EXECUTION OF THE LAW-THE ISSUE. The "Standard" each day multiplies its claims to a prominent place in the same ranks with the "Charleston Mercury" and the other erazy prints of the Union, without regard to section; without regard to section, we say, because it is a notori ous fact, since the scenes exhibited in the Senste during the debate on Mr. CLAY's Resolution, that the fanatics of both extremes are united in the attainment of a common object—the dissolution of the Union! The last issue of that paper abounds with additional and indubitable evidences of its sympathy for the mad and suicidal course which South Carolina is about to take. Alone (with the exception, of course, of the "Mercury," of all the journals of the country that have come under our notice, it indulges in a spirit of faultfinding with the course of the President relative to the recent outrage in Boston. Alone, with the exception aforesaid, it ridicules or doubts, or insinuates that all is not exactly as it should be. If the Editor's motive, in pursuing this disingenu. ous and illiberal course, be, as it doubtless is, to break the force of that effect which the prompt and decided action of the President is producing upon the public mind, and thereby subserve the pur peses of Party, we know of no historical character to whom we can more fitly compare him, than te that notorious individual, in the army of the Resolution, so witheringly described by PATRICK HENRY, as having raised in camp the hourse and selfishery of Beef-Beef"! when the country is in danger, and all brave and patriotic hearts were beating for its safety and yearning to bleed, if necessary, in its cause! Thus it is, that the "Standard" sees something significant in the fact, that the Judiciary Committee of the Senate to whom the recent Executive message was referred, have expressed the opinion, in their report made a few days before the adjournment, that further legislation is not essential to enable the President to discharge his high constitutional duty of seeing the laws obeyed. Such, true, is the general conclusion of the Committee—that further legislation is not essential (the word is italicized in the Report of the Majority;) not that the President's suggestions are by any means

There are many points contained in that Report, and especially in the individual Minority Report sub. mitted by Mr. Butler, which we would like to notice if we had the time and space. We content ourselves however, with a single one: It is made the duty of the President, by the act giving the power to call out and employ the militia, to issue his proclamation beforehand as a warning to the employment of force .-"Such a proclamation," says the President, "would often defeat the whole object by giving such notice to peror secrete themselves." And he therefore suggests ward Warren, (M. D.) Walter R. Smith, M. D.) that the law be modified by declaring that nothing therein contained shall be construed to require any previous proclamation, &c. But the Committee do not deem such a declaration "essential;" Mr. Butler, however, taking higher ground, as follows:

This provision was founded in usage, and has the sauction of time, trial, and experience. It is but the warning voice of a forbearing Government. There might be some occasions when the interval between such warning and the actual employment of force might be of some duration. Other occasions might be such as to require the force to follow in quick succes sion to the warning of a proclamation. The order to call out the militia and the proclamation might ema-nate at the same time. I do not think the President has the right to eall out the military force of the Government without observing the pro requisites of the act of 1795; and I am unwilling to give him such power in calling out the militia. I would regard it as a fearfully momentous oceasion to see the army called out to shoot down insurgents without notice or proclama

While, therefore President Fillmore is relieved, by the declaration of Mr. Butler, himself, from anything like censure in the premises, it would seem as though that functionary were so over anxious in the eyes of Mr. B., to see the laws obeyed, as to ask for what he terms, a "fearful" authority to do so! We expect to see the "Standard" shift its sails and attack him for aiming after despotic authority, next.

Do they echo the "Standard's" warning to their party to keep clear of Union meetings and to hold themselves aloof from all associations formed to protect and to save the Union ! The principal object of the paper will be to advocate the call of an unsestricted Convention. Gen. B, thus sets forth, in his Procpe ctus, the platform upon which he will stand.

The subscriber will stand by the Constitution of the United States and the Union, and will freely denounce all attempts to destroy that which was built up by the blood of our ancestors, the purest band of pa-triofs the world ever knew. But while he is willing to abide by the action of the General Government thus far,he'is not by any means an advocate for a tame submission to any aggressions upon the rights of the South. Any interference with our institutions, on the part of the General Government, unwarranted by the Constitution of the United States, should be properly and firmly resisted. He believes that the cause of complaint now existing is against the insane and fanatic doings of a portion of the people of the non-slaveholdmg States, and not against the action of the General Government. This can be remedied by proper ac-tion, within the constitution, on the part of the people of the Southern States, without adopting the suici-dal and revolutionary measure of a dissolution of the VALUE OF RAIL ROADS.

The Editor of the " Tarboro' Press" gives n his last, the dottings by the way of a flying visit to Wilmington. Though by no means friendly to the cause of Internal Improvements, and especially of Rail Road Improvement, the Editor could not fail to see, everywhere around him, the evidences of train of the Locomotive. He says :

"The Rail Road is now in fine order, about 120 miles having been re-'aid with T iron, and the balance of the road being in progress. We also visited the workshops of the Company in Wilmington, and went on board of one of their steamboats. We were truly gratified to wituess the order and regularity observed in every particular, and had no idea means for manufacturing and repairing the various articles requisite for use. The business of the Company appears to be rapidly on the increase, and the day is doubtless near rate the owner.

The thrifty appearance and expanded then, will North Carolina occupy the position to which dimensions of Wilmington also agreeably surprised us. We had not been in that town since 1823, and although we had frequent about the 1st of June, if the subscriptions justify it intimations of its rapid "improvement since the completion of the Railroad, we little expected to see in it so many spacious and elegant public and private buildings, and such crais and Whigs of the county-al equally inits citizens

NAG'S HEAD.

Owing to the exertion of Col) Outlaw, an appropriation of $100,000 for this great national work was embraced in the provisions of the River and Harbor Bill, which passed the House of Representatives; but was defeated in the Senate by the determined opposition of the minority. While we feared this fate we had some hopes that it would have been new thrift and prosperity that follow in the delay, for our readers may be well assured otherwise. We cannot but deeply regret this that this great act of justice is but delayed. This is no time for idle regret, we have failed in obtaining an appropriation it is true, therefore it behooves us still more to agitate the subject and keep it before the people. Let those who urged this matter and supvements, and the ease and rapidity wi h which ported it by their influence and votes be sustained Let Congress see that the people exclaim, in the language of the miser to his are in earnest, that they are determined that this work shall be done and it will be done. We see no reason for despair, the wedge has been entered a d it requires but determination and energy to remove every difficulty.

For his exertions in favor of Nag's Head and the consequent interest of this district, Col. Outlaw deserves the enthusiastic support of a constituency whom he has so faithfully represented in this, as upon every question since he has been in Congress. He will be triumphantly sustained at the August Election, and if there was no other cause, his tween the East and West, to show that they are not at hand when the road will amply remune. the House of Representatives would be complete success in regard to Nag's Head in sufficient inducement for the people to sustain him .- Old North State.
