SALISBURY, FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1870.

LOCAL AND STATE ITEMS.

Mr. H. H. Bernard, Proprietor of the Star Advertising Agency, Wilmington, N. C., is authorized to receive advertisements for this paper at our lowest cash rates.

Mr. H. H. Bernard will make a political address to the people of Rowan county on Saturday next.

STRAWBERRIES.—We make our political acknowledgments to Mrs. Williams Brown for the compliment of a dish of very delicious strawberries.

HENDERSON INDEX.—We deeply regret to learn that the office of the Index, including all the type and other material, was destroyed in the recent disastrous fire at Henderson. The Index was a liberal and conservative journal, conducted by a sensible, practical man, and fully alive to the interests of North Carolina.

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Cheraw and Salisbury Railroad Company will be held at Albemarle, Stanly county, N. C., on Thursday, June 2nd, 1870, in the Court House at 12 o'clock, noon. The Directors are requested to meet at 8 o'clock, A. M., the same day.

JEROME P. CHASE, Sec'y. and Treas. Florence, S. C., May 14, 1870.

STATE UNIVERSITY.—The commencement exercises at the University of North Carolina will occur on the 8th and 9th of June. Address will be delivered by Senator Abbott and Col. John H. Wheeler, historian of North Carolina.

TO PRINTERS.—The Standard wants three manuscript compositors. There's a chance for those who can read all sorts of manuscript, written under all sorts of circumstances, and in every stage of conservatism.

The fact is, our Raleigh compositors have never been sufficient drilled, heretofore, in setting up "zig-zag" manuscript, to meet the exigencies of the present times.—Sentinel.

A hall storm of brief continuance passed within a few miles of Salem on Friday night last, and though its width did not exceed a few hundred yards, it did considerable damage to the growing wheat in its path.

THE 20TH MAY.—The Firemen of Charlotte made preparations to celebrate the ninety-fifth Anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, and right handsomely did they perform their part. Two Engines and Hose-Carriage nicely wreathed with flowers, drawn by pawing steeds with main crest, were paraded through the streets, together with the Firemen in uniform and a number of citizens of this and adjoining counties.

The procession marched to the Military Institute grounds, where addresses were made by Col. H. C. Jones, Gov. Vance, Mayor Dowd, Gen. Young and our esteemed brother Editor, Mr. Justice, of the Observer.

The dinner was abundant and excellent, and free to all and enough for all. One or two hundred ladies were present.

The committees of Firemen really deserve praise for the manner in which they discharged their duties and for the handsome treat afforded on the occasion.

We were pleased to see visitors from Lincoln, Gaston and Cabarrus counties, and from York, South Carolina.

The Brass Band, composed of some of the best young gentlemen of our city, did a great deal to add to the enjoyment of the occasion by their splendid music.

The day passed off without accident of any sort. A young man, a stranger, under the influence of liquor, who introduced into the hall room a disruptive female, was seized by a number of gentlemen and carried off for a ride on a rail, but he was saved from that and probably serious injury by the appeals of Mayor Dowd and Gen. Young. He was released under promise to leave town immediately, which he did at double-quick time.—Charlotte Democrat.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD.—On Sunday morning, about 7 o'clock, as the freight train from Weldon, on the R. & G. Railroad, was passing Kittrell's Depot, the engineer, Mr. W. L. Norvell, discovered the body of a man lying near the switch, dead and badly mangled. He called up the citizens of the village, and on inspection, the body was found to be that of David Hayes, a resident of the neighborhood. It is thought Hayes was run over by the mail train going North, which passed there at 3 o'clock the morning, as he was seen at a drinking shop at the depot late the night before, much intoxicated. A correspondent writing us in regard to the matter, says:

"A few hours previous to his death, Hayes inflicted on Arthur Bass, colored, serious, if not fatal, stab with a knife; cards and liquor being the cause of a fight between them.

"It will be remembered that Bass, while driving a fine pair of horses, last year, belonging to Col. Hayes of Raleigh, entrusted them to a small boy who let them run away and kill a son of David Hayes, ten years old.

"But a few years back, Thomas Murray was found dead exactly at the same place on the Railroad; Murray and Hayes having had a difficulty that night, and Hayes being a man of bad character, was immediately arrested on suspicion of having killed Murray and put him on the track. But, on trial, for want of evidence, Hayes got clear. Murray's head was cut off by the train; Hayes's head was cut off in like manner.

