IMPROVEMENTS IN AGRICULTURE.

We have endeavored to conduct our readers through with the process of making another crop, in which we have accommodated our advice to the established taste and custom of the day. We could have wished to have done some thing better; our systems are wrong, having their origin under circumstances, and being justified by measures, which are ceasing to exist. All our plans and usages heretofore, have proceeded upon the supposition that it was easier to get the soil into a state of fertility, than to keep it so. These preferences were indulged, when the question was at our option, when new lands were at hand and easily obtained. But little restraint has been thrown upon the exercise of this privilege by planters at the Southern West, from the earliest settlement of the country to the present time. There seemed to be no end to the new territory. But now, to the least reflecting mind it is obvious that we have at last reached a period which seems to have laid far off in the distance. Our last territory is obtained, and is already beginning to show the effects of wear and tear. What now is to be done is the question. It is to this consideration, that we propose to devote a few of our thoughts, and to suggest some measures which may be adopted, and which will be in accordance with the principles of agriculture. It is a stupendous work to reform, remodel and change our long indulged systems and habits of culture, and we almost despair of its accomplishment. To despair, is however, to yield to certain ruin; and we, therefore, suggest that we should endeavor to join in this important enquiry. THE DUBLIN EXHIBITION.

Twenty thousand season tickets to the Dublin Exhibition have been sold. The net proceeds are estimated at the sum of $320,000. The largest number of visitors in one day was 12,183, and the largest receipts in one day were $4,939. It is considered certain that Mr. Dargan will be repaid the half million of dollars which he advanced for the building and other preliminaries.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE TIGER AND THE BEAR.

We copy from an English Magazine the following narrative of an encounter with a tiger in the jungles of India. It is evidently written by an officer of the British Army, and is both affecting and interesting.

I had never before seen anything in the shape of a tiger, and I was dumb with wonder and amazement. My little Moor boy; he was the son of a famous shikaree, and I believe had never seen a tiger any more than myself. He had, I heard his father talk of his exploits among the wild beasts of the forest; he knew me to be a Graffia, and his little heart swelled with the proud consciousness of superior skill in woodcraft.

MURDER BY MISTAKE.

The following homely and interesting narrative is related in our Standard Magazine. It proves that dreams are not always to be regarded, and shows that there is sometimes a remarkably sympathetic connection between one's sleeping ideas and the waking motives of others.

THE ISLAND OF JAMAICA.

Mr. Wood, our new Consul at Valparaiso, on his way north touched at Jamaica. In a letter to a friend in Ohio he describes the condition into which the sudden and general emancipation of the negroes has thrown the island, and the magnitude of the calamity which has befallen the island.

PROGRESS OF SCIENCE IN CHILE.

Recent measures of more immediate and general utility—the great railroads and flour mills in Chile, of whose progress the papers generally advise us—induce us to refer to works published in that country, which are not less interesting to a portion of our readers.

CONDITION OF THE FUGITIVE SLAVES IN CANADA.

The Editor of the Dundee (N. Y.) Record has lately been making a tour through Canada, in the course of which he visited a large number of fugitive slaves, and collected a mass of facts, which he has now published in a series of articles.

LETTER OF THE HON DANIEL S. DICKENSON.

The New York Herald of yesterday contains a letter from this gentleman, in denial of the charge made against him by the Washington Union, that he was one of the converts from soldiers, having favored and advocated the Will. proviso, in the Senate of the United States.

THE CONVALESCENT—AN OUTRAGE.

The convalescent man enters the scene of recovery with a nervous, listless air of utter prostration. The excitement of the fever has departed, leaving nothing behind it, but the wispered assurance of the doctor and the nurse that "the crisis is past." But even this assurance is accompanied by an indication, "An extremely careful, as a vulgar is easily brought on and proves almost always fatal."

THE MERRY TINKLING OF THE SHEPHERD'S BELL.

As the sunbeams play on the dewy grass, and the merry tinkling of the shepherd's bell made music for the reapers.

THE BULLS REGRAD FOR FAIR PLAY.

In the year '35 I was travelling with a struggling theatrical company, and, arriving at a small town in Kentucky, it was resolved to treat the inhabitants to a lot of lectures. A suitable place having been selected, notices were sent up informing the public that the lectures would be performed by one of the best theatrical companies in the Union.

BUSINESS TALK.

The Newburyport Herald, in giving an obituary notice of a young and talented merchant, makes the following truthful remark: "There are many among the leading classes of political and school reformers, who are so anxious to themselves more important in the community than belongs to them, who underrate the necessity and usefulness of the successful and energetic business man."

THE FAITHFUL PUBLIC SERVANT.

The Steamship Golden Gate, now laid up temporarily at Benwick, California, as a loaned ship in February, 1851, and left New York for Panama on the 15th of August of the same year. The Alta gives us the result of her subsequent labors as follows: "She has made 11 trips from Panama to San Francisco, 15 trips from San Francisco to Panama. She has carried 12,175 passengers, and $18,290 in treasure. She has carried the mail 17 times, in 2111 bags altogether.

RAILROADS AND THEIR EFFECTS. There are twenty-one hundred miles of rail road in running order, and a thousand more under contract in various stages of completion in New York.

The Erie Railroad, extending 620 miles from the City of New York into the Western portion of the State, has effected more than any other in that part of the State, there are miles and miles of territory lately uninhabited except by beasts and birds. But this road, says the Express "has added thousands of people to the western end of the State already, and the past multiplication of numbers is only a forecast of what is to come. It has made villages and towns, as well as farms and mills. Millstones, factories, and work-shops spring up wherever the railroad goes, just as churches and schools, as follows in the footsteps of American civilization.

AGRICULTURE.

The increased use of this substance as a fertilizer, and its high price, as well as present scarcity, has caused the farmers of New York to endeavor to do away with the system of manure under which it is at present supplied.

AGRICULTURE.

The New York Freeman's Journal of Wednesday contains the following announcement: "The most interesting of the New York Herald received yesterday the Bull's erasing, Newark, Long Island; Newark, New Jersey; Burlington, Vermont; and Portland, Maine; into Episcopal See, and naming to the See of Brooklyn, the Very Rev. John Longhite, Vice-Chancellor of New York; to the See of New Hampshire, the Very Rev. H. Bayley, Secretary to the Archbishop of New York; to the See of Burlington, the Very Rev. L. de Guadalupe, Vicar General of Cleveland; and to the See of Portland, the Very Rev. H. B. Cook, Vicar General of Maine."

AGRICULTURE.

A novel excitement has just sprung up in Cincinnati. Some of the market people, both farmers and merchants, have been arrested, fined and imprisoned, under a city ordinance, for continuing the sale of foreign produce, which is prohibited by the laws of the State.

AGRICULTURE.

It is almost useless to add that this curious case, especially as three of the Kentucky friends jumped upon the stage to laugh and assure them that it was a play. "Well, strange as it may be," says the Daily Democrat, "it is a fact that a man of the name of 'John' has been arrested for selling a barrel of 'foreign' flour, which he had bought from a foreign merchant."
