MISCELLANEOUS.

JOHN JAMES AUDUBON. Parke Godwin, Esq., has published an in-teresting sketch of the life of the late Mr. Auduton, from which we select the following incidents :

The incidents, it must be supposed, of exreditions of this sort are many and striking. Exposed to danger on every side, by flooris, by tempeste, by fires, by wild beasts, and by the bands of man, his life was a perpetual scene of vicissitudes and adventures. Some diaries, assessing and robbers, and there is of these it may be entertaining to refer to. now no time to discuss the morality and ex-At one time in the month of November, tent of punishment that should be inflicted on them when they are found offending.—

It can be to discuss the morality and extent of punishment that should be inflicted on them when they are found offending.—

From the purisons of every city stilling aroun the Western horizon. At first we have representatives. They are here to he supposed it might be a coming storm of commit theft, robbery, arson, and do whatthunder and rain. He had proceeded about ever else may be wicked, that they may a mile, when he heard what he imagined to live. They are not disposed to work and be the distant rembling of a violent tornado, make an honest living. Now, until these He spurred his horse, with the view of galloping to a place of shelter, but the animal, sued with terrible effect, they will plan and apparently more sagacious than the rider, mearly stopped, or rather moved forward slow. ly placing one foot before the other, with as penitentiaries to lock them up in. We must much precaution as if walking on a smooth sheet of ice.

He dismounted to ascertain what was the quatter, when the steed fell to growing piteously, hung his head, spread out his fore legs, as if to save himself from falling, and stood stock still. At that instant all the shrubs and trees began to move from their very roots, and the ground rose and fell in successive lurrows, like the ruffled waters of he sea. It was an earthquake. "Who cut ich of the sensitions I experienced," writes our naturalist, "when, rocking on my horse and with him moved to and tro like a child in his cradle, with the most eminent danger around, and expecting the ground every moment to open, and present to my eyes such an abyse as might ingulf myself and all around me! The frarful convulsion, however, lasted only a few minutes, and the heavcas again brightened as quickly as they had become obscured; my horse brought his feet to their natural position, raised his head and galinped off as if loose and frolicking without a rider."

Not to the fury of the elements alone was our intrepid man of science axposed. Once -and, singular to say, only once, in wanderdeath by the hand of man. This was, when returning from the upper Mississippi, he was ferced to cross one of the wide prairies of that region! We must let him relate it. Toward the dusk of the evening, wearied with proached a light that feebly shone from the window of a log but. He reached the spot, and presenting himself at the door, asked a tall figure of a woman whether he might take and her dress carelessly thrown about person. She answered h s question in the affirmative, when he walked in, took a wooden stool, and quietly seated himself by the fire. A finely formed young Indian, his head resting between his hands, with his elbows on his knees, Cny was seated in the centre of the cabin.

A long bow stood against the wall, while a quantity of arrows and two or three raccoonsking, lay at his feet. He moved not, he apparently breathed not. Being addressed in French, he raised his head, pointed to one of his eves with his finger and gave a significant glance with the other. His face was 4 75, 5 50 and opwards. covered with blood. it appeared that an row at a raccoon the arrow split upon the per cent less than the usual prices. to his right eye, as to destroy it for ever .-"Feeling hungry,' Mr. Audubon continues his narrative, "I endured what sort of fare I might expect. Such a thing as a bed was not to be seen, but many large untanned bear and buffalo hides lay piled up in one corner. I drew a fine time-pe ce from my vert, and told the woman that it was late, and that I was fatigued. She had espied my watch, the richness of which seemed to operate upon her feelings with electric quickness .-She told me that there was plenty of ventson and jerked buffalo meat, and that on removing the ashes I should find a cake.

But my watch had struck her fancy, and her curiosity had to be gratified with a sight | lencies, and at all prices of it. I took off the gold chain that secured it, from around my neck, and presented it to her. She was all ecstacy, spoke of its beauty, asked me its value, put the chain around her brawny neck, saying how happy the possession of such a chain would make ber. Thoughtless, and as I fancied my self in so retired a spot, secure, I paid little attention to her talk or movements; I helped my dog to a good supper of venison, and was not long in satisfying the demands of my own appetite. The Indian rose from his seat as if in extreme suffering. He passed and repassed me several times, and once pinched me on the side so violently, that the pain nearly brought forth an exclamation of auger. looked at him. His eye met mine; but his look was so forbidding that it struck a chill into the more nervous part of my system.

