The President's Reception. We gave an account yesterday of the President's New Year's reception in our news colump. We clip the following editorial notice from the Washington Chronicle of the 2nd; "The spectacle witnessed yesterday at the Exmembers of the Cabinet, although occuring an nually, is nevertheless worthy of special notice not an account of its display, but as an illustra-tion of spirit of our republican form of govern-ment. The most exalted officer of the Government, unguarded by any array of military power. and free from the "pomp and circumstance" inmeaning forms and ceremonies, as well as hollow show, receiving the hearty congratulations of his fellow-citizens without distiction at his own mansion, is a sight which can be seen nowhere but in the United States. Whatever may be the impressions produced upon the minds of the representatives of foreign governments at beholding such a sight, no American can view any othe feelings than those of gratitude and pride. have no privileged aristocracy before which the masses are compelled to uncover their heads in token of reverence and respect. The humblest as well as the most distinguished citizen had ad cess to and was received by the President with like consideration. On such an occasion we can not but recall and adopt the memorable words or niel Webster in his great speech at the laying 'To-day we are Americans all, and all notha ing but Americans.

The Washington Star of the same date gives the following diplomatic incident, attending the reception :

"It is a subject of comment to-day that at the President's reception yesterday, none of the diplomatic corps recognized or spoke to the Mexican Minister, they evidently not recognizing him as a representative from any government. Senor Remero was cordially received by President Johnson, but remained only a few moments in the reception room, leaving some time before the de parture of the other Ministers."

Gideon J. Pillow and the Free Labor System.

It will be recollected that Gen. Pillow an. nounced last fall his determination to give the freedmen a fair trial on his plantations. He then said that he would put his farms in good order for the accommodation of several hundred freedmen, whom he intended to offer liberal wages, and expected to work .-He has recently written a letter to Gen. Howard, stating how he progreses. The following

NASHVILLE, TENN., Dec. 22, 1865. "Major General O. O. Howard, Commissioner. It affords me pleasure to inform you that I have been successful beyond my most sanguine expecations in encaging labor for all my plantations in Arkansas and Tennessee. I have already engaged about your hundred freedmen, and have full fidence in making a success of the work. I have given in all cases to the freedmen a part of the erop of cotton, and I allow him land for the cultivation of vegetables and corn for his own use, without charge therefor. I would have engaged one thousand laborers if I had needed that number. My brother, who adopted my plan of work, succeeded in engaging laborers for three places he is working. I have put one large plantation under white laborers from the North, upon precisely the same terms I engaged freedmen. I feel anxious to try the system of white labor of that character for the plantation. Knowing the interest you feel in the success of the system of the en, and feeling grateful for your kindness to sult of my work, thus far. With assurance of my personaliregard and respect, I am, General, very respectfully GIDEON J. PILLOW."

Queer Doings in Mississippi.

"The problem of social equality between the races is working itself out;" but in lower Mississippi it has assumed a queer aspect. The Holmesville, Miss., Independent, of the 2nd, contains the following pertinent order from Col. Oscar J. E. Stuart, of the Mississippi Militia, which explains itself: "SUMMIT, Miss., Nov. 26, 1865.

GENERAL ORDER No. 1 .- In obedience to an order of His Excellency, the Governor of Mississippi. I have this day assumed command of all the militia in this section of the State with headquarters at this place. And whereas, it has been reported to me that there are various individuals not belonging to any military organization, either State or Federal, who are engaged in shooting at, and sometimes killing, the freedmen on private account; and, whereas, there are other men reported as the attendants of, and participants in, the negro balls, who, after placing them elves on a social equality with the people of color, raise quarrels with the freedmen, upon questions of social superiority already voluntarily waived and relinguished by them, in favor of the negro, by which the peace of the country is bro-ken, and the law disregarded. I therefore order the arrest of all such, offenders, by the officers and soldiers under my command, and that they be taken before some civil officer having power to commit to the county jail, for the purpose of awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. Men must quit blacking themselves, and do everything legally. OSCAR J. E. STUARI, Q. M. G. and Col. Commanding Militia.

Who's Hit. We clip the following from an exchange:

The Columbus (Georgia,) Sun says: All of our citizens who take the oath of allegiance are required to state their political opinions in 1860 .-Union signers largely predominate, Captain Goble, so the story runs, was looking over the list, when he would see for a whole page the names of secessionists as scarce almost as hen's feeth. "My God!" exclaimed he, after reading awhile, "if these few 'secesh' caused us all this trouble for the past four years, what couldn't they have done if all these Union men had joined them." We give the story as we heard it.

