Climate-

An erroneous idea generally prevails respecting climate, as affiging personal comfort. The dwellers in the sunny South pity the New-Englanders, because doomed to shiver in so cold a climate. They, in turn, bless their stars that they are not wading in the snows of Newfoundland.

I have been led, by observation and experience, to doubt whether the people of any one country have much, if any advantage, in the matter of climate, over others.

Our ideas of pleasure and pain are intimately connected with, if not based upon the principle of contrast. . In our idea of temperature, we have less regard to the actual than to the comparative degree of warmth.

In the report of one of the exploring expeditions in the northern seas, it is said that, on a certain occasion, the crew were greatly elated with signs of a thaw, the mercury having risen to 40 deg. below zero. Having been subject to a much intenser degree of cold, they felt, as did the boy, whose father had administered to him a severe flagellation, "greatly refreshed."

It may well be doubted whether the people of Maine suffer more from cold than do they of Virginia.

Touching the weather, it is as much as it is with the tariff-all that the people want is to want can be depended upon. So of the weather. The down-easter, knowing that from the middle of November to the middle of April the ground is to be covered with snow, and uninterrupted cold weather is to prevail, he wraps his fur coat about him, inflates his lungs, braces up his nerves, and thinks no more of the cold than the "rugged Russian bear."

The dweller in the Old Dominion, on the other hand, regarding warm weather as the rule, and cold as the exception, makes no provision for the latter. But when the northern blasts come, as come they will, he wraps his fig-leaf coat about him, and seeks shelter within the enclosure of his airy mansion, so constructed as to exclude heat rather than cold.

Then there is another consideration which greatly favors the dwellers in cold latitudes .-While the earth is covered with snow, there is but little evaporation. The atmosphere is consequently dry, and storms are unfrequent .--Where there is no snow, it is far otherwise .-The whole surface being covered with water, evaporation is rapid, and the atmosphere is surcharged with vapor, and the peculiar chillings which characterize a March wind in New-England, prevail during the winter months.

Agriculturally, the snowy region has many advantages. It is better for the soil to be covered during the winter months. That there is any virtue in the remark, "snow is the poor man's manure," I don't believe. But certain it is, that grasses and grains are benefited by being thus protected.

Snow is an imperfect conductor of caloric, sonsequently the surface being protected ; om the cold of mid-winter, the heat from within dissolves the frost, and when the snow disanpears in spring, the frost is gone from the soil. It is not uncommon to fine the grass growing before the snow is off. Fields are ready for plowing soon after they are bare; so that sto k will live, and seed may be gotten into the ground nearly as soon in Vermont as in to ... necticut. Then, for doing business, the snowy regions have greatly the advantage. Lumbering is with great didifficulty carried on where there is no snow. The lumber lands in Maryland and Virginia would be worth twice as much as they now are with northern winters for the removal of the lumber.

But I will say no more lest I get up an emigration fever towards Greenland. R. B. H.

The Apricot.

The apricot is one of the most beautiful of stone-fruit trees, early known by its glossy, heart-shaped foliage, large with blossoms, and smooth skinned, golden, or ruddy fruit. In the fruit garden it is a highly attractive object in early spring, as its charming flowers are the first to expand. It forms a fine spreading tree of about twenty feet in height, and is early enough to bear, as an open standard, south of the forty-second degree of latitude of this coun-

Uses .- A very handsome and delicious dessert fruit, inferior only to the peach, ripening about mid-summer, after cherries and before plums, at a season when it is peculiarly acceptable. For preserving in sugar or brandy, for jellies, or pastries, it is highly esteemed, and where it is abundant, an admirable liquor is made from the fruit; and it is also dried for CULTIVATION .- This tree is almost always budded on the plum stalk, (on which in July it takes readily,) as it is found more hardy and durable than upon its own root. Many American nurserymen bud the apricot on the peach, but the trees so produced are of a very inferior quality-short lived, more liable to disease, and the fruit of a second rate flavor. Budded on the plum they are well adapted to strong soils, in which they always hold their fruit better than in light, sandy soils.

Apricots generally grow very thriftily, and soon make fine heads, and produce an abunser dance of blossoms and young fruit; but the the crop of the latter frequently falls off when half grown, from being stung by the plum weevilor curculio, to which the smooth skin of this fruit seems highly attractive. Seedling apricots are usually more hardy and productive here, than the finer grafted sorts. This is a favorite tree for training on walls or espaliers, and, in town gardens especially, we aften see it trained against the sides of a brick house, and yielding most abundantly. As the apricot, however, expands its blossoms very early, it should not be placed on an east wall, or in a situation where it is too much exposed to the full morning.-N. E. Farmer.

Curing Bacon without Smoke.

"Oh the trouble folks have taken To smoke and spoil their bacon."

To smoke the best bacon, fat your hogs early and fat them well. By fattening early you make a great saving in food, and well fattened pork. Then kill as early as the weather will allow, and salt as soon as the animal heat is gone, with a plenty of the purest salt, and about half an ounce of saltpetre to one hundred pounds of pork.

As soon as the meat is salted to your taste, which will generally be in about five weeks, take it out, and if any of it has been covered with brine, let it drain a little. Then take black pepper, finely ground, and dust on the hock end as much as will stick, then hang it up in a good, clean, dry, airy place. If all this ig done as it should be, (it ought to be done now,) you will have no further trouble with it, for by fly time in spring, your bacon is so well cured on the outside, that flies or bugs will not dis-

Curing bacon is like the Irishman's mode of making punch. He said :- "put in the sugar, then fill it up with whiskey, and every drop of water you put in after that spoils the punch." Just so with curing bacon, after following the directions given above, every "drop" of smoke you put about it, spoils the bacon.-Portage Democrat.