He again seated himself, drew a butcherknife from its greasy scabbard, examined its edge as I would do that of a razor I suspected to be dull, replaced it, and again taking his tomahawk from his back, filled the pipe of it with tobacco, and sent me expres sive glances whenever our hostess chanced to have her back towards us. Never till that moment had my senses been awakened to the danger which I now suspected to be about me. I returned glance for glance with my companion, and rested well assured that,

In the mean time, he retired to rest upon the skins, when two athletic youths, the sons of the woman, made their entrance. She whispered with them a little while, when they tell to eating and drinking to a state bordering on intexication. "Judge of my astonishment." he says, when I saw this incarnate fiend take a large carring knife and go to the grindstone to whet its edge! A HOPEFUL COMMUNITY. The California Courser of Dec. 10th gives the following description of the state of sociefy in San Francisco:-

Our city is infested with burglars, incenscoundrels are severely dealt with and purcarry out their deeds of darkness. The city is not safe one day. We have no prisons or rid the city of their by a summary process Let one or two examples be set, by shooting or hanging them, and the rest will probably find it best to leave for other parts.

The advice given at the close of the above, is somewhat of the coolest. Perhaps the writer would recommend a public smoofer to rid the city of troublesome fellows "by a summary process." If the Californians have "no prisons or pentlentiaries," how can they wonder that their "city is not safe one day?"

LIVER Releigh. Jan. 4th, 1854.

It has been computed, that during the last twenty years, three millions of persons have annually been benefited by the use of these Medicines; a fact which speaks volumes in favor of their curative properties—a single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition in the estimation of every patient. By their use the blood is restored to a pure and healthy state, freed from all impurities. The system is not reduced during their operation, but invigorated, and they require no restraint from business or pleasure. The afflicted have in Moffat's Life Pills and Phonix Bitters, a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can possibly effect.

A Derangement of the Nervous System. her in NeRVOUS COMPLAINTS, Drugs and Medicines servese the disease, for they weaken the vital energies of the already prostrated system; while under the strengthening life-giving, vitalizing influence of Galvaniam, as applied by this beautiful and wondarful discovery, the exhausted patient and weakened sufferer is restored to former health, strength, beliefic and settles.

Dr. Christie's Galvanic Ouratives consists, in the fact that they arrest and cure disease by est word explication, in place of the usual mode of drugging and physicking the patient, till exhausted Nature sinks hopelessly under the infliction.

They are tagilises the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the secretions, and never do the slightest injury wider any circumstances. Since their introduction in the United States, only these years since, more than

To illustrate the use of the GALVANIC BELT, suppose the case of a person afflicted with that bane of civilization, DVBPCPSIA, or any other Chronic or Nervous Disorder. It ordinary cases, stimulants are taken, which, by their action of the nerves and muscles of the stomach, afford temporary relief, outwhich leave the patient in a lower state, and with injured faculties, after the action thus excited has ceased. Now competre this with the effect resulting from the application of the GALVANIC BELT. Take a Dyspeptic sufferer, even in the worse symptoms of an attack, and simply lie the Belt sroully the body using the Magnetic Fluid as directed. In a short period the invensible perspiration will act on the positive element of the Belt, thereby causing a Galvanic circulation which will pass od to the negative, and thence back again to the positive, thus keeping up a continuous Galvanic circulation the rositive, thus keeping up a continuous Galvanic circulation throughout the system. Thus the most severe cases of DVSPERSIA are PERMANENTLY CHRED. A FEW DAYS

what has been the result in my own case, of the application of THE GALVANIC BELT AND NECKLACE. My reply is no what has been the result in my own case, of the application of THE GALVANIC BELT AND NECKLACE. My reply is as fallows:

For about twenty years I had been suffering from Dyspepsia. Every year the symptoms became worse, me could I obtain permanent relief from any course of medical treatment whatever. About fourteen years since, in consequence of frequent exposure to the weather, in the discharge of my pastoral duties, I became subject to a severe Chronic Rheuma tism, which for year after year, caused me indescribeble anguish. Farther: in the winter of '45 and '45, in consequence of prenching a great deal it my own not various other churches in this region. I was attacked by the Bronchitis, which soon became so severe as to require an immediate suspension of my pastoral labors. My nervous system seas new thereughly prentrated, and as my Bronchitis became worse, so also did my Dyspepsia and Rheumatic affection—thus evincing that these disorders were connected with each other through the medium of the Nervous System. In the whole pharmace some there seemed to be no remedial agent which could reach and recuperate my Nervous System; every thing that I had tried for this purpose had completely failed. At last was lead by my friends to examine your inventions, and though with no very sanguine hopes of their efficiency.) I determined to try the effect of the application of the GALVANIC BELT.
