

The Evening Visitor.

VOL. 2—NO. 26.

RALEIGH, N. C. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1879.

PRICE ONE CENT.

EVENING VISITOR.

WM. M. UTLEY, Local Editor.

One marriage license to day.

Hon. Jos. J. Davis of Louisville is registered at the Yarbro.

Dr. E. H. Flagg of Baltimore took out a drummer's license to day.

The gas pump for the manufacture of gasoline to light up the Market house, has arrived.

It is stated that Miss Neilson will retire from the stage and marry an English nobleman.

Miss Kate Mathews of Fayetteville is in the city, stopping at the residence of Mr. M. T. Norris.

Sheriff J. C. Barnett of Person county brought a white man named J. A. Paul, to the penitentiary to day for larceny. He will board there five years. This is his second term.

The Mayor disposed of the following cases this morning: One drunk and down was given twelve hours in the guard house. Wm. Perry, colored, for disorderly conduct at the fair, had not been tried when we called.

Go to the Messrs. Tuckers' for bargains in all kinds of dry goods. Their clerks are polite and courteous and will take pleasure in serving you when you call. See their attractive advertisement in another column.

A man, woman or boy put a counterfeit 50 cent piece in the contribution basket last Sunday, in a certain church of this city. A gentleman says that person's religion is like their money—counterfeit. Correct.

The mail train on the North Carolina Railroad, which was due here at 12:30 yesterday, did not arrive till about 5 p. m., owing to the breaking of the bumper on the engine at Haw river.

The Newport News says Mme. Rentz's minstrels appeared at the Opera House last night to the largest audience of the season. The performance was a meritorious one and gave universal satisfaction. Sanford and Wilson are very funny comedians and were recalled again and again. Rosa Lee and Lulu Mortimore in their operatic duets displayed remarkably cultivated voices. Fanny Florence did some clever dancing, and Miss Hattie Forrest looked and sang charmingly. The burlesque was the best given here in many years and was received with great favor. This company are always sure of liberal patronage whenever they visit Newport.

Winterish.

Now for it.

Overcoats to the front. Garnets are in the fashion.

Drinking by telephone is the latest.

Swans sing before they die. Turkeys don't.

A girl is known by the scrap book she keeps.

Ulster ice cream is an ingenious new brand.

Green pork plentiful in market $6 a hundred.

Taffy does more for a candidate than facts and figures.

A damaged New Yorker got $10,000 for a sidewalk slip.

A little ginger inserted in sausage meat gives spice to it.

Tramps imitate the Puritans. They indulge in private fasts.

Pumpkin pies are cut bias this season and scalloped on the edges. Only $6,000 worth of old bonds surrendered for exchange to day.

A high authority says that the very latest style is to wear whatever you please.

Law is like a sieve; it is easy to see through it, but one must be considerably reduced before he gets through.

Spurgeon recently said that now, as in the days of Luther, men stand staring at the truth like cows at a new gate.

A game of euchre between the seasons—Spring passes, summer makes it next, autumn orders it up, and winter runs the game out.

There are some people who seem to have no other mission than to get in everybody's way, and they do their work better than most of the others.

The worst snow ball is that little pesky lump that forms on the boot-heel, and introduces the back of your head to the soft side of the brick pavement.

It is wonderful how silent a man can be when he knows his cause is just, or when another asks him if he's got a quarter which he can spare until to-morrow.

It is said lemons paid $560,000 duty into the United States treasury last year. He who squeezes a lemon with proper spirit and disposition is doing something to extinguish the public debt.

A new use has been found for many a youth's headpiece, the utility of which has heretofore been questionable. It is discovered that young men's heads are primarily intended to keep their neck-ties from slipping off.

Tucker Hall to night. Go.

Last day of the Industrial fair.

Are you going to the Minstrels to night?

Rentz Santley to night. Are you going?

Yesterday was a cold one, but to day is colder.

The genuine winter wave has struck the city.

The Federal Court will open here next Monday. Judges Brooks and Bond presiding.

Numbers of our most prominent people were in attendance at the Industrial fair yesterday.

Mrs. Dr. Pritchard and Mrs. Dr. Alston were among the many ladies who visited the Industrial fair yesterday.

We call special attention to the advertisement of Mr. W. H. Lancaster. He keeps fresh beef, pork, sausage and fresh oysters. Read his notice and give him a call.

