CANNON & HOLDEN. Raleigh, September 28d, 1865.

President Johnson and His Policy. Since the war happily came to an end, the entire population of the northern portion of the United States has divided into two great political parties.-This division of parties has become very thorough, and they are getting to be very much embittered in their feelings and much excited in their zealous advocacy of men and measures.

These parties originated in the policy of the reconstruction of the government of the States lately in rebellion. One party of the people contend that these States should not be allowed to assume civil government and take their position in the Union for a great while to come; that they should be ruled by martial law, and that civil law should ultimately be offered to them only on the condition that the black man should be made politically and socially equal with the white man.

The principles of the other party are that civil law shall be restored to the rebellious States at once, and that they shall take their original position in the Union and under the United States constitution when the next Congress shall convene, and that the white men of each and every State shall have the centrol of the government.

President Johnson is at the head of this latter party. He stands fairly and firmly upon the provisions of the constitution in his government of the whole country, North and South. For two years the reflecting portion of the citizens of the country have feared that we should never again see the pure constitutional liberty and freedom that our revolutionary fathers enjoyed. But to our great astonishment the President has announced already that he shall be guided solely and entirely by that instrument, and what is more important than this bate announcement he has commenced the practical work under this plan.

He says: " I shall use my best endeavors to make my administration national and not partisan. Perverting power or influence to partisan ends, is only less criminal than attempting the nation's life." Certainly the father of his country never announced a nobler principle for the government of his peo-

In spite of threats and remonstrances day by day the President spreads the protection of the constitution over us, and lends us all his aid, and all his power, to restore us speedily to political and constitutional equality with other men and other

Thus it is, the President has determined to administer the government on the well grounded principles of the constitution. This is all we want, and exactly what we do want. Our only hope is to put ourselves under the protection of the constitution as soon as we can, and until this is accomplished our only dependence is to follow with earnestness and sincerity the plans of the President, trusting that his great power and influence will be sufficient to shield us from the fanatics until we are restored.

If President Johnson's plans adopted for our reorganization should fail, there is no hope for us, but to remain for years under martial law, and finally to enter the Union with the black man our equal, politically and socially. The contest is a plain and unmistakable one, whether the white race or the black shall rule in North Carolina. It is, therefore, the unquestionable duty of all citizens of the State to give President Johnson a cordial support. And we think it would add strength to our cause, and give expression to the wishes of the people, if the Convention would pass a series of resolutions, endorsing the administration of President Johnson, and pledging North-Carolina to an honest and enthusiastic support of his policy.

To-day the Sentinel gives the administration " a warm and hearty support " by a good deal of soreheaded grumbling, that every one was not allowed to vote for the man of his choice. This is something we never heard of before. We have heard of no reason why any man could not vote for just who he wished, without regard to age, sex or color. It muy be that some of his darling candidates could not get quite enough people to vote for them, and did not get elected. Everybody is not of the same mind that he is. He seems to labor under the delusion that President Johnson's only policy of reconstruction is to establish the Confederate government on a more permanent basis. No doubt he expected President Davis would be elected as a peace delegate to the Convention.

These, however, are just such conclusions as we should expect from a print so far behind the times. Yesterday he refused to advertise four hundred thousand millions of dollars of brass jewelry, because he thought it was the identical articles stolen by Sherman's bummers. For ten years this same jewelry has been selling in New York for ten dollars for a flour barrel full, and carried into the country and retailed to such wiseacres as he, who thought they were buying a splendid article of jewelry cheap because it had been stolen, as though even Sherman's bummers could afford to steal jewelry at ten dollars a barrel-and a still more monstrous hallucination has possession of him to-day when he states, that "the circulation of the Daily Sentinel is, perhaps, equal to that of any daily in the State." Perhaps the moon is made of green chesse perhaps it might be possible to throw the light of a few modern facts upon his antediluvian remains, if he would favor us with a call.

Typographical Errors .- Our friend of the Sentinel, in republishing an article from the Standard, says, "we have corrected a couple of dates which are probably typographical errors." Lut there is a little error which we did not make, that is in the Sentinel's reprint. It reads: "A king may make a belled knight," &c. We doubt that. It's the Sentinel who makes the "belled knight," not the king, whose powers extend only to making "belted knights." Mind your t's, brother Sentinel, or they'll play 't with your words.

CANDIDATE .- Mr. Jas. H. Moore is a candidate for Principal Clerk of the State Convention. We know Mr. Moore well, and we can say that he is qualified for the position, and, if elected, will make an efficient and clever clerk. - Char Democrat. We take pleasure in adding our testimony to the worth and ability of Mr. Moore.

Asiatic Cholera.