-Major Gen. J. D. Cox has tendered his Asignation, to take effect January 1st, 1866. -A Mr. Charles Bhodes, a delivery clerk in the Post Office at Fon du Lac, Wis., has been detected in depredations on the mails. Two thousand two hundred dollars have been secured.

-The ice blockade at St. Louis continues, though the mild weather gives hopes of its speedy termination. Foot passengers and light wagons cross the Mississippi on the ice.

-A terrible locomotive explosion occurred on the Terre Haute (Indiana) depot, throwing off the roof of the building, and scattering things in all directions. The engineer. Charles Stake, and the fireman, D. Miller. were so severely injured that they will surely die. The extreme cold weather is assigned as the cause of the catastrophe. It was a freight train laden with hogs, and many of them were killed.

For the Standard Curious and Entertaining.

A magician once upon a time advertised on his bills that the evening's entertainment would conclude with the mysterious disappearance of a lady. Sure enough, after the performance he eloped with the wife of the man who owned the hall.

In the report of the American Association for the advancement of science for the year 1861, there is a communication from Professor Horsford, of Harvard University, in which he states that the Bunker Hill Monument swings backwards and forwards, like a pendulum, every day! By an ingenious apparatus it has been ascertained that there is a very slight but perceptible movement-in the morning to the westward, at noon to the northward, and in the evening to the east .-It is supposed to be caused by the unequal expansion of the sides of the monument by the heat of the sun. What confirms this opinion is, that a shower of rain suddenly on one side, also produces a movement.

The ending syllable "ough," which is such a terror to foreigners, is shown up in its several pronounciations in the following lines: Wife, make me some dumplings of dough-

They're better than meat for my cough; Pray, let them be boiled till hot through, But not till they're heavy or tough; Now, I must be off to my plough,

And the boys (when they've had enough) Must keep the flies off with a bough, While the old mare drinks at the trough.

The sum paid for white female slaves in Constantinople, varies, according to their attractions, from $300 to $2,000. The lady who became the bride of Sultan Abdul Mejid, at the close of the Ramanza, in May, 1858, cost 65,000 piastres ($2,500.) She was purchased and presented to this sovereign by his mother, the Sultana, Valide, who, in her youth, was a beautiful slave. The Sultan, at his death, 1861, left upwards of 200 widows: his whole household, black and white, of both sexes, numbering nearly 3,000.

An Indiana farmer, recently deceased, left by will a $1000 10-40, bonds, to be applied to the extinguishment of the national debt .-Were he alive, it would gratify him, probably, to know that his money would pay the interest on the debt for exactly two minutes!

It is an old adage that "the flock will follow the ram." The following extraordinary incident which lately occurred near Marseilles

"Some shepherds were driving a flock of 1,400 sheep to a pasture which lay at the foot of a high the whole State is left, with a State governhill: the sheep, instead of following the path, no sooner came in sight of the pasture from which through which to operate. The art of living easily, as to money, is to pitch your scale of living one degree below your means. What a thing costs a man is no true measure of what it is worth to him; and yet how often is his appreciation governed by no other standard. The safe way in purchasing is always to feel a want before you provide against it. A profound observer remarks: "I have often observed at public entertainment, that, when there is anything to be seen, and everybody wants particularly to see it, everbody immediatly stands up and effectually prevents anybody from seeing anything."

The dog of one of the regiments of the French army died recently in Paris, aged 14 years; it was adopted by the regiment because, during a painful march, while the sirocco was blowing in the Desert, it showed them where water was to be procured; it went to the Crimea, where it was badly wounded, in consequence of its "detestable habit of running after the bombs;" it was present at the battles of Magenta and Solferino, and charged with the regiment, barking as loud as it could at the Austrians.

At a late public ball in Vienna an officer became entangled by the crinoline of his partner, and falling, broke one of his legs; the lady rolling over him in her turn, fell on the other leg and fractured it likewise.

The Mobile News says an artist in that city painted a dog so natural that the ani- singularly existing. - Wilmington Hrrald. mal had the hydrophobia during the hot weather. "If," says the doctor, "two cubes gilded over to look alike. and made of the same temperature—the one lead, the other wood, be laid before a man, none of his five senses will tell him which is wood, which is lead. He must feel their weight; and it seems as if physiologists would have eventually to agree to call this,

the sense of weight, the sixth sense."

