The elements from extensively; as is also Wm, M. Williams. Indeed which Prof. Barn rd has derived his symbols are six in number, and characterized by great simplicity.-They are, a short, thick, upright mark for substantice; a horizontal one for attributive; an oblique one for in this line, some of which may be seen in the assertion ; a curve for influence; two curves, each terminating in a straight line, for connective ; and a comparatively long line, with a dividing line in the middle, for time. Mr. Peet presented a synopsis of the combinations of those simple elements, as itt istra-

This system of symbols can be regarded in no other light show that they may subserve an important purpose in teaching immatical construction of language. If properly explained and taught, each symbol will and greatly in giving to the pupil a distinctive idea of the exact nature of the speech for which it stands a representative .--From the explanations already given, it will be perceived that all the elements of which each part of speech is compounded, prehend the symbol without gaining in addition to a complete knowledge of the nature of that for which it stands. 2. This idea will be, morever, uniformly fixed in the memory, for it is has been subjected to a rigid analysis; and it is an been learned by an tattentive examination of all its parts, is more perfected remembered as a whole.

3. The peculiarities of the part of speech will be recalled to mind as often as the symbol shall be used, and thus he will be less likely to make mistakes arising from miscoaceptions in this particular.

4. The changes which each symbol undergoes when ap-$1281.122 plied in different connections, will indicate the relations which subsist between the different parts of speech, and thus lumish a complete and in allible wethod of parsing a sentence. This 1489.50 has the additional advantage of presenting, in a coup d'oril, the exact construction of a sentence. It can be done, moreover, in a very short space of time.

are worked at present by horse whims, but a lever beam engine, with five feet stroke, and seventeen inch collinder fs now in process of erection, which will do the whim work, and all other lifting from the mine. The adit level of the mine is 1206 feet and the total amount of the drifting is 4007 feet, giving more them numbers about 400 inhabitants.

The copper taken from the mine is classified thus-the heavy bodies which require machinery to handle, are cilled "masses," and are got to the surface as they are found, or cut up by chisels as they require. The smaller pieces which can be picked up by the h nd, are called barrel work and are put into waste fish, pork, liquor, beef or other barrels, which may be pounds.

These barrels are extra booped, and their heads are lined to make the copper more safe in transportation. The stamp work, so called, is found in small bodies and particles embodied in the rock which, when found to contain copper, is taken out of the mine, brought to the surface and roa-ted in large quantities. This operation of "roasting" is thus accomplished : Heavy logs are piled up together, under a house or cover made for the purpose, and the interstices are filled with small wood. The copper rock is then piled upon the wood in the form of a coal-pit, the wood is then tired, and allowed to burn and smoulder at its leisure, the great heat breaks the smaller masses and leaves the whole about the size of a man's fist. After the fire has died out, and the heap has cooled off, the rock is carted to the "stamps," where the operation of stamping is performed after the following manner: The "stamps," as they are called, consist of a cast iron weight of about two hundred and fifty pounds, to this is attached by means of bolts a wooden upright, which, with the bolts, &c., weighs perhaps as much more; these pounders are in gangs of about twelve standing side by side, and are worked by a cylinder of wood, into which is fixed cogs or teeth, Rector of St. Mary's, in this vicinity, had his right which eatch and act upon the stamps by moving them about two feet; when the cog leaves them they fall upon a bed of their own making, composed of rock and earth, upon which the roasted rock s introduced through a hopper, and discharged after being reduced to coarse sand, which is then washed process the stamp work remains in small pieces, which are taken up and placed in barrels. The samp works of the Minnesota mine are situated about half a mile from the principal works, down the mountain toward the landing. Compared wi h those of other prosperous mines they do not bear the appearance of that efficiency which marks the o he departments of the mine. The works carry twelve head of stamps, driven by an engine which is also employed in driving a sawmill; at the time of my visit they were lying idle for want of water, a large quantity and regular supply of which is required for "washing" I have very strong doubts from what I was enabled to learn from enquiries at the different mines, from men of experience, whether any vein or lode carrying stamp work alone can be made to pay---on the contrary, the almost universal opinion seemed to be that it would not pay .--Never heless, when it is considered that the rock of clogs upon happiness, and restore the system to high which the stamp-work is composed must be raised to the surface at any rate, in excavaling for masses and barrel work, and that the cost of raising it constitutes a large portion of the expense, there can be but little pleasure than sitting down to write a no ice of the doubt that the latter process of rousting, stamping celebrated Hofland German Bitters, because we are and washing, are remunerated by the ordinary yield. the most part Cornish men, though a portion of them | induced to take these Bitters, and been rescued from are Germans. W E FEEL CALLED UPON, PROMPTED BY A sen e of duty to the public and ourselves, to caution the nu-merous PATEONS and FRIENDS of PARISEN & KING'S EX-PRESS, throughout Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee, against " HAND BILLS" and Advertisements, issued by a cersain Express Company, long known to the Merchants of the South, [especially of Virginia and North Carolina,] as the

"TARDY AND EXORBITANT MONOPOLY." This FAST EXPRESS wishes to impress upon the mind of the public, that they have effected arrangements for EXCLU-SIVE EXPRESS PRIVILEGES on the steamships Roanoke and Jamestown, and thus lead the public to suppose that no other Express can run on the ships. To settle this matter definitely, and to place it in its " true light" before the public at large, we will only say, that we have been running our Express on the steamship ROANORE since she made her second trip, and will continue to run until she makes her LAST TRIP; and, on the 16th inst , will make our first express shipment on board the new and magnificeut steamship JAMESTOWN, and which expresses will be under the charge of OUR OWN SPECIAL AMESSENGERS - Freicht and Pael ages will be

We will again and lastly state to the public and our patrons, that as OUR interests are largely identified with the increasing enterprise of the South, and the general direction of the business under the personal superintendence of one of the firm, who permanently resides in Petersburg, Va., we call for a continuation of that liberal patronage as heretofore conferred apon as and a general support of that principle and system ECONOMY, PUNCTUALITY and EXPEDITION, as first introduced in the Express business by us, and upon which all may depend on its being carried out to the let-

A runnor seems to be going the rounds thoughout our en-tire Line of Express; that PARISEN & KING have sold out their business to Mersis ADAMS & Co., and as such rumor tends to the injury of our business; we hereby notify the public that all rumors they may hear in that respect, are as false as they are malicious ; and furthermore, that Messrs.
