ROAD STEAMER

* * * * * * * * *

The Road Steamer can run on any kind of road. It runs over hard roads and paved streets without jolting, over soft roads without sinking, over muddy roads without slipping; nay, it needs no road at all, for it can run with equal ease over grass fields, through ploughed fields, upon ice, through loose sand and over frozen snow. Though small and light itself, it climbs the severest gradients and draws enormous loads. It owes all its faculties and its exemption from the disabilities of other traction engines to one device as simple as it is efficacious. The wheels, which are of great width, are surrounded by tires of vulcanized India rubber, enables the Road Steamer to float over the surface of the ground without the slightest damage to the road, while they likewise protect the machinery from all concussion. The intervention of the elastic tires between the wheel and the road acts, in fact, in the same way as if the engine were running over a tramway of India rubber.

Mr. R. W. Thompson, C. E., of Edinburgh, the inventor of the Road Steamer, having experienced much annoyance from the defeat of traction engines, and finding none of them able to do work for which he required them, conceived and carried out the idea of providing the wheels of a steam engine to run on common roads with India rubber tires of immense thickness. When the first patent road steamer was tried, some two years ago, its success was complete, and far exceeded the expectations and hopes of the inventor. Since then he has been engaged in building numbers of these engines to send to all parts of the world, and the record of some of their performances, in the presence of engineers, agriculturists and other practical men, will doubtless be found interesting. A three-horse power engine drew a boiler weighing thirteen tons up an incline of one in twelve, the ground being so slippery at the time from frost that horses could not keep their feet. The engine was run through a grass field without leaving a track, and again through a field covered to a depth of two feet with loose earth.—A twelve-horse power engine, weighing eight tons, ran with four wagons attached to it out to received a load amounting, with the four wagons, to thirty-two tons, making the weight of the whole, forty tons; and then returned up inclines of one in sixteen to Edinburgh. It wended its way, with its train of ninety feet, with perfect facility through the narrow streets of the old town, which chanced on the occasion to be thronged with vehicles carrying people to some open fair festivity. It turned all manner of sharp corners, ran down the steep hill to Leith, entered a lane, and drove in through the gates of the factory, where it delivered its load. An engine was driven into a newly dug potato field, and there ran about in every direction, leaving the soil quite undisturbed. A twelve-horse power engine, drawing a load of seventeen tons of pig-iron was driven along the Granton road at the rate of eight miles an hour. The same engine was run along the seasands from Portobello to Joppa, running through the loose dry sands over the soft wet sand, and even through a creek of running water, with as much ease as if it had been driving along a turnpike road.—It was driven over long bols of broken fliot laid down for road mending, and the motion to those riding on it was as smooth and pleasant as if it had been going over a lawn, while the stones remained quite [illegible] under the [illegible] power engine, was [illegible] thirty-[illegible] ten [illegible] them have on [illegible] up the long [illegible] down the [illegible] without a break. MR. CHASE.—Dora Pitts writes to the Commercial:

I saw the Chief Justice the other day, and I am glad to say that he continues steadily to improve in his health. He now walks miles every day, eats with a relish, and sleeps like a child. He is gaining flesh and strength, and his face is again assuming its old form of characteristics and expression. The convalescence of the Chief Justice has revived all the old speculations concerning the Presidency, and should his health continue to improve, I would not be astonished to see him nominated by the Democracy and elected President of the United States. When he was struck down by this sickness, the leaders of the party considering him out of the way, very generally admitted that he was really their only available candidate, and a man who ought to hold the position. They did not calculate upon his restoration to health, and now that he is getting well, these confessions are somewhat awkward, and go far to strengthen him for the nomination and election.

PROUD OF HIS MOTHER.—It was a cold night in winter. The wind blew, and the snow was whirled furiously about, and seeking to hide itself beneath cloaks and hoods, in the very hair of those who were out. A distinguished lecturer was to speak and notwithstanding the storm, the villagers very generally ventured forth—[illegible] attorney, buttoned up to his chin in his thick overcoat, accompanied his mother. It was difficult to walk through the fallen snow against the piercing wind, and William said to his mother:

"Couldn't you walk easier if you took my arm?"

"Perhaps I could," his mother replied, as she put her arm through his, and drew up as close as possible to him.

Together they breasted the storm, the mother and the boy, who had once been carried in her arms, but who had now grown up so tall that she could lean on his. They had not walked very far before he said:

"I am proud to night, mother."

"Proud that you can take care of me?" she said to him with a heart gushing with tenderness.

"This is the first time you have leaned upon me," said the happy boy.

There will be few hours in that child's life of more exalted pleasure than he enjoyed that evening, even if he should live to an old age, and should in his manhood, lovingly provide for her who, in his helpless infancy, watched over him.

A Memphis gentleman arrived in St. Joseph, Mo., who seems to have been the victim of adverse circumstances. He was robbed of a considerable sum of money on the steamboat between Memphis and Cairo; got into a "free fight" on the cars; and, on attempting to visit his intended, who resides near St. Joseph, had nearly all his clothing taken off by a mad-stone sized bull dog. As was confined to his bed by indisposition the following day.

SEWING MACHINES CANNOT BE SEIZED.—In the case of Camp vs. Singer, in the Marine Court, New York city, a young lady sued the city marshal for seizing her machine under a judgment from one of the district courts. The judge held the sewing machine to be exempt on two grounds—first, as being necessary house hold furniture, and second, as being used by the plaintiff to earn her living—and he gave judgment in $88, the price of the machine, with interest on it from the date of the seizure, and regarding it as a trespass, would give damage $10 a week, which the plaintiff could have earned with the machine, but if the marshal returned it before Monday, he would limit the damages to $25 and costs of action.

A MASSACHUSETTS ROMANCE.—It is related of a family in Dorchester, Mass., that every dark eyed member of it for the past fifty years, have become blind at the age of twenty to twenty-five years. Those with blue eyes escaped the terrible affliction. The local gossips tell a romantic story how, some sixty years ago, a beautiful black-eyed girl, reduced by blindness to beggary, was led astray by two boys of this family, and left by them in a swamp, and who, when she found herself deserted among the tangled underbrush, turned her prayers that they would extricate her, into a dying curse, praying that their children for seven generations might be as helpless as she was.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying to all parts of the body the vital elements of perfect digestion, and thereby removing all impurities, from whatever cause developed, in the shortest possible time. Also, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They invigorate the stomach, and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Copious Discharges of Urine, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms which are the offsprings of Dyspepsia, are cured by these Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.
