Among the prisoners brought up by the flag of truce on the 13th inst., were many from the West. The very sight of the poor fellows was enough to strike pity to the heart. We wish the Government could bear their tales of suffering and distress, and we hope that they will take some steps to lay their grievances before the authorities here.

One of the prisoners, a man named Douglas, told us that he was a member of the 10th Maine. He was captured on the 13th inst. He was captured on the 13th inst.
