WEEKLY STAR. RALEIGH, TUESDAY_NOV. 19, 1850.

From Topoling a Tri- Weekly. OURSELF. We issue this morning the first number of our

TR -WEIKLI, hoping that we can present to the intolligent citizens of this State a cheap as well as valnable sheet. We commence this enterprise with no little diffidence, being well aware that it requires arduous and enterprising exertions to sustain it with eredit to the State and with justice to curselves. We have, however, believed for some time that in the g neral improvement of the press in the State, something of this kind was called for, and that it was the duty of the gress to furnish all the current news in the chespest and wost expeditious manner ern aggressions and the best means of arresting possible. We know that this is an untried experi- them, made the fullowing suggestion: ment in our State, where heretofore the newspaper press has ashibited so firste enterprise, but we feel confident that we can furnish as cheap, as beat and as valuable a sheet as can be found in any section of the country, if we are patronized with that liber mility which we are determined to merit.

Ourseppearance is not such as we intend it shall be seen first time. We have ordered and are in , b. r they had arrived in Georgia, and had daily expectation of new fonts of type, and when they arrive we intend to set our advertisements in smaller type than any we now use, and the body of our paper in the smaller, yet clear type we now nee for elitorials. We are satisfied that this is the only way in which we can afford to furnish what we would be willing to present to the reading public as a specimen of a cheap and frequent issue. This is the plan adopted by the press in other States, as we see in the Baltimere Sun, Richmond Dispatch, Charles. ton Sun, &c. These papers are generally of medium of the day in short, coneise, summary paragraph-. tible, and we can assure our readers and the public generally, that when we have our arrangements c impleted we will present them with a specimen of neat typography which will not yie'd to ary in the

This arrangement is made to enable us to send tion of the State; and if any thing of importance should transpire before our paper is mailed to our Western subscribers, we will issue a second elition or keep our paper open to insert a postacript conveying all news of importance. We trust this arrangement will suit all our subscrihers, as we believe it to be the bost which can be made.

We send our tri-weekly to all of our town subscribers, and to those who are convenient to the daily and tri-weekly routes. We trust that this will prove agreeable to all concerned, as we afus information of their wishes.

The Junge thought that, by this measure, the inportation of Northern goods would be greatly abridged, Georgia manufacturers would be en-coraged, and the Northern producers would be awakened to a sense of the power of the south to protect their own interests.

We have never been in favor of extreme measires, when they could by any possibility he alieve it to be the duty of the South to maintain size, set in small, clear type, and present the news her rights fearlessly and boldly, and firmly to repel unlawful aggression from whatever quarer it may come.