The mails bring across the waters conflicting re ports concerning the cholers. The basin of the Mediterranean has been visited at every point by the fell destroyer, and latterly Marseilles has suf-fered to some extent. Constantinople, one of the dirtiest cities in the world, has also fallen a prey to its more terrible ravages, and thousands have die before the violence of the disease could be checked. Vague rumors have been circulated in London, England, also, that persons have died in that port from the Asiatic Cholera, and steps have been taken throughout that enlightened and densely populated Kingdom to arrest the calamity which threatens

Will the cholers extend to this country? It seems impossible that the invigorating breezes that dance over the broad acres of the Atlantic should ever bear such a poison on their wings to this country. It is not that we are apprehensive of wandering winds; but one of the myriads of those vessels, passing continually from the aboves of Europe to America, may bear in her hulk a spark that may light a flame of almost universal death in our midst. We, therefore, look upon the preparations made in England to prevent the cholera, as the out posts of defence for this country. Should the cholers invade England at any time, we must confess to the most serious apprehensions for our own safety.

We learn from the Wilmington Berald that Maj Gen. Crook, commanding that military district, has directed Major Roberts, of his personal staff, to cooperate with the health officers of that port in a general inspection of our coast, with a view to establishing post hospitals, quarantine grounds, and other matters essential to the threatened visitation. We are glad to record this fact. Preparations now made, although the danger may seem remote, are suggested by the experience of former days, when this "pestilence that wasteth at noon-day" stalked in our midst.

But while these general preparations are being made, no family throughout the country should be without proper remedies, or to allow themselves to remain ignorant concerning the nature of this disease. They have heard it spoken of with deepest abhorrence, and its name used as a synonym for death. It is most horrible, most fatal. We, therefore, extract for the information of our readers the following communication addressed to the National Intelligencer, trusting that they may heed its plain, practical suggestions:

"Two significant facts—that the cholera is raging in parts of Europe, and that New York city is at present in a very dirty condition, very favorable to the pestilence—persuades a paper of that city to reprint the subjoined letter from a well known Bos ton druggist and apothecary, first published several years ago in a Boston paper. We advise our read ers to take note of the remedy thus suggested : Rev. Dr. Hamlin, of Constantinople, saved hundreds of lives by the following simple preparation, during the terrible raging of cholera in that city a few years since. In no case did the remedy fail where the disease could be reached in season. It is no less effective in cholers morbus and in ordinary diarrhœa. A remedy so easily procured and so efficacious should always be at hand.

An ordinary phial of it can be had for twentyfive cents, and no family should be without it over night. The writer of this received the recipe a few nights since, and having been evidently attacked with cholera morbus the past week, can attest to its almost magical influence in affording relief from excruciating pain. He ardently hopes that every one whose eyes trace these lines will cut the article from the paper, and procure the medicine without delay. Its prompt application will relieve pain, and, presumptively save life:

Take One part laudanum, One part camphorated spirit. Two parts tincture of ginger, Two parts capsicum.

Dose-One teaspoontal in a wine glass of water. If the case is obstinate, repeat the dose in three or HENRY HOYT."

PREPARING FOR THE CHOLERA. - The President of the Philadelphia Board of Public Schools has addressed a letter to that body urging the necessity of being prepared for the cholera, which, he says, may be expected next year. He refers to the conditions, atmospheric and other, on which the breaking out and the spread of the disease depends, and he deems it of the highest importance that buildings, all the out houses and grounds, should undergo thorough inspection and cleansing. These sug gestions are as timely for Raleigh as Philadelphia. The following paragraph we find in the last foreign

"According to the returns by the authorities of Marseill s there were seventy-three deaths in that city on the 30th August, of which twenty-nine were caused by cholera. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon of the 31st there were fifty deaths declared, of which twenty eight were from cholera,"

Wisconsin Democratic Convention. This body met in Madison on the 21st, and nominated Gen H. C. Hobart for Governor. General, Hobart was the first federal commander of this

The resolutions adopted endorse President Johnson's policy of restoring the Union on the basis of the Federal constitution, and pledge him their unqualified support; oppose negro suffrage in the State of Wisconcin or interference with it in other States; oppose the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, and favor a most rigid economy in the expenditures of the Government, and a strict equalization of the tax burden.

BISHOP HOPKINS ON REUNION.—The venerable Bishop Hopkins, of Vermont, arrived in New York on Wednesday, on business connected with the approaching Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Church, and the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger reports the following in con nection therewith:

Some one asked the Bishop if he thought there would be any trouble in readmitting the Southern Bishops to the convention. His reply was characteristic: "I see by the papers to day that the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge at Baltimore are having a great family reunion, and that the Southern delegates have been as cordially received as those from other sections of the Union. Why cannot we follow their example? With the Odd Fellows, 'Friendship, Love and Truth, are governing principles, but Odd Fellowship is a voluntary affai fessing Christians come together, sir, they are commanded to 'love one another,' and that command I shall do my best not only to obey, but persuade others to obey it also"

PARRIDENT LINCOLN'S TONB. Last Wednesday, General Grant paid a visit to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, at Oak Ridge Cemetery, near Springfield, Illinois. The remains are still unburied, and lie in the reception-house, just as they came from Wash ington. A guard-tent is pitched opposite to this house of the dead, on a rising knoll, surrounded by trees. Three sentries guard the sacred remains night and day, and the stone doors are kept open, so that the air may circulate freely through the place. An iron gate protects the remains from a close intrusion, although one can see the two coffins—those of the father and of the liftle son who was carried there from Washington with him to their final rest-