ANOTHER RAILBOAD PROJECT .- The Carrollton Press says it understands "there is a movement on foot by which the Carrollton Branch is to be extended so as to intersect the Steubenville and Indiana Railroad at Bowerstown. The entire space between Carrollton and Bowerstown is one ast coal field, with as good strata as is found in any part of Ohio.

Forgery.-A man calling himself N. M. Swank, formerly of Portsmouth, Wa., presented a forged order from R. R. Schofield, of Wilson, on Messrs. Andrews & Hardin, and drew thereon hundred dollars, with which he left the City, and was last heard of at Goldsboro'. Swank is a small, light man, of modest appearance, and speaks low; has been a printer and a strolling negro minstrel. He insinuated himself into the confidence of Mr. Schofield until he found out enough of his bus iness to represent himself as his agent and pass his forged order. The press should pass him round. We learn that Swank is a native of Portsmouth, Va., and married in Newbern, N. C .- Wilming non Ghoste, -Many person pretend not to believe in ghosts and spirits walking about the earth and visiting old churches and other out-of-the-way places, and some even have the hardihood to desounce spirit rappers and mediums as nothing ore nor less than humbugs; but who of all these skeptics is there who would not feel a little queer to see a long white-clad figure walking towards him at a silent hour of the night from an old grave-yard, or who would not feel the wrinkles circling to the top of his head to have a large owl snap its beak just over his head in a lone forest at a dead hour of the night? ghost story from an exchange: "The Western papers tell in good faith an ineredible ghost story, and back it up by the sworn affidavits of several respectable persons at Grand Traverse, Michigan. A spiritual mediumess at that place, whose husband was a stubborn disbeliever in the "manifestations," assured him in her dying breath that she should reappear to him in her body at his death to convince him of the truth of her belief. Several weeks after he was taken sick and a "spiritual" rumpus was kept up in the house until his decease, which soon followed. Just before his death, which occurred at midnight, heavy and irregular footsteps were heard in the hall, the door was burst open, and the remains of a human body, reeking with putrescence, stalked into the room, and in a muffled voice reminded the dving man of the promise, and, as he died, fell a horrid mass upon the floor. An examination of her grave proved it to be empty .-The story created intense excitement, and the house where the affair was said to have occurred was burned by the friends of the family."

A REMISSION AND ITS EFFECT. The act of the surrender of the civil authority in this State by the President to the Governor elect, has been somewhat singular in its effect. It has produced a result altogether unexpected. It extinguishes the Proisional government and remits the affairs of he State, in all their ramifications, -excepting the particular duties devolving upon the Governor and the Legislature-back to the care of the military or to no care. It may not be fully comprehended that the office of every magistrate in the State becomes vacant by this extinguishment of the Provisional government. The tenure of every office filled by authority of the Provisional Governor terminates with the existence of the appointing power. The Mayor and commissioners of the town of Wilmington, appointed by the Provisional Governor, lose their authority with the retirement of the Provisional Governor. The police force appointed under and by that board of commissioners and all other municipal officers and boards similarly appointed, lose their authority with the loss of authority by the power from which their authority was derived. The Judges appointed by the Provisional Governor are likewise summarily transformed into citizens. Thus ment established, but no civil machinery

It was undoubtedly an oversight that to be regretted state of affairs. It was undoubtedly competent for the President to clothe Governor Worth with the functions of a Provisional Governor, and enable him to maintain and carry on the provisional establishment until a more permanent and complete civil establishment could be set up .-But this was not done. It was not done probably because it was not thought of. It was probably not suggested to the President that the vitality of all civil officers in the States was derived from the Provisional gov-

This peculiar and embarrassing state of affairs will explain the anxiety manifested by Governor Worth to assemble the Legislature at the very earliest possible day. Under these circumstances every day is important. If the Governor can get the Legislature together even one week sooner than the time that body had set for its re-assembling, he will have performed a meritorious act.

But it strikes us that there is authority vested in the Governor to appoint, in the recess of the Legislature, civil officers to fill vacancies. Of course, if Governor Worth was persuaded that he had this authority, he would at once issue a proclamation continuing in office the appointees of the Provisional Governor until such time as their places could be regularly filled. But he is not so persuaded. It is not for us to advise him in this respect, however much we may be inclined to the belief that he has this authority. But it strikes us as a singular omission in the organic law of the State, demanding the earliest attention of the constitutional convention, if there is authority no where resident to repair an evil like that now so
