WANTED-A WIFE

We imagine the author of the following is rather hard to please, but we think if any of our young lady readers will fill the bill he will make her a good husband.]

I want a wife, a first rate wife-A girl that's all my own, To cook my meals and cheer my life,

With smiling word and tone. I want a kind of apple girl, Ripe, rosy-cheeked and sound; Whose tender feelings sorter quiri

And turn me all around.

A girl with cheeks and holly-hocks; Idustrious, kind and true, That's smart enough to foot my socks, And mend my clothes like new.

A girl that ne'er will pledge a vow To any chap but me; That's been brought up to milk a cow, And have warm cakes for tea.

Like tollow dips her eyes must be-As melting and as bright; They'll do to court by, you see, And save another light.

She must be graceful as the bell Upon the lily found; And make such butter as will sell For cents fifty a pound.

A very sentimental poet, seeing the gambols of an ass-foal in a field, vowed that he should like to send the little thing as a present to his dearest Matilda. "Do," replied one of his companions, "and tie a piece of paper around its neck, bearing the motto: son Walsh. 'When this you, see remember me.'"

Somebody has given utterance to the following scrap of philosophy, which if it be not good is at least cool: "The poor man's purse may be empty, but he has as much gold in the sunset and silver in the moon as anybody."

At Placerville, a Methodist minister went to a tin shop to buy a blowing horn. "Selecting one, he asked the clerk whether it would make a loud noise?" "O, yes," said the clerk, "a h-ll of a noise?" "Well replied the minister, "as I want it to blow at campmeeting, I don't think that kind of a noise will suit," and walked off.

A justice, better versed in law than in gospel, not long since married a couple in this way: "Hold up your hands. You will solemnly swear that you will faithfully perform the duties of your office, jointly and severally, acording to your best skill and judgment, so help you God. Fee one dollar.

Wise men say nothing in dangerous times. The lion called the sheep to ask her if his breath smelt? She said "Aye," and he bit off her head for a fool. He called the wolf and asked him. He said "No," and he tore him in pieces for a flatterer. At last he called the fox and asked him. "Truly," said he, "I have got a cold and cannot smell." The fox knew what he was about.

I say, Jones, how is it your wife dresses so magnificently, and you always appear out of your elbows? Jones, (impressively and significantly,) "you see, Thompson, my wife dresses according to the Gazette of Fashion, and I according to my Ledger."

A little girl, just past her fifth year, while chatting about the beaux that visited two of the sex in same house, of more mature age, being asked, "What do you mean by beaux, Annie?" replied, "Why I mean men that have not got much senses."

GENERAL ORDERS.

THE CAROLINAS

ORDER FROM GEN. SICKLES FOR THE RELIEF O DESTITUTE-IMMEDIATE COLLECTION OF CER TAIN DEBTS PROHIBITED.

HDQR'S SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT, Charleston, S. C., April 11, 1867.

GENERAL ORDER No. 10.-The general destitution prevailing among the population of this military district cannot be relleved without affordlng means for the development of their industrial resources. The nature and extent of the destitution demand extraordlnary measures. The people are borne down by a heavy burden of debt, the crops of grain and garden produce failed last year, many families have been deprived of shelter, many more need food and clothing, useful implements and auxilliaries of husbandry are very scarce; the laboring population in numerous localities are threatened with starvation unless supplied with food by the Government of the United States ; the inability of a large portion of the people to pay taxes leaves the local authorities without adequate means of relief, and the gravity of the situation increased by the general disposition shown by creditors to enforce upon an impoverished people the immediate collection of all claims. To suffer all this to go on without restraint or remedy is to and to remit fines and penalties. sacrifice the general good. The rights of creditors shall be respected, but the appeal of want and ruf-fering must be heeded. Moved by these considerations, the following regulations are announced, and they will continue in force with such modification as the occarion may require until the civil government of the respective States shall be established in accordance with the requirements of the Government of the United States. The commanding General carnestly desires and confidently believes that the observance of these regulations and the co-operation of all persons concerned in employing fairly and justly the advantages still remaing to them, will mitigate the distress now existing, and that the avenues of industry, enter-