"So ended Murray and Hayes. Bass yet lives, but in a critical condition."

A gentleman who came in on the freight train informs us that suspicion was strong that Hayes had first been murdered and then placed on the track, but there was no tangible evidence of the fact.—Raleigh Sentinel.

The population of St. Petersburg, Russia, on the 10th of December, 1869, was 667,026, of which 376,523 was male and 290,503 female.

TO DISTILLERS OF FRUIT.

The following circular appeared in the columns of this paper, issued on the 6th inst.:

ASSESSOR'S OFFICE, 6TH DIST., N. C., May 2, 1870.

To Distillers of Brandy: The law has been changed. You are required to give a bond of $500 in lieu of $500. Instead of two dollars per day, you pay ten cents on the gallon in lieu of the per cent. Special Tax 20 dollars instead of 50 cents. The whole tax on Brandy will be 60 cents, except the 20 dollars special. Surveys will be made at the proper time; put your distilling operations in good order.

As soon as it appeared the Statesville American and the Salem Press both expressed the opinion that the law had not been so changed—that it was an electioneering trick. To ascertain the fact the Editor of the Press addressed a letter to Hon. F. E. Shoher in relation to the matter, and received the following in reply. The letters of Mr. Shoher and Deputy Commissioner Given, for which we are indebted to the courtesy of Dr. Sites, of the Press, speak for themselves. It will be seen that no change has been made in the law, and that the suspicions of those papers were well founded:

MY DEAR SIR:—I herewith enclose you, by way of reply to yours to me, of the 11th inst., a letter from the Deputy Commissioner of Int. Revenue from which it appears that assessor Henderson's notice is unauthorized by law, and that he has been directed to countermand it.

Very truly yours, F. E. SHOHER, House of Representatives, Washington City, May 17, 1870.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, Washington, May 17, 1870.

Sir:—Yours of the 13th inst., transmitting printed notice, dated Assessor's Office, 6th District, North Carolina, the 2d inst., informing distillers of brandy from fruit that the law relative to their bonds had been changed, fixing the penal sum at five hundred dollars in lieu of five thousand dollars, is received.

In reply I have to say that no change of the character indicated by the notice referred to has been made in the law relative to the distillation of spirits from fruit, and Assessor Henderson has been directed by the Office to countermand the information given by him in his printed notice.

Very Respectfully, JOSIAH GIVEN, Deputy Commissioner.

HON. F. E. SHOHER, House of Representatives, Washington, D. D.

A HARD FIGHT. SMITH GROVE, N. C., May 21st, 1870.

Dear Sir:—I have a large Tom Cat, which on last Tuesday morning the 17th inst., after he had eaten his breakfast went off as usual and in about two hours afterwards returned, bringing something in his mouth very large. My wife stepped out to see what it was, when lo! and behold, he had an unusually large Mink by the throat, and it still living. Tom must have had a very hard fight for his legs were very bloody, the mink was as long or longer than that.

Yours, &c. JONATHAN SMITH.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.—REV. J. BRINTON SMITH having resigned the position of Corresponding Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, the Executive Committee to-day unanimously elected J. L. Litchford, Esq., to the vacancy, who immediately entered upon the discharge of his duties. We call attention to the following card issued by him, in regard to advertisements being inserted with the new premium list to be issued at an early day. The selection of Mr. Litchford for this position is a very appropriate one, as he is a most energetic gentleman, and will faithfully and intelligently discharge the onerous duties of the position.

TO BUSINESS MEN. It is the purpose of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, to publish, in a few days, a revised Premium List. The usual number of pages will be reserved for advertisements, those wishing to avail themselves of this mode of advertising, will please communicate promptly with

J. J. LITCHFORD, Corresponding Secretary, Raleigh, Sentinel.

ASPIRANTS. Mayor.—Well, neighbor, what's your opinion of this gentleman that is come to town, Don Quixote, as he calls himself?

Yater.—Eed! it runs in my head that he comes to run for parliament.

On Monday last some of the largest political gobs of this Congressional District reached Winston all oaked and primed, and on the next day, as a matter of course, they were a general fusillade. The people expected to hear a loud noise and smell a little harmless sulphur, as they were out in very respectable strength.

