"The Sentinel does most warmly and heartily support the administration of President Johnson so far as it has been developed. His reconstruction policy commands our admiration. The more it is developed the more we admire it, and the more we admire the President."

"Now, we say emphatically and deliberately that we do most warmly and heartily sustain the President, and we defy the Standard or any one else to show that we have not done so, in every iota from the beginning to the present time. Every body approves of his policy."

"The Sentinel is pledged to give to Gov. Holden's administration a fair and honest support."

These are the extracts from the Sentinel similar specimens of which may be seen in its columns any day, all well calculated to mislead the Union men of North-Carolina. The fact and truth is that the Sentinel does not approve President Johnson's reconstruction policy, and never did. From the first day of its developement until now he has been out and out, totally and entirely opposed to it.

President Johnson's reconstruction policy consists in declaring void the office of every officer in the rebellious States, who took the oath of allegiance to the Confederate States, and in having their places filled by men true and loyal to the United States and not to the Confederate States; men whose loyalty to the National Government, classes them among the straitest sect Union men. This is the policy of President Johnson, and this is his only

The Sentinel totally opposed this entire arrangement from the beginning and has opposed it all the time, and is against it now. He always wished and does now wish, that the President had let every rebellieus State zo on with all its offices filled with men true and loyal to the Confederate States. And he never has a word of praise for the President or for Governor, except it be in some instance that looks as if they were aiming to establish the Confederacy on a firmer basis. Then he positively goes into ecstages of highfaluten.

No man can continuously read the Sentinel and say whether Davis or Johnson is his favorite President. He fully indorses both and loves and praises both. The fact is the Sentinel is as he says the organ of no party; but he is the organ of the last remans of the so-called party, and the Sentinel and his friends are very anxious to make a party of itnot a so-called party, but a real living, treathing, office-holding party. Not a real, practical, fighting. secession party, but an office holding and officefilling party; there lies the rub—this is the reason why Governor Holden can do nothing to suit the Sentiael. Nothing but this can make harmony in North-Carolina, and this Gov. Holden cannot dothe Sentinel's friends are comers and goers, they are not the straitest sect-reliable Union men.

The Sentinel and Jonathan Worth occupy the same positions. They both pretend to be Andrew Johnson men, but they are not. Jonathan Worth and the Sentinel have never taken but two positions upon the issues now before us, both of which are in direct conflict with the President. The President save all men who held office in the rebel States and took an eath to support the Constitution of the Confederate States, has forfeited his office and the place is thereby vacated to be filled by true and loyal men-the Convention of North Carolina have passed an ordinance sustaining the President and declaring all these offices vacated. This vote passed the Convention with but twelve votes against it .-Yet Jonathan Worth and the Sentinel claim to sustain President Johnson and to be Union men, when the President and the Convention are on one side and they are on the other.

Jonathan Worth and the Sentinel are anxious to have the loyal men of the State taxed to pay the dest made to aid the rebellion. The President says the loyal men shall not be taxed to pay that debt -yet Jerathan Worth and the Sentinel are strong Andrew Johnson men. If the President should have opposition, Mr. Worth and the Sentinel would give him the same fair and honest support, which the Sentinel pledges to give in the above extract, to Gov. Holden, which means to join with the secessionists and damage him in every possible way, even to the distruction of the Union party.

No man has done more for the Union cause in the South than Gov. Holden. In February, 1861, he was a candidate for the Convention on the same ticket with the Hon. George E. Badger, and was endorsed by the people of Wake County as an Union man by 1250 majority. The Union men of Wake still have confidence in him, and will sustain hin in this election by a large majority.

Pardons. The list of two hundred and forty-four pardons which we publish in another column, is the best refutation that we can affer to the charge that Gov. Holden has been governed by malicious motives in the pardon business. He has not been a scourge to the people, but a friend. He has done all that he AKOSTE Z KOZA All the leading Union men of the Coavention oppose Mr. Worth's nomination. They regret it for his cake no more than we do. He and his friends and the Sentinel have forced ap issue upon the people, without sufficient reason or ground of complaint.

