of the special order, the House proceeded to the consideration of the Revenue bill. A number of amendmenta were proposed, some of which were concurred in. Pending its consideration the following message was received from His Excellency, Gov. Vance: To the Honorable, the General Assembly of North Carolina: With the flight of time great events have occurred and are now crowding upon us. Since livering of captured officers to the States for punyour adjournment in December, the invaders of | ishment. our State have concentrated a large force upon our coast, and are again threatening our remaining seaports and lines of communication. Every preparation possible has been made to resist them, and it is hoped not without success. Still much remains to be done to strengthen our army and add to its efficiency. I beg leave respectfully to offer a few suggestions to you on this subject.

The most serious evils with which our generals have to contend are the inefficient execution of the concript law and the alarming increase of desertion in the army. A long absence from home and the severe hardships of our rapid and won-derful campaigns, naturally tends, to produce these effects during a protracted war. To arrest these delinquents and return them to duty, the militia have heretofore been employed with some degree of success; but latterly they have been found inefficient, owing to the many obstacles in-Governor to employ a messenger for the Execu- terposed by the law. Should an officer start out to arrest a deserter, the friends of the latter have only to give the alarm and he is spirited out of the way, or the officer is resisted by open violenc. As desertion is not a crime known to the laws of to conscripts, and from Burke, relative to the | this State, these persons who thus shields the deserver from arrest are liable to no punishment .-The consequence is that numbers of deserters are ing a kind of outlawed population in the midst of our quiet and orderly people. This state of things, ruinous alike to the discipline of our army and the morals of our people, ought not to be suffered to continue and might be prevented in my opinon by a little prudent legislation. With the consent of the highest military authorities from whose commands they are without leave, by proclamation, thirty days in which they may return to duty free of punishment, and after that time to make them liable for the delay, to the severest penalties of the law. To enable the authorities to effect their arrest, I recommend, as I had the honor to do in my regof any particular company or regiment of the militia to the articles of war, when ordered to perform any duty of this kind at the discretion On motion of Mr. Shepherd, the House took of the Executive; that power be given the Executive summarily to drop from the rells officers guilty of gross and wilful neglect of duty, and that it be made a crime to shield or harbor deserters or to assist them to avoid capture. Should it be deemed best to continue to use the militia of

> has failed in these respects to provide for the enforcement of its own acts. I have been applied to in several instances as the appointing power of the regimental officers of our ragiments raised originally for three years or the war, to promote men for gallant and meritorious conduct, but on close examination of the law I find I have no authority to deviate from > the regular order of promotion by seniority in the appointment of company officers. This power ought to reside somewhere—the good of the service requires it. The humblest private in the ranks of the army ought to feel that there is the power and the will to lift him above the chumble position to a commissioned officer, as a reward for gallantry and herosem. therefore recommend that this authority be vested in the Executive, to be exercised upon proper recommendations of commanding officers in the fleid. The subject of arresting citizens on charges of disloyalty I beg leave again to allude to. Many have been recently taken up by the Confederate officers; and with a spirit of courtesy and respect for State authority, turned over to me for lavestigation. I am at a loss how to dispose of them. I cannot examine them myself, and of course reliberry without an examination, and I am yet more unwilling to see them placed in the Confederate prison at Salisbury where the tracks of the accused all lead in one direction and the light of old English liberty is never seen. I therefore recommend the establishing of a commission for the investigation of charges against all such persons with power, to commit for trial before the proper tribunal, if sufficient cause appears, &c.

In this connection I take great pleasure in transmitting a letter from Hon. Jas. S. Seddon, Secretary of War, in relation to the case of R. J. Graves, and in response to the demand for his delivery to the authority of this State, made in obedience to a joint resolution of your two Houses. Admirable in spirit, ample in explanation of the circumstances under which the arrest was made, and in expressions of regard for the rights and sovereignty of the State, I am sure that, accompanying as it did the prompt surrender of the accessed, it cannot fail to give you the satisfaction I experienced on its perusal.

In view of the threatened invasion of the State, I have been advised by the War Department, to call out the militia to assist in repelling it. Having consulted with the General in combut am at least doubful of my authority to take the step, while your body is in session. Not wishing to exercise any doubtful authority, when your presence and approbation may so easly make it certain. I most respectfully recommend that I be authorized immediately to call out such portions of the militia as may be deemed sufficient to meet the present emergency.

I have the honor herewith to transmit cories of resolutions on various subjects, of the Legislatures of the State of South Carolina, Georgia, Flerids and Alabama, forwarded to me by their respective Executives with a request that they would be laid before you. The most importset of these relates to the proposition of guaranteeing by each State of its proportion of the Confederate War debt, and to these I invite your early and deliberate attention. I am also pleased to be able to inform you that the correspondence conducted by me with the War Department, at your request, in relation to the burning of cotton in Eastern North Carolina, was entirely satisfactory, though for prudential reasons I thought it improper to make it public.

Z. B. VANCE. The message and accompanying documents having been read, they were ordered to be sent to the Senate with a proposition to print.

Very respectfully,

Mr. Amis introduced- a resolution to repeal to the rule of the House now in force, relative to the hours of meeting and adjournment of the House.

Laid over under the rule. The House resumed the consideration of the Revenue Bill, and continued its consideration unif the hour of adjournment.

The Senate was occupied Thursday mainly in the consideration of the Ter Regiment bill -Quite a spirited discussion took place on the different amendments proposed. Messrs Taylor, of Chatham, Smith, of Macon, and Lindsey favoring the original bill, and Mesers Lane, Young, Copeland, Ellis and Murrill opposing it. RE- VACCINATION .- A paper on re-vaccination was recently presented to the Academy of Medicine at Paris, in the name of Dr. Vlemincks, one of its corresponding members. The author gives an account of the experiments instituted at Gaud. by Dr. Denopele, with a view to ascertain the advantages arising from a repetition of vaccination at various periods of life. The results arrived at are-that between the ages of twenty and forty revaccination only takes effect upon four out of one hundred patients, while the proportion of those on whom it takes effect between the ages of forty and sixty is 23 per cent.; and between the ages of sixty and seventy, 54 per cent. The cor-That until the age of twenty-five re-vaccination is useless. 2. That from that age to thirty-five it produces useful effects upon a very small number of persons, and that consequently it need not be very strenuously recommended at that period of life. 3. That from the age of thirty-five and upwards it becomes really prophylactic, and therefore necessary. 4. That when vaccination has not taken effect at a certain period, this is no reaabsent, I propose to give absentess from the army son for concluding that it will not take effect at some future period.