Col. W. F. Henderson, the trap, the wise and the valiant, his patriotic heart pregnant with great thoughts, and his no less patriotic bow bursting with compass on for the people he loves so well, fell off in the display, in that modest and refined manner for which he is so justly celebrated. He announced his intention to accept a nomination to Congress in a war about at which the Republican party, and its worthy representative, Col. Henderson, his feelings soon overcame him, his wings became weary, and he finally fluttered back to the perch whence he had flown.

Gen. James M. Leach, the "big Inghin" of the Press, to whom the nomination of a nominee to Congress in a war about at which the Republican party, and its worthy representative, Col. Henderson, his feelings soon overcame him, his wings became weary, and he finally fluttered back to the perch whence he had flown.

It was never my painful duty, as a member of the Press, to stand at the foot of the spread and disastrous conflagration. Nearly for a single morning! The whole business part of a flourishing village laid in ruins by the hands of a dastardly and unmerciful incendiary!

I forgot to state, in the right place, that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The building whence it proceeded was an old store, unoccupied for several years. There were about 500 dollars worth of goods in it at the time, and it is supposed that the building was first entered and robbed and then fired, and the intention of the parties was to profit by the general confusion to steal goods from other merchants.

It was never my painful duty, as a member of the Press, to stand at the foot of the spread and disastrous conflagration. Nearly for a single morning! The whole business part of a flourishing village laid in ruins by the hands of a dastardly and unmerciful incendiary!

Life is rendered miserable when the digestive organs are impaired. Food becomes repulsive; the body emaciated; the mind depressed; and melancholy broods over you. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS is the remedy for those who are afflicted with indigestion, and a good appetite, impart refreshing sleep and cheerfulness of mind.

Yours very respectfully, C. W. HARRIS.

THE GREAT FIRE AT HENDERSON.

We published in our last an account of the terrible conflagration at Henderson on Tuesday morning last, in which we gave the main facts, but the following letter to the Raleigh Sentinel from the editor of the Index, himself a sufferer, will prize of interest to our readers, and we assure the people of Henderson that they have the most hearty sympathy of the people of this section:

HENDERSON, N. C., May 17, 1870. The beautiful and enterprising town of Henderson is in ashes. This morning at 3 o'clock the alarm of fire called our citizens to their slumbers, to find our business born of fear and concern. The fire was first seen at the store recently occupied by Dr. T. C. Debnam, but for two months closed up. It soon spread from house to house until the whole block from J. H. Lassiter's store to Barnard's store was a lurid sheet of flame. The spectators, embracing a large part of our population, were paralyzed with terror, knowing well that the continuity of the houses and the insufficiency of means, or more properly, total want of means to extinguish fire were bound to give over the devoted town into the hands of the fire king, unless some unforeseen agency should work out a salvation as it were by a miracle. There were no means on hand to save the goods in the stores and the furniture in the private residences, than to save the buildings. At first there was little hope that any of the business part of the place would be saved from the devouring element. Some efforts were made, however, to save Mr. W. Kittle's store, the house next on the opposite corner to Barnard's, but both this and Mr. Kittle's were very soon burned down. Unfortunately Mr. W. did not save many of his goods. His neighbor, Mr. Kittle, was more fortunate, saving nearly his entire stock. All this time the wind varying from northeast to southwest, and the flames were rapidly communicated from the one to the other business block on Grand street. Within the space of an hour and a quarter the whole business portion of the place, embracing some thirty-five buildings, was on fire. The extension on the street may be imagined; it cannot be described. Shouts of encouragement, orders of merchants and others, who were moving out goods and chattels from the jaws of conflagration, the terrified aspect of the ladies and children, who, however, were less excited than is usual on such occasions and the weird, awful figure of the flames as they shot high into the air, were sufficient to stamp the scene as one of appalling interest. The greater part of the goods in most of the stores was saved. Finally, after burning down the most of the street, the fire spent its fury, or rather by a combination of fortuitous circumstances the nearest residences were saved.

Heroic exertions in the spreading and wetting of blankets by copious streams of water drawn from the various wells and carried in buckets, together with a sudden change of the wind, saved a small amount of property. The freedmen distinguished themselves. Among the whites who were most active, I shall mention particularly Mr. Charles J. Horne, a young Englishman, whose heroic efforts in rescuing Capt. Young's house from the flames, and other praiseworthy services on this memorable night, have endeared him to the everlasting gratitude of our afflicted people. Other gentlemen equally prominent, were Capt. A. F. Spencer, and Messrs. Hal. P. et or Jas. Lamond. We would not discriminate where all did their duty to the best of their ability.