We are gratified to observe that Robert P. Dick, Msq., one of the delegates to the Convention from the County of Guilford, who has been confined at seat on Tuesday last. THE BIG GUN OF THE CAMPAIGN ! Johnson and Gov. Holden.

The Hydra Head of Faction Bruised to Death Truth will Prevail; Let the People

Read. In the Convention on the 18th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted : Resolved by the Delegates of the people of North Carolina, in Convention assembled, That the administration of Andrew Johnson. President of the United States, has been eminently national and conservative, embracing every section of this Republic; and that he is entitled to the gratitude of the people of this State for the manifestation of his purpose to secure to them at as early a day as is practicable, the restoration of their constitutional rights in the Union; and that W. W. Holden, Provisional Governor, deserves our thanks for his zealous and faithful labors to the same end. Resolved, That copies of the above resolution be transmitted by the President of this Convention

o President Johnson and Governor Holden. The above is a deserved compliment to our worthy President and the Governor. Where now are the charges rung in the factious organ in this City? The resolutions were passed unanimouslynot a voice in the negative, yet a few factious, evil doers have brought out opposition to the Gover nor whom they thank for his labors. Let the people put their feet upon these agitators!

Extremes have Met.

Strange and unaccountable movements are now oing on in political affairs. Is it not strange that Jonathan Worth, after having been specially ap pointed Treasurer by Gov. Holden-invited to come to Raleigh to assist him (the Governor) as one of his cabinet advisers, to aid and assist in trying to lift up the State from her down-trodden condition, and to get her restored to her rightful position in the Union--should be found listening to the seductions of those who are dissatisfied and bent on mischief? Is it not wonderful that instead of resenting it as an insult, Mr. Worth should allow himself to be used as an instrument in the effort to put down the man who had honored him, taken him in his confidence, and trusted him as his friend? Well may Gov. Holden exclaim, when thus stabbed by Mr. Worth-et tu Brute! What a scene to contemplate! Whilst Gov. Holden is busily engaged in his laborious duties, working day and night in trying to readjust our political difficulties, and to restore the State to her position in the Union-whilst he is relying on his supposed friend and adviser, Mr. Worth, to aid him in these arduous laborsthis same Mr. Worth is in conclave with Gov. Holden's bitterest enemies, laying plans to undermine and destroy him! Can it be that Mr. Worth has ever reflected on the impropriety (to use no harsher term) of such conduct?

What is the cause of this opposition to Governor Holden? What has he done? He has strictly carried out the programme laid down by President Johnson in regard to the system of reorganizing the State. Just as well make war on President Johnson as on Governor Holden. In fact, to oppose Governor Holden now is virtually to oppose President Johnson, the man who is our best friend, and who is doing everything a his power to save us from the domination of the radical element at the North. Was such madness, such infatuation, ever heard of? When we are powerless, when we are not yet in the Union, when our people are ruined, impoverished, care-worn and dejected-when every good and patriotic man desires peace, quiet, and composure—a few factious personal enemies of Gov. Holden, united with a few hungry, greedy office-seekers, have combined together for the purpose of getting up a heated party contest in the State. In this instance extremes have met: They are not united on principle, either of patriotism or of State policy. The State and its best interest must be victimized to gratify their personal hatred or their unhallowed ambition. This opposition to Gov. Holden consists of three classes of men, composing three antagonistic elements. First, there are a few secessionists in disguise, who are the active and leading spirits in the business, and who have played upon the credulity of a lot of old fogy whigs and old fogy democrats, who are as blind and deaf to the lights and teachings of experience as were the old Bourbons in France, that never earned anything and never forgot anything. These secessionists cannot forgive Gov. Holden, because he has been an adder in their path. He opposed their machinations in breaking up the Charleston Convention, and disrupting the Democratic party, with a view to the election of Lincoln, that they might have a pretext for dissolving the Union. Gov. Holden refused to concur with them in their secession movements. He never would agree to take North-Carolina out of the Union. until she was actually forced out by circumstances beyond her control. In this regard Gov. Holden and Mr. Worth occupy the same position, and yet these secessionists select Mr. Worth as the instrument to defeat Gov. Holden-not that they love Worth, but that they hate Holden.

