VOL. 2-NO. 14.

EVENING VISITOR.
W. M. UTLEY, Local Editor.

Dogs object to tin wear.

The nothern elections have been the most absorbing topics on the streets during the past four days—with the politicians.

The authorities are adding a large room to the carpenters shop at the R. & G. Railroad shop to build box cars in, the present shop being entirely too small. We are glad to note these evidences of prosperity.

Don't fail to read the special of Messrs. R. T. Jeter & Co., They keep on Johnson street, just below the round house at the R. & G. depot. They are all energetic gentleman and deserve to succeed. We commend them to our readers.

Mr. W. W. Woodell gives notice that he is prepared to mend your watches and clocks. Read his advertisement in another column. Oak City Lodge, Knights of Honor will meet at 7 1/2 o'clock to night for work in the Degree.

When you want to take a ride go or send to Mr. H. E. Parham on Martin street, and he will furnish you a first class team on very easy terms. He keeps good horses and the very best of vehicles, and besides he is so polite and courteous. Try him and be convinced of our assertion.

Mr. D. S. Hudgings, the operator at the R. & G. depot, has a full blooded Berkshire boar which weighs 500 pounds. If you want a fine hog this is your chance to buy. This hog was awarded three premiums at the late fair. Mr. H. will sell him if a sufficient price should be offered.

Read the attractive advertisement of Messrs. Yeagan Petty & Co. They have a large stock of goods and are selling them very cheap. They have a corps of polite and attentive clerks who take pleasure in showing goods. Give them a call and see for yourselves.

The elections are over north but the excitement is increasing among the people on account of the cheap price of ready made clothing at J. M. Rosenbaum's. If the rush continues he will be compelled to order the second stock of fall and winter goods. Go early if you want a suit of nice clothes.

Well, Mr. what is the matter that you look so pleasing? Nothing but the satisfactory consumption of a lunch sent me at the Monarc Depot as I came down on the Air Line road this morning by my most esteemed friend Mrs. J. A. Parham, wife of the celebrated premium flour man. However, the lunch was made up with nice Ham, sarloin steak, turkey, the breast of a young goslin, duck of three different varieties, Deep river fish, the best of bread and cakes of so many different kinds, that the want of time forced me to ask an excuse on an itemized programme.

Warm and pleasant yesterday. They sin who tell us love can die—self love.

Anti-arsenic clubs will be the next thing in order. Autumn leaves and caterpillars will soon pass away.

Corrugated malleable iron horseshoes are a new product.

Enamelled bricks are growing in popularity with builders.

The turkeys are fat but somewhat suspicious of the future.

There is a great deal to give thanks for on Thanksgiving day.

The foliage has become beligerent, for it has got up on its acre.

Turkeys should be eaten young, and stuffing them adds sage to 'em.

See notice of a new house for rent. Apply to Mr. A. W. Fraps.

Ulsters in the shop windows are the chief signs of winter this far.

Lots of fine rocks taken now. The fish we lose weigh more than those we catch.

Stuffing cotton in your ears won't prevent you from catching cold in the head. Put it in your mouth.

If a man in society cannot say anything cheerful or agreeable it is best for him to keep his mouth shut.

Man can subdue the elephant, the lion, and the rhinoceros, but the tiger generally gets the best of him.

Big fish chowder to night at the Higgs' House from 9 to 11 p. m. Wild goose, wild turkey, ducks, Lynn Haven Bay Oysters.

A man who will put on wet stockings when he draws on new boots will never have corns. Never let a shoe dealer chalk your heels.

It isn't pleasant for a man in delicate kid gloves to grasp a door-knob just after it has been turned by a man in search of a towel.

Although times are improving, several thousand organ grinders find themselves out of work with a hard winter staring them in the face.

Game now has to depend upon its legs and wings and the awkwardness of sportsmen, the law having placed it at the mercy of gunners.

The number of convicts in 1878 in all the State prisons of the Union was 29,197, of whom 13,136 were employed in mechanical industries.

One of the saddest, most shivering sights upon the streets just now is the young man who is trying to get twenty-five dollars worth of wear out of the light fall overcoat he bought last week.

Now the aged har is happy again. He can sit around in the corner grocery, whittle the sugar and salt barrels and lie about the heavy snow storms they used to have early in August when he was a boy.

Novelty is the first requisite of a garment or headdress now a days.

A statesman may go around to country fairs and extol vegetables, but he doesn't like to have them thrown at him when he mounts the rostrum.