DEATH OF MRS. MOORE. -Mrs. Moore, the widow of the late Thomas Moore, the poet, died at Sloperton Cottage on Monday, September 4th, at the age of sixty-eight years, "Bessy" Moore does not ap pear to occupy a great place in her husband's poetry, but rarely was a great poet more attached to his wife. Through all his letters and journals he is never tired of referring to her quoting what abe said, telling what she did, describing how she looked, and recording how she was admired. He married her in 1811, and her history is summed up in this one phrase—that she was the delight of his life. Mrs. Moore was the last that remained of the present generation of the Moore family.

Alabama.

The Convention has passed an ordinance dividing the State into six Congressional districts. The committee on the secession ordinance will report early this week. An ordinance also abolishing slavery has been passed by a vote of 89 to 3. The ordinance erases all former provisions of the Constitution in relation to slaves. It is thought that the Legislature will pass all the necessary laws for the protection of the freedman.

Mobile. Reports from Mobile represent the situation in that city and vicinity, with respect to the negroes, as so serious as to call for the immediate adoption of measures to prevent an outbreak. The Governor of the State is said to have ordered out a sufficient force for the purpose.

At the request of the subscribers, we take pleas ure in publishing a statement from Warren County, giving reasons why so small a vote was polled in that County. It is much to be regretted that such obstacles were in the way. It was the object of the Governor to give every man "ample time and convenient opportunity" to qualify himself as a voter. No doubt the gentlemen elected are the choice of the county, and would have received a much larger vote if there had been any opposition.

To the Editors of the Ruleigh Standard:

We have reason to believe that the small vote polled in Warren County in the recent election of delegates to the Convention, will give rise to injurious misconceptions abroad, in relation to the popular feeling and sentiment in the County, unless the circumstances of the case shall be made known.-We have therefore deemed it proper to publish the statement below. On the day of the election, contrary to what would seem to be a very reasonable expectation on the part of the public, there was only one of the twelve Justices present at Warrenton, who were appointed to administer the amnesty oath and to qualify persons to vote by granting the necessary certificate. This certificate, according to the proclamation of the Governor, must be signed by two of said Justices. There certainly would have been two of the Justices in Warrenton, but for the absence of Mr. Thomas A. Montgomery, one of those appointed for that purpose, who resided there, but moved to Petersburg a very few days before the election, a fact entirely unknown to our people generally. Another Justice was sent for, but did not arrive in time to do any good, as the Justice who was present in the first instance had left before his arrival. Very many persons had delayed to take the oath under the expectation that it might be administered to them on the day of election, and they were greatly disappointed and mortified when they found that it could not be done, as they were anxious to take the oath and vote, and some of them had trave led seventeen or eighteen miles for that express purpose. We were at Warrenton on the day of election, and we know the above facts to be true, and that they could be proved, without any shade of doubt whatever, to the satisfaction of any rational mind; and we are well satisfied that owing to the circumstances mentioned above, not one half of the persons who came to Warrenten to vote, and who had a right to take the oath and vote, had an opportunity to do so. We have reason to believe that want of opportunity to take the oath and get the proper certificate, has greatly diminished the vote in other precincts. It is true that the Justices made appointments for the purpose of administering the oath in different parts of the County before the election, and posted written advertisements of the same, but a great many citizens did not know anything about it, while others supposed that they could be qualified on the day of election, and herefore did not attend. Several persons, through inadvertence, left their certificates at home, and for that reason their votes were lost, We deem it our duty to add that we are well acquainted with the pu lic sentiment of the County, and that its people, with rare, if any exceptions, are decidedly and strongly in favor of speedy reconstruction, and a complete re-establishment of civil government at the earliest period of time pos-sible, and that they are disposed to co operate with their fellow citizens in other parts of the State, in stremuous efforts to bring about such a result, and in the most friendly and harmonious spirit.

Assessment,

Losses,

An excess of Sufficient to cover all deficiencies If the Company shall be patronized by the public as before the war, there will be the annual profits in cash and premium notes which may be added to the assets now in hand, for the par ment of liabilities. Nearly all the above liabilities would have been extinguirbed but for the refusal of claimants to receive the currency in circulation at the time of the losses. They can not reasonably complain of some delay. It will be remembered that the premium notes are the accumulations of note given by insurers for one-half their annual preminms, which the Company had the right to require to be paid in each On the face of the note the insurer promises to pay whenever requested by the Directors, and all payments on assessments will be so much added to the sum insured, by diminishing to that amount, the premium note to be deducted in case of loss. Many insorers pay the whole premium in cash as a matter of choice. It is believed that the losses may be paid by the first instalment of ten per cent added to the contemplated profits; but it is the firm intention of the Directors to meet all their liabilities as promptly as the condition of the country will permit, even it to do so; it may be necessary to order the