Gov. Holden had the boldness when he saw his country was being ruined, and that the devastation of the South must end in its subjugation, to openly avow his desire for peace. For this his office was mobbed and his life threatened. Notwithstanding this, he has been magnanimous and forgiving. To the soldiers who were in the Confederate service he has been a true friend. He was working for them when they did not know it. He labored hard to have the last of them released from prison. Many of the most ultra secessionists in the State are indebted to him for their pardons. He has taken the ground ever since he was appointed Provisional Governor that he cared not what a man might have been in times past. The only question with him has been, what is he now ?-- is he now loyal, is he now sincere in wishing all resistance to the government to be stopped, and the State to be restored to he Union in good faith? Some of these secessionits in disguise have imposed upon the credulity nd kindness of heart of Gov. Holden. Like the iper in the fable they have stung their benefactor, fter he had warmed them into life. They are playig their old game of divide and destroy, that they may in the end conquer. After having used Mr North they will throw him by like a worn-out noe. They broke up the Democratic party at harleston, in order to get the spoils of a severed fnion; they are now trying to embarrass President ohnson's reconstruction policy in North-Carolina, o d they hope that by disiding and producing dis- such a faction!

few of them, however, and are too contemptible in numbers to excite any attention; but that they have unfortunately seduced and misled a lew pld fogy whigs and a few old fogy democrats, who have been appealed to through, and who have taken counsel of their passions and prejudices, instead of their judgment and patriotism. These old fogy whigs are plied with the argument, that Holden was for years a violent democrat—that he did more to break down the whig party, and said mere hard things of that party than any man in the State, &c. Has not Gov. Holden in his letter to the members of the Convention, that requested him to be a candidate, say that how he is neither a democrat nor s whig; that the only party he now recognizes is the party of his country? But Gov. Holden has proven his faith by his works. It happens so that the great majority of his appointees are those who were whigs in old party times. Mr. Worth himself was appointed Treasurer by Gov. Holden He was an old whig. All the Judges he appointed but one were whigs. All the appointments in his own office, aid Secretaries, &c., were whigs. This shows that he has no party rancor left behind, that he wishes past d fferences and animosities to be forgotten. Cannot these old whigs who are opposing Governor Holden, or rather who are allowing themselves to be led by secessionists in disguise- can they not also forget and forgive at all events until the State is a State of the Union, in fact? Are they so greedy for office that they can't wait a few mouths? Have they no gratitude, no charity, no forbearance, that they must dig up from its grave where the war consigned it-the old bitter party spirit of the past? They can't forgive Gov. Holden, because of his former democracy ! How can they forgive President Johnson? Aye, they doit. I while the in organism because But strange to say, these secessionists in disguise are misleading and deceiving some old democrats into this warfare against Gov. Holden. And would any believe it-whilst old whigs are operated on by considerations of Gov. Holden's former democracy, old democrats are led estray by the argument that Gov. Holden has deserted and abandoned the democratic party, in bestowing his patronage on whigs. In short, Gov. Holden is assailed by a union of secresionists, office seeking whigs and bitter partizan democrats-because he is a national man so far as the Union is concerned; and because he is resolved to subordinate all party considers. tions to the interest and welfare of North-Carolina, Governor Holden has been secretly stabbed in his own household. Whilst he is relying upon those whom he had called around him to aid him in his efforts to restore our good old State to her proper position in the Union, these very men have listened to the voice of the tempter, and have been induced have not forgiven him. They hate him as badly

