THEMAN WITH SIX LIVES. Tis said a cat has just nine lives. Well Lewis Cass has six: 'Tis rearrly that a man survives So long in such a fix: East, noth, west, south, new life to show, Is strage for mortal here below.

Sure he most be a thing divine, Or of the feline breed, So variously his lives incline. So wondrously indeed; So peaceful at the Court of France Beneath great Louis Phillippe's glance.

The collegiate year is divided into two sessions. The first begins eight weeks after, and the second 21 weeks before, the 2nd Wednesday in June. To such as desire to enter College, it is important that they be in attendance at the opening of the session. A short sheence at that time may place a student under disadvantages which will impair his scholarship throughout the session. Our course of study is so arranged as to meet the wants of young men who desire to acquire an extensive English education, without studying the Ancient Languages. The benefit to be derived from the use of the Libraries and from attendance on the Literary Societies should strongly induce such young men to prosecute their studies here. In order for a student to enter upon the English course, he must be thoroughly acquainted with English Grammar, Geography and Arith-THE customers of this Mill are hereby informed, that although it has passed into new

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT, The primary object of the Preparatory Schools is to prepare young men for College, but the course of study is such as to meet the wants of the neighborhoods in which they are located and to qualify students for the ordinary occupations

'The School in the vicinity of College continues under the direction of Mr. W. T. Davis, an able and successful Teacher, and own immediate supervision.

Its sessions and vacations are the same as those of the College proper. The cost of board, &c., is a little less than a student of College pays.

REAL & PERSONAL ESTATE:
THE SETTLEMENT AND ARBITRATION
OF COMMERCIAL, TRADING & other Debts; Securing Patents for Inventions in Great Brit-ain, Ireland, and the Colonies and Dependencies thereunio belonging, and Negotiating for the Purchase or Sale of the Same. The principal object in the establishment of this Agency is to set at rest in the most satisfactory and economical manner possible, the numerou claims fer property which citizens of the United States really have, or imagine thry possess in England and elsewhere.

The efforts of designing and unscrupulous men have been actively engaged in influencing a belief on the subject in many quarters, with a view to petty peculation; and evidences of the fact have been so frequently brought to light as to render it urgently necessary that an offic; be established having for its object the sa isfaction of those who have been deluded, and to establish the claims of such as are the rightful beirs to doubtful property.

or that which is improperly withheld.

Articles in the leading journals in the principal cities of the Union are f. rquently appearing, headed "Townley Estate," A Great Fortune for somebody," "Meetings of the Houghton's at Worces-ter," "Chase Meetings," &c., &c., the authors of which are generally lawyers seeking practice, or adventurers, whose only object is to feed upon pub-lic credulity, by producing an excitement which may realize for themselves immediate gains, and who are generally speaking, without the slightest knowledge of the subjects they put forth.

The evidences of this being a fact are everythere apparent, as in no one single instance have their ill founded expectations been realized; and it is with a view to the correction of this evil that the subscriber has effected the most extensive arrange ments to satisfy the inquiring, as well as the curiosity of those, who, influenced by family co-n nection or otherwise, wish to pursue the investigation of matters often involving results of the nost stupendous magnitude.

As regards real estate in England, the bulk of t is subject to the laws of Entail and Primogeni ture, and ever since the revolution in 1688, the principal estates have been subjected to the changes which always ensue on revolution, confusion, and change of dynasty: and although there have been special laws rassed for particular purposes, all those which have reference to this subject, and which were passed subsequen thereio, are still available in cases of legitimate right. It is not, however, intended in this advertisement, to refer antecedently to the American revolution of 1776 at which period, a great number of persons entitled in various ways to property, abandoned the same by joining the revolutionary party. This act, in itself, was sufficient to lead to where it was directly held by such individuals: but when those atandoning the same were next in succession to the then possessors, the case became altered, and alienation from home and family were made the barriers to rightful inheritance.

Another fruitful source of investigation is found in the Unclaimed Dividend Book of the Bank of England, and this, furnishing as it does, each English name that has ever existed as a holder of funded property, is the main reliance of the un principled traders in public credulity

The modes of investment are exceedingly nu merous in all parts of Europe, but in England particularly so, and the subscriber is prepared to show the facilities which he possesses, for an investigation in any of the means above alluded to Besides all these, there is property positively be-queathed, and which, in consequence of the ab-sence of the parties to whom demised, becomes involved in and subject to the laws of the Court of

In all cases, even, of supposed family connexien the most positive and satisfactory information can be afforded as to the facts connected with the members of families, no matter how remote the date, or seemingly difficult the investigation; and where the case has already been undertaken by any of the numerous persons who pretend to s knowledge of this business, and who have alto-gether failed in obtaing, or omitted to afford the nformation sought by the victims of their speciousness and delusion, the matter is the more reactly undertaken, because of the greater satisfac tion in aiding where the protences of others have obtained so much unmerited confidence.

In the settlement of Commercial Trading and other Debts, the necessary legal and mercan tile acumen will be brought to bear, an experience of half a century in this particular branch, is the best evidence that can be afforded of the ability that will be bestowed on matters coming under Inventors and others requiring Patent Rights ecured in any or all parts of Europe, can have the same effected at a very trifling charge over and above the usual fees required in any given country.

Every information respecting the probable expen-ses, and the modus operandi will at all times be cheerfully afforded; and the facilities, particularle in England, for disposing of the right, &c , are of the most extensive character. Introductions are also officed to men of wealth and high respectability. Whatever belongs to this department is ample. The attention, therefore, of the public in general is particularly solicited to this branch of the Agency.
