FOURTEEN COLOURED MAPS.

THE PRESENT EDITION OF THIS POPULAR work is printed from new plates, the fourth stereotyped for the book since its first appearance twelve years ago, within which period more than a million copies have been circuated.

Encouraged by the extensive patronage bestowed on this work, the publishers have taken advantage of the present rewision, much to improve it in every respect. Such alterations in the text as recent geographical discoveries and changes rendered necessary, have been made. The maps have been greatly improved and several new and beautiful cuts, designed by Billings, and executed in the finest style of the engraver's art, have been added.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY ENGRAVINLS. This work occupies a medium space between the author's Primary Geography, and the well known School Geography and Atlas, of which last book it contains about two-thirds of the amount of matter. For convenience of use, and eliable maps and matter, this book has no superior.

MITCHELL'S SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY AND ATLAS, FOURTH REVISED EDITION.

The present revision has been altogether more thorough and complete than any heretofore attempted. The book has been entirely re-written, and fully brought up to the present time. Advantage has been taken of many suggestions kindly offered by distinguished practical teachers, to improve the work in its general plan and arrangement ; and it is believed that it will bear the closest criticism, both with reference to its geographical accuracy, and its adaptation for use as a school manual.

The Atlas accompanying the new addition contains thirty-two beautiful Mapshand-somely colored and finely executed in the best style of the engraver's art, fully representing all the tecent geographical discoveries. With the United States' Maps especially, great pains have been taken to exhibit correctly the numerous railroads of the country, new county lines, and the true position of many new and important towns, not generally represented in School Atlases. New and excellent Maps of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Texas, have been introduced. Others, showing the various routes to the Pacific, by the 1sthmuses of Panama, Tehuantepee, and Nicaragua, are now added, together with a new map of the Sandwich Islands.

cloth. The object of this treatise is fourfold. First, the elevation of the business character, and to define clearly the limits within which it is not only proper but obligatory to get money. Secondly, to lay down the principles which must be observed to insure success, and what must be avoided to escape failure. I hardly, to give the mode of management in certain prominent pursuits adopted by the most successful, from which men all kinds of business may derive profitable hints. Fourthly, to afford a work of solid interest to those who read without expectation of pecuniary benefit.

The Atlas also contains nine quarto pages of statistical matter, arranged in tables, and obtained from the most authentic sources. These tables exhibit the height of the principal mountains and volcanoes, the length of rivers, the area of the principal islands and lakes, the extent and population of the different countries, and the population of the principal cities upon the globe; all compiled from the latest and most reliable authorities. In the department of United States' statistics, the tables are very complete, and exhibit fully the civil, industrial and political condition of the country, as shown by the census of 1850. In addition to these tables, is one showing the railroads and canals of the United States, and one presenting at a glance the important events in the history of each State, and what will be invaluable to every teacher, a full table of the Educational Statistics of the Union.