as they do Gov. Holden; but at present they dare not show it. They are now for wheedling and fawning around him, just as some of these very men wheedled and fawned around Gov. Holden. But they will stab President Johnson in the dark just as they have Gov. Holden, as soon as they dare to enter into this crusade for hunting him down. It is for the just and magnanimous people of North-Carolina to decide-whether they will now sacrifice and sink still deeper in ruin and desolation our good old State-whether they will countenance such injustice and ingratitude as are now shown by a set of men who have nothing of principle in common except their hatred of Gov. Holden, Just think of it-a piebald faction of secessionists in disguise, old whigs and old democrats, to make war upon a man who is laboring incessantly for the good of all of them. It is because they cannot bear to see "Mordecai sitting at the king's gate l"

Jo. Turner spoke in Wake Courthouse the other night and made a me in attack upon the Governor. Mr. Turner's friends seem to blame Gov. Holden because he is not pardoned instanter. They say the President is more liberal than Gov. Holden. Well. Mr. Turner has been to see the President and returned without his pardon. How so? Was not the President more liberal than Gov. Holden! Verily, it is strange. Then Mr. Turner's friends attack Gov. Holden because he is not as liberal as President Johnson. They mean to say that President Johnson is illiberal also, because he did not pardon Jo. Turner over Gov. Holden's head. They either mean this, or they mean nothing when they say that Pres. Johnson is more liberal than the Governor.

The Convention.

The Convention was engaged during the morning session yesterday in consideration of the ordinance known as the ordinance in regard to the debts of the State, and the original ordinance passed the second reading, all amendments having been rejected. On the third reading an amendment submitting that part of the ordinance which relates to the war debt to the people, was offered by Mr. Grissom of Granville, and was under discussion when the Convention took a recess until 71 o'clock P. M.

The Convention at the evening session yesterday passed the Ordinance in regard to the State debt. It requires the Legislature to make provision for the payment of the interest on what is known as the old or ante-war debt, and forbids the payment of deb's contracted in aid of the rebellion.

An Ordinance was also passed giving to the Courts of Pleas and Quarter Sessions the same jurisdiction in criminal cases given before the war as laid down in the Revised Code.

A Resolution of thanks to the President was unanimously adopted, and was responded in a most happy manner by that officer. We shall endeavor to procure the remarks of the President on adjourning the Convention for publication in a future num-

Holden's and President Johnson's administrations. The able card of Col. Edwards will be read with interest by his numerous friends throughout the district.

The same bitter and prescriptive partizans of Davis who used to hang around the Confederate office, of this city, are constant frequenters of the Sentinel office. The same old poison that pervaded the Confederate runs through the Sentinel, Strange that Jonathan Worth should descend to represent matters of public notoriety. It is well known that the President of the United States, with a magnanlarations, than Gov. Holden. He has failed to administer the State government in the spirit which has accusted. President Johnson. Butering upon the duties of his office with the declaration of "charity towards all, malice towards none," he has utterly falsified the procession,—and to such an extent that the President has, in many instances, interposed and pardoned men in opposition to his recommen

Holden has been governed by wicked and malicious motives, that he has exercised mean passions, or that he is attempting to atone for secession proclivities by persecuting secessionists, we repeat, is infamously false. These are general charges against him and the author hides himself, but if he has the soul of a man, what we have said will

And now we call upon the people of North Carolina to witness how bitter and malignant are the men who support Jonathan Worth. It should rouse the indignation of every honest heart to know that a paper, professing kind personal relations to the Governor, should surreptitiously print such a malignant, incendiary assault upon him. The President has never interposed and pardoned any man in opposition to Gov. Holden's recommendation. Two persons accidentally obtained pardon by means which we will not now discuss; but the President has since openly expressed regret that they were pardoned! The whole thing is a fissue of base fabrication.