The girl who boasted that she didn't wear darned stockings would have felt badly to have it known that her stockings would have been improved if they had been darned.

W. A. Gattis says it is almost impossible for him to keep a sufficient supply of apples on hand to furnish his customers. His trade is increasing every day. If you are in need of apples you had better give your order in time to be sure of getting them filled.

Farmers don't let the rise in the price of cotton prevent you from planting a quantity of oats and all other grain. As you know that the corn crop is not an over yield this year, and if you fail to raise grasses and grain, your stock must suffer next year.

Mr. J. F. Latter brought one of the largest opossums to market yesterday that ever crossed the Atlantic. It weighed nearly forty pounds. It was sufficient to feed 35 hungry men at the Yarrowhouse. Mr. Latter is the champion 'possum catcher of Wake county.

BEEF AND OYSTERS.—Where did you get that fine beef steak? At R. T. Jeter & Co.'s, West End, Market. Where is that? Just below the round house, corner Johnson street and R. R. crossing. It is delicious Baltimore beef at that, fresh every day by express. Also the finest Norfolk oysters we ever saw in Raleigh. Just try them and you will never regret it.

An amusing story comes to us from an adjoining county. A girl was about to give birth to an illegitimate child, but the man to whom she intended to swear it died before she could get a chance to swear it. Thereupon the girl applied for advice to a young sprig of the law, who had recently settled in the county. After mature deliberation and a careful examination of the authorities, he advised her to swear the child to the administrator of the deceased.—New North State.

Several deaths have occurred recently in the county, which a jury of inquest was called to sit by the county Coroner. At the Commissioners' meeting on Tuesday there was a little grumbling about paying the bills in some of the cases, it being argued that when it was known beyond doubt how the death happened there would be no need for a Coroner's jury. We find on examining the next books, of which the Chapter on Coroner's in Battle's Revival is nearly a true copy, that the Coroner must hold an inquest whenever a man is slain in the county or dies suddenly or dies an unnatural death.—Kinston Journal.

THE ACCIDENT ON THE R. & G.—There was quite an accident on the road Thursday, near Weldon, and the express from Raleigh failed to arrive last night for an hour after time. It seems that about two miles and a half this side of Gaston, on the Raleigh & Gaston road, a section master tore up the road about 11 a. m., for the purpose of making repairs. A special freight going to Raleigh came along at the time unexpectedly, and before it could be the least checked, the engine jumped the track with one flat and a box car, and rushed down an embankment, a distance of twenty feet. The engine turned completely bottom upwards. The engineer, a new employe, whose name we could not learn, was very badly hurt. The fireman escaped by jumping off. Owing to the wreck on the road, the Portsmouth train could not get through to Raleigh yesterday, and returned last night having transferred passengers and baggage to the train that came down from Raleigh.—Norfolk Landmark.

STATE NEWS.

A Lenoir county man has seen his first bale of cotton ginned. Of course he invested of part the proceeds in a newspaper—he subscribed for the Kinston Journal. He was sensible.

There is not a single case of diphtheria in Newbern, so the Nut Shell says.

A Salisbury News correspondent says the Charlotte Fair was not a success.

A vigilant Wilmington policeman arrested a barrel of whiskey that was rolling down the street, the other night, so says the Star.

Diphtheria is raging in Pitt county. Within the space of 4 miles square, 16 persons have died with this dreadful disease. So says the Kinston Journal.

The Kinston Journal has enlarged and improved in appearance.

Hon. Lewis Hanes has connected himself with the Statesville American.

Partridges sell in Rowan county for fifty cents a dozen.

A DINNER TABLE SURPRISE.—Senator Booth's dinner to Gen. Grant at Sacramento had a merry surprise in the midst of it. Forty-five gentlemen sat down to the table, and dinner was nearly finished, when suddenly the folding doors at one end of the room, which the table nearly touched, were thrown open, and behold! there was another room of the same size as the first, and down its length extended a table at which were seated forty-five ladies with Mrs. Grant, all of whom had been dining comfortably, the while. The gentlemen arose, applauded and waved handkerchief, the ladies returned cordial greetings, and the evening most pleasantly proceeded.

Mrs. Lewis was alone at night in a house at Air Line, Ohio. She was awakened by the dropping of the key from the lock of the front door. Guessing right that a burglar had pushed it out, she armed herself with a pistol, and when he intruded his head, fired at it. His dead body was taken away by a companion, in the wagon that was to have carried the plunder.
