POETICAL.

A WOMAN'S KISS.

There's a jolly Saxon proverb, That is pretty much like this-That a man is half in Heaven When he has a woman's kiss. But there's danger in delaying, And the sweetness may forsake it: So I tell you bashful lover, If you want a kiss, why-take it.

Never let another fellow Steal a march on you in this; Never let a langhing maiden See you spoiling for a kiss. There's a royal way of kising, And the jolly ones who make it Have a motto that is winning; If you want a kiss, why—take it.

Any fool may face a cannon-Anybody wear a crown-But a man must win a woman If he'd have her for his own. Would you have the golden apple? You must find the tree and shake it; If the thing is worth the having,

And if you want a kirs, why-take if. Who would burn upon a desert, With a forest smiling by? Who would give his sunny summer For a bleak and wintry sky? O! I tell you there is magic, And you cannot, cannot break it! For the sweetest part of loving Is to want a kiss and take it.

AGRICULTURAL.

TO THE PLANTERS AND FARMERS-AGEI-CULTURALISTS AND MECHANICS OF EASIERN NORTH CAROLINA .- The Executive Committee of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association have so far completed their arrangements as to an-nonnce to the people of the facen counties of Eastern Carolina, that are represented in the as-Eastern Carolina, that are represented in the association, as well as to the people of the State at large, that they will hold their first Annual Fair at their extensive Fair content to the people of the State at large, that they will hold their first Annual Fair at their extensive Fair content to the large that they will be the people of the State at large, that they will hold their first Annual Fair at their extensive Fair content to the large that they will be the people of the State at any price (such I do not and will not keep.) at their extensive Fair grounds, (of 120 acres) near the city of Wilmington, about the middle of November next, (the exact days to be announ-

Every accommodation will be afforded the public, within their inclosed grounds, to exhibit their stock, agricultural and mechanical products, of every kind-including that of the flower-gardens and needle-work of the ladies, &c., &c.,on the most extensive scale desired. A race track for the trial of horses will be in readiness.

The Committee have nearly ready for publication, a very extensive list of premiums, for all articles that are likely to be offered at any State Fair, especially to farmers, gardeners, nursery-men, vegetable and fruit-growers and stock-rais-

The Committee earnestly call upon their fel-low-citizens of every honorable pursuit, to co-op-perate with them in making this, their first Fair, an entirely successful one.

The Association has for its object "the promotion of Agriculture, Commerce and the Mechan ic Arts in that section of country of which Wil-mington is the commercial centre."

And the Committee confidently expect that its members in the several counties,-and especially the Vice Presidents for the counties,-will use due diligence in getting as large an exhibition of the products of their counties as possible. To do this, early assurances, that the Fair will be held, are deemed necessary.

The Committee are assured that the railway company will make their rates for the transpor-tation of persons and things so low that NO ONE will be prevented from attending with their specimens. From the Hillsboro' Recorder. HOW TO RAISE TURNIPS.

As a score or more of farmers, old and young have asked me to give them my plantist raising turnips, I am wain enough to think my plan a good one, and that the public will be benefitted learning it through your columns. But, as Naaman and Syrian "went many yery wroth" because the prophet Elisha did not bid him "do some great thing;" to make him do so simple and old fogy a thing as "wash and be clean," so perhaps will your readers be disappointed when they learn how simple and easy my way of raising turnips is. Simple as it is however, I made by it in 1866 on fave-sevenths of an acre 500 bushels measured and put up for winter use, after having used from the patch for my table from early in the season till the time of taking them up (about the middle of November). In 1868 I made from one acre 450 bushels for winter use, having fed to my hogs beforehand 100 bushels I think, or thereabouts. My plan is to make the land rich with good, well-rotted stable manure plow deep; harrow and cross-harrow, until every clod is broken and the manure is thoroughly incorporated with the soil. Let this be done b the 1st and 20th when the soil comes into good plowing condition after a season, with a one-horse turning plow make ridges, two feet or a little more apart, by throwing two light farrows to-gether. Knock off the top of the ridge with a hoe handle or bean pole or, better still, a light hand plow with a bit not more than 21 inches wide, run a farrow on the flattened ridge an inch and a quarter deep (better under that depth than over it); sprinkle in this furrow No.1 Peruvian Guago at the rate of 100 lbs. to the acre; cover the guano with a hoe or rake then, just over the covered guano, open a furrow; or rather barely toake a mark with some light-implement (a sharpened bean-pole or a bean pole with a twenty penny nail driven into it will answer) not over a half inch deep; sow the seed in this and cover; with the back of a spade paddle sharply, so as to press the soil around the seed. In three or four days the seed will be up and the flea-bug on the ground ready to "goldble" them down. You may keep off his attack for a short time by sprink-ling the plants when the dew is on them with soot, dry dirt from an old house (if the salt-petre makers did not use it all for another purpose quick lime or Baugh's Raw Bone Phosphate. In ten days the plant, under favorable circumstances, will be beyond the reach of the flea-bug. If the soil is free from grass and weed seed you will make a good crop of turnips, after thining to six inches without further work, but a much better crop, most likely twice the amount by giving them thorough cultivation, first with the hand plow and hoe, and next with the buil tongue plow when the plants have attained sufficient size.