Gov. Holden has recommeeded and secured pardons for hundreds of North-Carolinians. Day and night he has toiled and sickened at this labor. Not a man, who has ever conversed with him in his office, can say that he ever comprised the dignity of the office or exhibited hauteur or malice towards a former foe. Why then is this onslaught made upon him? Because he does not recommend Jo. Turner for pardon? If the President is more magnanimous than Gov. Holden, why is not Jo. Turner pardoned in spite of the Governor's recommendation of suspension? The whole thing will not bear telling .-The man who wrote it knew he penned a falsehood, and charged upon the Governor the same buse passions that animated his own breast.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.-Judge Gilliam will hold a Court of Over and Terminer for Davidson County, at Lexington, commencing on the first Monday of November.

For the Standard. To the Voters of the Fourth Congressional District of the State of No th-Carolina, composed of the Counties of Granville, Franklin, Warren, Nash, Johnston, Wake, O. ange and

It is both natural and proper that you should wish to be informed of my political opinions before giving me your votes; and as the interval, between the passage of the ordinance, and the time prescrib ed therein for holding the election, is too brief to admit of my canvassing the district, I take this method of acquainting you with my views. It is likewise your right to be so informed.]

You know well, fellow-citizens, that there is not ow pending before the Country any great political sues, such as in other days were accustomed to eperate the two great parties into which the peole were heretofore divided. For once there are no arties. The termination of the rebellion has left s with but one object; and that object, thank God. s common to us all. It is this, how we shall but romote the prosperity, the happiness, and the gloy of our country, and of our whole country. here being, as I have said, no great issues, as eretofore, pending before the country, the only leans which I have of informing you of my presnt sentiments is by referring you to the past rom my past conduct you will infer my future

I have been uniformly, consistently, nay! I may id with entire truth, persistently devoted to the nion of the States, under the Constitution of the inited States. I have ever regarded the Union unner the Constitution as our greatest blessing. In nat Union consists our peace, prosperity, and hapiness at home; and our strength, honor, and greatess abroad. I believe with Mr. Webster, that while the Union lasts we have high, exciting, ratifying prospects spread out before us, for us and With these views, which long ago ad sunk deep into my heart, I strove, according to ne measure of my poor abilities, to avert the late nost calamitous war. I in common with many palotic sons of the south, raised my feeble voice in demn warning against "the deep damnation of is taking off" and earnestly besought my counymen not to lift a parcidal hand against our comon mother. Our voices were unheeded, our couns slighted; our warnings despised and the Southuined. But the late disastrous collision between ie North and the South has taught us this most luable lesson, that secession, peaceable secession.

a delusion, a cheat, a lie. That there is, that here can be, no such thing as peaceable secession. at secession is war, and war is destruction.