Ox Shoeing.

We frequently find in agricultural papers some remarks about shoeing horses, but I have never seen any thing therein about shoeing oxen. Now, it is true that a horse should be shod in such a manner as to cause him to stand and travel with ease, and the ox should be shod with equal care, but we frequently find joxen, especially large oxen, lamed by shoeing! Now, I find one great error to be in the length and shape of the shoes. . If the shoes are long and crooked, they, of course, cause the weight of the ox to bear on the inner edge of the shoe, or centre of the foot, causing the hoofs to cant in an unnatural position. This may do for small, light cattle, but with heavy oxen it is quite dif-

In shoeing large oxen there should be one inch of the toe, or forward end of the hoof, left bare, and be sure that the shoe sets flush with the outside of the hoof. Then the heel of the shoe should not be crooked or turned in too much; but our blacksmiths are apt to be in too great a hurry, and if a shoe comes within hailing distance of a good fit they must nail it on, in preference to selecting a better.

I am not a blacksmith, but I have always been acquainted with oxen, having teamed for forty years, and of course had many cattle shod. If the above remarks are not correct, should like to be set right. Dresden, Oct. 8, 1855.

A SINGULAR PLANT.—The Baton Rouge Comet says that Mr. P. F. Stanton, of Livingston parish, Louisiana, has a very singular plant in his garden, which seems to be the connecting link between the animal and vegetable world. The plant is about three feet high, and its stamen reaches the ground. At the end it is armed with a small sharp substance, with which it pierces insects and lifts them into the calyx, where they are grasped by the plant, and appropriated to its support.

41+10 PLOUGHING.-Sandy soils may be plowed early, and while wet; but clay soils should never be disturbed till they are dry enough to crumble, or pulverize when turned up. Clay soil, being malleable, and but slightly elastic, the compression, or packing, by the mouldboard, will not swell out again; and one plowing of clay land, when wet, will do it more harm than t venty good ploughings can afterwards remedy. It is on this principle, that an old road can never be made good soil.

CALIFORNIA BY A CAROLINIAN. THE LAND OF GOLD. REALITY VERSUS F.CTION.

BY HINTON R. HELPER. 1 Vol. 12 mo., 300 pages; neatly bound in cloth; price 75c.

Extracts from Critical Notices. The author sees all the lions of the Eureka State, goes o the drinking and gambling saloons of San Francisco and gives us an account of their interior, witnesses a bull and bear tight and describes it very minutely, meets with Chinese, Digger Indians, and all the mixed nations that new States, works at the mines, both Northern and Southern, and gives in his experience, which, in one case at least, is vậry amusing, and, in short, presents a picture of the entire country as he saw it. We believe the book is destined to attract attention. There is a fresh-ness and nairette about it which removes it from the class of common works of travels," -- Southern Quarterly Re-

"Aside from his own experience, the author advances a number of statistics and general facts in proof of the truth and in vindication of the severity of his allegations. The book is very entertaining, and will be read with treat interest by every body." - Baltimore San. The author is a North Carolinian. He has written his book in a very agreeable style, and relates Many in-"It is well written, and cannot be read but with wonder and amazement. The work must have a great run."-

"Mr. Helper supports his inferences and deductions by an array of facts and figures which stand out in bold re lief when contrasted with the statements sometimes made and believed that California is hardly less than an earthy paradise. As we design shortly to give an extended notice of the book, we forbear more comment at the present time, farther than to say that me have also resided for several years in the "golden State," and know personally that most of the statements made in the book dismal as they are) are strictly true." -- National Ameri-

It is a book of merit in point of ability, and of value n its facts and truthfulness."- Richmond Exc "This book, from a Baltimore house, is really a capital book of its kind. There is an air of eleverness over the whole volume that is exceedingly agreeable, and several of the chapters are remarkably well done in a literary point of view."-Methodist Protestant. "It gives perhaps one of the correctest outlines of all that is connected with California, which we have in print."

 Watchman and Observer "He writes as an eye-witness and slashes up California life with the free and easy style of one who knows what he is about."-Richmond Christian Advocate. "The author is his own publisher, and we hope that he book may, and think it will, prove remunerative to him, for it is creditable in very many respects, and d serves a fair share of success. It is plain and honest. The "Balance sheet" is alone worth the price of a copy. When we say, Heaven help you, Hinton Helper! it is with sin-cerity. May your "Land of Gold" yield you a golden barvest."-New York Mirror.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC. THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills - one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bow-els. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more n counterbalance the good to be derived from These pills produce no irritation or pain unless it arise from a previously existing obstruc-tion or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languer and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins ; for, in truth, all these are but the con sequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrof ula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required. They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantage. 4s, even though no serious derangement exists but un-necessary dosing should never be carrie, too fat, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, out they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. For minute directions see wrapper on the Box. PREPARED BY JAMES C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, LOWELL, MASS. Price 25 Cents per Box. Five Boxes for $1.

answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL For the rapid Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH,

CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION. This remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its user liness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are tnown, the public no longer hesitate what antidete known, the public no longer hesitate what antique to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for Children it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by P. P. CLSCUD AND WILLIAMS & HAYWOOD, N. C.
