POETRY.

Selected for the Register. TO AN ABSENT WIFE. BY GEO. D. PRENTICE Tis morn-the sea breeze seems to bring Joy, health, and freshness on its wing-Bright flowers, to me all strange and new, Are glittering in the dew-And perfumes rise from every grove As incense to the clouds that move Like spirits o'er yon welkin clear-But I am sad-thou art not here.

Tis noon-a calm, unbroken aleep Is on the blue waves of the deep-A soft haze like a fairy dream

Is floating over wood and stream-And many a broad magnolia flower Within its shadowy woodland bower, Is gleaming like a lovely star-

But I am sad-thou art afar. Tis eve-on earth the sunset skies Are painting their own Edeu dyes-The stars come down and trembling glow Like blossoms in the waves below-And, like some unseen spirit, the breeze Seems ling'ring mid these Orange trees-Breathing its music round the spot-But I am sad-I see thee not.

Tis midnight-with a soothing spell The far tones of the ocean swell, Soft as a mother's cadence mild Low bending o'er her sleeping child-And on each wand'ring breeze are heard The rich notes of the mocking bird in many a wild and wondrous lay-But I am sad-thou art away.

I sink in dreams-low, sweet and clear, Thy own dear voice is in my ear--Around my cheeks thy tresses twine-Thy own loved hand is clasped in mine-Thy own soft lip to mine is pressed-Thy head is pillowed on my breast-Oh ! I have all my heart holds dear-And I am happy-thou art here.