Fellow citizens, my reading furnishes but one smallel to the late dreadful rebellion. It is to be und recorded in the second pages of Holy Writ. allude to the frantic conduct of the children of Isel after God had miraculously delivered themom the intolerable oppressions of Egyptian bon-ige. By way of manifesting their gratitude to Him r his countless and inestimable blessings in procting them from all enemies, in guarding them gainst all perils, in supplying all their wants, without money and without price, in a forty years ourney through the wilderness, they deliberately rected a golden Calf, and bowed down before it, d worshipped it as their God. And we the peoie of the United States, uninstructed by the exerience of past ages and of other nations; unmindal of our deep and manifold obligations to the hebes and sages of the revolution, for the best governent ever devised by the wit and wisd m of man, eliberately destroyed it, and bowed down and orshipped a golden Calf in the image of Seceson. Let us not continue the parallel by persistence in wrong. Let us learn wisdom and virtue om the errors and chastenings of the past. Let us evate our affections and expand our hearts until ney shall be strong enough and large enough to mbrace the whole country from the frezen regions f the North to the burnings plains of the South; om the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific. Let us creafter know no North, no South, no East, no lest. Let as know nothing bet our sountry and in whole country. Lut us keep ever in remembrance the dying counsels of the Immortal Washigton; the Illustrious lather of his country; he ho "was first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his country." nually to his "farewell address" as to a secure vial fountain of wisdom and virtue. Let us re-to the conthe support of your tranquility at home, your peace abroad, of your safety, of your prosperity, of that very liberty which you so highly prize. But as it is easy to foresee that, from different causes and from diffr entquarters, much pains will be taken, many artifices oyed to weaken in your minds the conviction of this truth; as this is the point in your political fortress against which the batteries of internal and external enemies will be most constantly and actively (though often covertly and imidiously) derected,—it is of infinite moment that you should properly estimate the immense value of your national union to your collective and individual happiness; that you should cherish a cordial, habitual and immovable attachment to it, accustoming your selves to think and speak of it as of the palladium of your political safety and prosperity; watching for its preservation with jealous anxiety; discountenancing whatever may suggest even a suspicion that it can, in any event, be abandoned; and indigrantly frowning upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest, or to enfeeble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts." Let us hear too the words of wisdom and open hearted kindness and generosity, as they recently fell from the lips of our present Chief Magistrate, when addressing a deputation of Southern gentlemen headed by Mr. McFarland of Virginia. "All I ask or desire," said the President, " of the South or North, the East or the West is to be sustained in carrying out the principles of the Constitution."

It is not to be denied that we have been great sufferers on both sides. Good men have fallen on both sides, and much misery is being endured as the necessary result of so gigantic a contest. Why, then, cannot we come together, and around the common altar of our country heal the wounds that have been made? Deep wounds have been inflicted.-Our country has been scared all over. Then why cannot we approach each other upon principles which are right in themselves and which will be productive of good to all? The day is not distant when we shall feel like some family that has had a deep and desperate feud, the various members of which have come together and compared the evils and sufferings they have inflicted upon each other. They have seen the influence of their error and the result, and governed by a generous spirit of conciliation, they have become mutually forbearing and forgiving, and returned to their old habits of fraternal kindness, and become better friends than ever. Then let us consider that the feuds which have alienated us has been settled and adjusted to our mutual satisfaction, and that we had come together to be bound by firmer bonds of love, respect and confidence than ever. The North cannot get along without the South, nor the South from the North, the East from the West, nor the West from the East; and I say that it is our duty to do all that in our power lies to perpetuate and make stronger the bonds of our Union, seeing that it is for the common good of all that we should be united. I feel that this Union, though but the creation of a century, is to be perpetuated for all time, and that it cannot be destroyed except by the All-wise God who created it. Fellow citizens, I am unafterably opposed to gro suffrage, not from any ill-will towards the negro, but because I believe him wholly incompetent to its intelligent exercise.

If upon consultation and deliberation it shall appear to be practicable, I shall favor the colonization of the negroes by the general government, so as to rid the people of the South from the evil which has been so suddenly turned loose upon them. I am of the opinion that the colored troops should be withdrawn from the State at once, and if elected will exert all my influence and ability to compass this most desirable end.

I am likewise of the opinion, that at the earliest practicable moment all troops should be withdrawn from the State, and civil law restored to the country; for I believe we are fully equal to the management of our domestic concerns.

I do not desire to use any improper interference in the election of State officers, but I think it due to the distinguished gentleman who is now at the head of the Executive Department of the State to bear my testimony to his devotion to the best interest of the State and of the Union and to tender him my cheerful support whether at home or in Congress. And what I have said of him I repeat for the distinguished patrict and the friend of North Carolina who is atthe head of the Executive Department of the United States.

Fellow-citizens, there has been enough of divisons and strife, both of spirit and of action. The country needs repose. Our strength has been vasted; our energies paralized. But our country s young; our territory vast and fertile; and by orgetting the past and cultivating kindly feelings or the future, we may regain, yea! sur oass our ormer prosperity and fulfil our mission of being to he world an example of virtue, intelligence and