The Farmer and Mechanic predicts that in less than three years Wake Forest College will have three hundred students, and that there will not be a partridge within 27 miles of it.—Query: Who will kill them, the boys or the Doctor—we mean Dr. Pritchard.

One of the most sensible items in the new postal law, and one which everybody will appreciate, is that which allows a person to write his or her name on the wrapper, and also the word "from" to let the party receiving it know who it is from without violating the law.

Branch O. Merrimon, Esq., son of Hon. A. S. Merrimon, was married in Greensboro, on Wednesday evening last, to Miss Nellie S. Seales. Mr. Merrimon is well and favorably known in our city, and the best wishes of all attend him.

Oysters are put down as good for consumptives, and the Observer has an editorial on the subject. It is however of importance that the oysters should be salt, and, as a consequence those found on the North Carolina coast are preferable. We hope all of our consumptives will avail themselves of the opportunity and go for the bivalves with a rush. We have no doubt that Cod Liver Oil, Hembold's Buchu, and a thousand other things too numerous to mention, will be driven out of the market, and the delicious shell fish, that can be taken without being made sick at the stomach, shall be substituted for the terrible disease—down with nostrums—up with oysters.

300 bales.

11½ to 11¾.

Revenue receipts $186,500.

Dr. DeRosett, of Wilmington, is registered at the Yarbro House.

The Rentz Santley Novelty Company have arrived and are stopping at the Yarbro.

We have received a copy of the Kentucky Deaf Mute, a spicy little sheet, published at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Danville, Ky. The Institution is presided over by David C. Dudley, Jr., a son of our venerable and esteemed friend, David C. Dudley, of this city. It is with the greatest pleasure we record the fact, that under Mr. Dudley's charge, the Institution is in a prosperous condition. It is a source of pride to note instances in which our North Carolina young men have gained distinction, and we have no doubt our young friend will so conduct himself, both in official and private life, as to reflect credit upon his good old mother state.

The concert exercises of Person Street Church Sunday School, which took place at that house of worship last night, were very interesting, and reflected credit on all connected therewith. After a chorus, rendered with fine effect, the Rev. Mr. Reid addressed the Throne of Grace. The programme was then gone through in admirable manner, Masters Charlie Riddle, Rufus Smith, Jimmy King and Willie C. Davis being among the principal 'speakers.' The recitations by Misses Annie Mitchell, Ella Riddle, Eda Redford, Minnie Redford, Lizzie Pool and Mary Bryan were excellent, while the solo and choruses, by Misses Mary and Nannie Bryan, the solos by Miss Blanch Ferreil, and the solo by Miss Mary Bryan, together with a duet, were rendered in fine style. We must not forget the chorus by the junior scholars, nor the closing recitation, "The Dream," by Miss Mary Bryan, both of which were rendered with fine effect. Mr. Hampson, the organist, furnished the instrumental music. To this gentleman great credit is due for projecting the concert and making it a success.

A man named Crabtree prevented a wreck on the North Carolina Railroad, near Durham, the other night, says the Recorder. A bar of iron was placed in such a position on the track that the train would have certainly run off. Crabtree ignited a bundle of fodder, got on the track and stopped the train.

J. A. Robinson, Esq., of that excellent paper, the Winston Leader, paid us a welcome visit this evening.

ANOTHER BULL FIGHT.—Major W. T. Blackwell, of Durham, with his wife, changed cars at the depot, Tuesday night, for Baltimore, where the suit of W. T. Blackwell & Co. vs. J. B. Brann, will be called in the U. S. Court Monday morning. This suit has been pending for three years, and has cost Blackwell & Co. already the sum of $16,000. It is about the Durham Bull trade mark. Blackwell's lawyers are Hon. T. C. Fuller, of Raleigh, Hon. Sam F. Phillips, of Washington City, Ovide Dupree, of New York City, Marshall and Fisher, of Baltimore, and two or three others.—Greensboro Patriot.

When a newspaper paragraph opens in language as soft as the bosom of love, and as sweet as the tinkle of a woodland brook, it is always safe to conclude that the virtues of some patent medicine are harnessed to the end.

You cannot be too careful with your stoves on retiring these nights. Suffocation from coal gas are being announced almost daily in the papers.