The following is an accurate list of the losses we are able to procure this evening:

Lewis H. Kittle, merchant, amount of goods lost not known; store house and shop estimated at $1,000. J. H. Davis, the store building occupied by J. G. Clark, Dr. W. W. W. Agent, about $1,500. B. B. Clarke, nearly whole stock of goods, at a rough estimate $4,000. Barnard $400 to $500, insurance covering $750 of the stock. Post Office and residence of Mrs. V. C. McCraw, occupied by J. R. Barnard, $2,500, insured for $10,000. Hardy Harris, early stock of goods, estimated at $200. John W. Harrow, store building (Debnam Stand) $800. Dr. J. C. Debnam $2,000. J. B. Debnam, $500. W. H. Hughes, $1,000 to $1,200. Mrs. A. H. Alley, Henderson Hotel, residence and other buildings, $8,000. Birwell & Parham, merchants, $25,000, insured for $15,000. C. W. Harris, editor and publisher of the Henderson Herald, whole type, fixtures, books, etc., of the office, at a low estimate of $1,500. W. Hamilton Young, attorney at law, law library, papers, etc., $1,000. R. Lassiter, Son & Co., store house, dwelling and goods, $30,000, insured fully. James H. Lassiter, goods, about $2,500 to $3,000. J. G. Saunders, goods, roughly estimated at $200 to $300. Ed. Foy, bookseller and jobber, unable to give an estimate, correctly insured above amount of loss. Green & Barnett, tailors, slight. A. W. Rowland, druggist, $1,000. W. C. Harris, $400 to $500. D. W. W. Young, store house, occupied by W. C. Harris, $600. D. E. Young, nine buildings and goods, $10,000, half insured. J. E. P. Moore, store and hardware, $5,000 to $6,000. John W. Vaughan, two buildings and goods, $1,500 to $2,000 dollars, insured for 1,000 dollars. W. H. Harris, 200 to 300 dollars. C. Ledbetter, 500 dollars. Besides these, there are other sufferers for smaller sums, estimates of which, are not in my possession. The total approximated loss is $400,000.

SHAKING AND BURNING.

It is not necessary to journey from the tropics to Alaska in order to experience the extremes of heat and cold. Thousands undergo all the inconveniences of this thermometer change every day, or every other day, at the case may be, without the trouble of moving over the threshold. A word with them involuntarily shakers. What are they doing to expedite their return to a medium temperature?—to break the chills and banish the fever? Are they doing themselves with quinine, thereby impeding the soundness of their bones and impairing the vigor of their brains and nervous system?—

Some of them, no doubt, but not the majority of them, it is believed. The value of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a harmless and certain specific for fever and ague is understood and appreciated in all parts of the country where intermittents prevail. The residents of such localities begin to take it early in the spring as a protection against the miasma by which they are surrounded; not all of them, perhaps, for a blind adherence to error is the specialty of some people, but it is a matter of common knowledge that the Bitters are a far better safeguard against all the varieties of periodic malarial diseases which misadvised explanations may drug or compound in the material media of the profession. This assertion is made with all due respect to the faculty, but being an important truth, and one that nearly concerns the health of large sections of the various parts of the country, and indeed of the public at large, it is made fearlessly. Founded on ample and impeccable testimony, it defies disproof.

To break up chills and fevers, as well as to prevent them, there is nothing so reliable as this wholesome vegetable restorative. If there is any fixed fact in therapeutics, it is this: that the Bitters are a far better safeguard against all the varieties of periodic malarial diseases which misadvised explanations may drug or compound in the material media of the profession. This assertion is made with all due respect to the faculty, but being an important truth, and one that nearly concerns the health of large sections of the various parts of the country, and indeed of the public at large, it is made fearlessly. Founded on ample and impeccable testimony, it defies disproof.

MANHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED. Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the Medical and Physical Cause of (without medicine) of Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Losses, Impotence, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates (in a thirty years' successful practice) that the disease, when properly treated, may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of poisons, pointing out a mode of cure of one's own power, and one that is safe, and one that every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, and radically.
