter place has been destroyed. Many of the Eastern people are making their

This young man, if he had always directed his energies judiciously, could shave made himself a distinguished ornament in any profession of life. He might have been an able and honored states. man in the service of the Republic. But an intense Southern sympathy, in spite of the arguments, the remonstrances and the entreaties of those who dearly loved him, made an active rebel against his country; and after a brief five weeks' service in the rebel ranks, he fell, soon to breathe out his flery life, receiving, meanwhile, far away from his family, the kind ministrations of those against whose cause his strong right arm had been raised. Oh, if he had fallen in his country's service, fallen with his burning eyes fixed in love and devotion upon that flag that for more than three-fourths of a century has been a star of worship to his ancestors, his early death, though still terrible, might have been borne by a father's heart; but, alas ! the reflection that he fell in armed rebellion against that glorious old banner, now the emblem of the greatest and holiest cause that the world ever knew, is full of desolation and al-

EXECUTION OF DESERTERS .- James Cain, of Branch's artillery, and John Bowers, of the fourth North Carolina regement, were executed at Petoraburg on Tuesday for desertion. The Express SAVE :

Cain bore his fate with apparent indifference, and laughed and conversed as though he were go-ing to a wedding feast. He considered the sentence that had been passed upon him a just one, and said that had the Confederate Government been as strict tweive months ago the army would have heen saved the loss of many valuable soldiers, and he for one, would have still been in the ranks. Bowerl,on the other hand, exhibited a vastly difterent spirit from that of Cain. He wept pro-fusely when brought out of jail, and while being taken to the place of execution, but subsequently-bore up better. They were shot at 12 o'clock, and both fell dead at the first fire, plerced by several balls. balls.

How, then, is our new House of Reprein this part of the Valley will remember, was exsentatives, fresh from the people, to give its coun-sels to the President in their behalf? We know of no better method than an informal meeting of cordingly inclement, a cold rain falling, and keen autumnal winds blowing, so that any one so much exposed would necessarily suffer. Whether this poor soldier had been wounded, or whether he the members of the new Congress, after the fashion of the late Altoona conference of the Govwas suffering from disease, we have not learned, ernors of our loyal States. Accordingly we sug-gest an informal meeting of the people's newly elected representatives, in order that they may agree upon a series of recommendations and but, at all events, he was unable to help himself, and his feeble crice for relief grew fainter and wailing night storm, until finally the merciful an-
