A SPEECH WORTH HEARING The Quincy [Illinois] Whig, contains

the following report of a recent speech in ceptioh : the Senate of that State, on the bill for repealing internal improvements.

The Railroad, which the speaker did not like, is othervise called a corduroy road; and consists of wooden rails laid across.

"Mr. Speaker, I rise, sir, not to make speech-speech-making is not my trade, but to tell the friends of repeal, that I am fornest them although I hate railroads as bad as any man on 'his yearth, and I have a good reason to hate them, yet I shall vote again repealing them bekase all my constituents on this side of the river bodaclously are for them, and a good many on the other side too - It are a fact. Mr. Speaker, I know very little about railroads, but I guess I know as much as some folks do. We have had a railroad in Clinton for some years, across the bottom, there at Cartisle and one over Crooked Creek bottom, in Marion, and of all internal roads for roughness, they bangs the beatergentlemen may laugh - but it's no jokemy constituents have lost, in the single item of breakage of eggs, sir, a handsome fortune. Scott who keeps tavern in Carlisle, and a rail tavern too, not one of your Springfield greaseyer, but a right jam up chicken fixen tavern, told me that no mortal man could tell the eggs that had been broken in bringing them to market, a cross that infernal railroad, and Tully told me the same thing exactly about Crooked Creek rollroad-same smashing of eggs. You know Huey, Mr. Speaker? I wish you could have hearn Huey curse, the time his carriage was jolt-d up into eternal smash, crossing this same railroad. Here the Speaker, unable any longer to control his risible faculties, laughingly observed, the gentleman must confine himself to the question and to the rules of the Senate.]—Well, sir. I was saying, he cust, and he cust and he swore and fairly snorted agin, but still, he's for railroads. These are my notions, Mr. Speaker, and could not sit here without belching it out, Here the orator turned his head and in an audible voice addressed a senator to his dressed the speaker.]

As I am now up, Mr. Speaker, I will give you my notions on Uncle's wolf bill— Here the Speaker interrupted him again, that the wolf question was not before the Senate, and therefore its merits could not be discussed.] You are mistaken in your man, Mr. Speaker; I am not a cussing character, and if I was, I should be very far from cussing Uncle Peter's wolf bill. to understand that I am no Jubiter Iscariot, in this or any other matter, I'm for that bill head and ears, no mistake in shave tail,-I go it, sir, on the laud. One more thing, Mr. Speaker, and I am done -the gentleman from Shamrock county-I don't think that's the name exactly either but the two headed gentleman over there said the other day—[Here the Speaker assuming as much gravity as possible, called the gentleman to order, and requested him to take his seat. [After looking the Speaker steadfastly in the eye for at least twenty seconds, with a wink of askance, he said.]—Are you in rale yearnest, Mr. Speaker? if so be you are, your'e in to me about a feet, I a pose you think, but sir—look out —I warn you, sir, to keep a skin'd eye for terrapin traps and moccasin tracks. I have rights, sir, as the two headed gentleman over there, [pointing to the gentleman from Hancock] said the o-ther day, that shall not be trodden on nor treated with discoru-I'm done, sir,-I would, however, before I set down say to my friend from Union, not to look so serious, when he tells his funny stories, in his speech, but to give us a sort of smile, as I do, when he comes to the nub, or laughing part, so that we know when to laugh too I have now gut all I was arter Mr. Speaker, and I will conclude this

The Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette of the 29th ultimo contains the following paragraph, which it says is founded on information derived from a letter written by Mr. R. A. CALLOWAY, sub-agent of the Osage Indians :

"The Camanche Indians, it is believed. are contemplating an attack upon the fron-tiers of Texas so soon as the leaves fall-from the trees. They have made propositions to the Osages to join them with four hundred warriors, which the Ossages have refused. They have also sent the pipe to all of the neighboring tribes."

The great feeling seemed to be who could soonest shake hands with the political and national martyr, and congratulate him on again returning to the ark of safety and freedom. He looked pale and sallow, which his long confinement sufficiently accounts

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

We learn from a private letter that His Excellency, the President, reached the good old city of Williamsburg, on Wednesday last, in excellent health, and contemplated a stay of some eight or ten days among his Virginia friends, unless his presence should in the mean time be needed in Washington."

The report which originated in the Bal. timore Sun of Monday, that the President passed through Petersburg, and that an attempt was made to assassinate him, is without the least foundation. The Prest-Pete. Int.

As I am now up, Mr. Speaker, I will disc aimer:—"Though I am one who does not assent to the authority of Jesus of Nazareth or any body else." A very in-dependent gentleman, that.

There was among the interlocutors one person whom the reporters denominate "Old Gentleman." That person con-cludes his remarks with a piece of very good advice.

Old Gent. -"Let us go home, and read our bibles closely."

The Misses .- Miss Demeanor is said to be of, at least doubtful character. It is not best to form any sequentance with her.

Miss Cellany is a very intelligent and in-teresting lady, is much in favor with editors and publishers. She is frequently noticed in the newspapers.

Miss Anthropy is a prevish old spinster; and although she is exceedingly modest and reserved, we should not recommend her ac-

Miss Trust is of a jealous disposition, and withal rather troublesome.

Miss Construction is much in favor with sectarians; is of a serious, moral deportment, and is supposed to be well disposed. Miss Fortune, although honest and am-iable, is much dreaded and shunned by all. She is rather wayward however, and often intrudes in company where she is not wel-

Miss Nomer often renders important aid to the legal professions, and her company is often sought by pentlemen of the law. Mis Rule is a great politicianess, and on several occasions has presided in the halls of legislation.

Since the mania for speculating in mulber-ry trees has subsided, many persons, we learn, have turned their attention in a greater or less degree towards the culture of Silk. Among those who have entered into the business on a scale perhaps as large as any one in this neighborhood, is Mr. Robert Sinelair, In this neighborhood, is Mr. Robert Sinclair, Senr. This gentleman, notwithstanding some mishaps, which experience alone will teach him to avoid, produced the past season a sufficient quantity of reeled silk and cocoons to yield him the sum of $357. The result is very flattering, and satisfies Mr. Sinclar that the business can be profitably bursued, and that if, as in other States, a small bounty was allowed for its production, many persons would be induced to enter into the business with profit to themselves and advantage to the community.
