ohn Allen Ketchy-Prison Wit. About 10 o'clock on last Friday night Mr. M. A. Smith, deputy Sheriff of this county, received a telegram from the jailor at Greensboro, N. C., informing him that the notorious horse thief, whose name heads this article, had broken jail. Mr Smith repaired to the Depot with a posse upon the arrival of the up train at 4 A M. but failed to secure the thief. He was seen to run from the engine under such mstances as to lead to the belief in that he had rode from Greensboro bury on the "Cow Catcher." He ever, arrested at the house of his about 10 o'clock on Saturday norning and lodged in jail in this place. On Tuesday he was taken back to Greensboro by the jailor of Guilford County. A day or two before he made his escape he was, as was thought, se curely chained down to the floor of his cell by his jailor, who thereupon remarked to him : "Now Ketchy if you can effect your escape from here you are perfectly welcome to do so."

When the jailor of Guilford started back to Greensboro with him he seemed to be in a very good humor and to take things very philosophicaly. He said there was no use in getting mad about it but he thought he had some reason to think hard of his Guilford jailor who, he contended, had acted in bad faith toward urning to him he said : "you told me if I could effect my escape from your jail I was perfectly welcome to do so and now you are taking me back in violation of the lincense which you voluntarily gave me."

name and that of the propuration were embossed on the bottles, and the corks were scaled with his private scal. No article had ever been sold in this country under the name of Schnapps prior to the Introduction of Wolfe's Schledam Aromatic Schnapps; in 1851; and the label was deposited, as his trade mark, in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York during that year.

It might be supposed by persons unacquainted with the daring character of the pirates who prey upon the reputation of honorable merchants by vending deleterious trash under their name, that the protections so carefully thrown around these Schnapps would have precluded the introductions and sale of counterfeits. They seem, however, only to have stimulated the rapacity of imposters. The trade mark of the proprietor has been stolen; the indorsement which his Schledam Aromatic Schnapps alone received from the medical profession has been claimed by mendacious humbugs a his labels and bottles have been initiated, his advertisements paraphrased, his circulars copied, and worse than all, dishonorable retailers, after disposing of the genuine concents of his bottles, have filled them up with common gin, the most deleterious of all liquors, and thus made his name and brand a cover for poison.
