pathy, some rest, some assis and spised, beset, anneyed, back-bitten, way laid. The paper wife editorials about me of I church I am told that a camel can get through the eye of a needle slicker than I can get into heaven, If I don't dress my family in an extravagant maoner I bear that I am an old skinflint; If I do, I am told that all I think of my money is to make a vulgar show with it. I suppose I worked a hard as any man for more than two thirds of my life to accumulate a ferture, but I believe, most people think I ought to give it away and commence over again. In a winter like this you've no idea of the hardships of the rich. If help all the people who apply to me, I might as well go to the poor-house, and yet all of them expect it, and most of them I dare say, are worthy. It's out of the question. So they carse me, I suppose. All the benevolent societies, charities, onbite institutions and church organiza-tions have their agents out. I am wen-ed upon by committees, runners, cler-gymen, secretaries. They send me half a bushel of letters a day. They drop upon me in the most unexpected places. They get into my private office. They wait in my library before I am up. way my name will be paraded as if I wanted to advertise my charities. If I don't the press will want to know what he has ever done for New York. The other day a reporter came to see me about my will. He said the public would like to be informed as to the preposed dispatition of my property at my decease. I suppose if I were to get a cold in my head there'd be a brigade of them quartered under my windows. I this inequality, we may also refer to begin to feel that a rich man is a disgrace to the community—that semehow matter of American sewing machines, have committed a crime. I dou't like to look a man squarely in the face for fear his hatred of me will show itself, or he will step and ask me to lend him a thousand dollars to get his starving family some food to eat. I tell you, sir, this winter is awful hard on the rich man. He decan't even eat his dinner in peace. Hew can he when there are Lancaster Intelligencer, Feb. 3rd. 40,000 whe are dinnerless! His money fresh battalion here to-morrew, and half thing about it, if I were you, but it's a fact the rich man suffers in a hard win- back into his box and turned over a ter a good deal more than the poor man. You take my word for it. And the poor man don't pity him a bit."

MARK TWAIN'S EULOGY OF A WATCH.

A jeweller in New Haven, Connecti-cut, has a remarkable watch made by foreign watchmaker, which Mark Twain describes as follows:

"I have examined the wonderful watch made by M. Matile, and indeed it comes nearer to being a human being than any piece of mechanism I eve saw before. In tact, it knows considerably more than the average voter. It knows the movements of the moon and keeps exact record of th m. It tells the day of the week, the day of the month, and the month of the year, and will do this perpetually; it tells the hour of the day and the minute and the second, and even splits the seconds into fifths and marks the division by 'step' hands; having two stop hands, it can take accurate care of two race porses that start, not together, but one atter the other; it is a repeater wherein the voter is suggested again, and musi-cally chimes the hour, the quacter, the half, three-quarter hour, and also the minutes that have passed of an uncomman can tell the time of day by it to the

"Such is this extraordinary watch. It ciphers to admiration; I should think one could add another wheel and make it read and write; still another and make it talk; and I think one might take out several of the wheels that are already in it and it would still be a mor intelligent citizen than some that help te govern the country. On the whole I think it is entitled to vote, that is if its sex is the right kind."

A BLUE-GLASS CURE IN CHICAGO

A prominent member of the Chicago Board of Trade relates an experience in his own family which tends to confirm the blue-ray theory. His daughter had been an invalid for several months, and recently has been so much debilitated that she was unable to move her limbs more than a few inches. Last week h had one of the windows of his residence fitted up with blue glass, and the young lady was wheeled in a chair to a position where she could enjoy the benefit of the ray. The first day she felt somewhat better. The second day the affected part was uncovered, so that she could receive the full force of the ray on the ower part of the spine, without the interposition of clothing. The family was astonished the following morning to see her bound into the room at break last time, the picture and the very fact of health. She is entirely recovered, and her father is a happy man, though he confesses that, while the blue glass appears to be a wonderful thing, he he would like to.

MORE EXPLANATION WANTED. Wells Promises to Squeal to Nicholls if Granted Protection.

A dispatch from New Orleans to the Baltimore Gazette says that on the 12th of January J. Madison Wells sent for Mr. E. J. Barrett, a member of the Odd Fellows' hall house from Rapides, and told him that he had determined to make a statement to Governor Nicholls for the benefit of the people of Louisiana. He expressed much solicitude and anxiety in the matter and suggested that the best way to reach Governor Nicholls would be through Mr. J. P. Kennedy, and begged Mr. Barrett to ask Kennedy to promptly agreed to meet him at the time after Governor Nicholls arrived Mr. Barrett called, bearing a communication

An examining committee of the Rich aond and Danville railroad went up the road Friday morning on a tour of insp tien. It is currently reported that among other duties the committee will examine sites for an eligible location for the company's workshops, in case that they are compelled to leave Manchester. Danville is already, through its press, making bids for the location of the shops in their midst if a removal is determine upon. It is to be hoped that the controversy between the company and our sister over the James will be amicably
