names, whom he succeeded as Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the University of N. C., the duties of which office he performed for nearly half a century with marked success, fidelity and satisfaction, during which period, he was an active Trustee, and for a long time on the Executive Committee of the Board. His connection with the University did not cease till its old organization was destroyed and its prospects unfortunately limited in 1858. It was chiefly through an instrumentality, that the University finally realized the proceeds of the sales of lands in Tennessee, which had been secured by a compromise with that State, and which constituted the chief base of the property of the University, once the boasted pride and noble ornament of our State.

In 1824, he was appointed reading Clerk to the House of Commons—that fine specimen of old school gentlemen and Revolutionary times, the venerable Pleasant Henderson, of Chapel Hill, being principal Clerk. In 1840, he became principal Clerk, and remained continual ly, by repeated elections in the same office till the general election of 1848, when he was elected Governor of the State, the duties of which office he discharged with great honor, usefulness and distinction. He filled various other offices of confidence and trust, the duties of which were always performed with credit to himself and usefulness to the public.

GOV. MANLY—MEETING OF THE MEMBERS OF THE BAR.

At a meeting of the members of the Bar of the city of Raleigh, held for the purpose of paying respect to the memory of the late Governor Chas. Manly, on the 8th day of May 1871. On motion, Hon. Wm. H. Battle was called to the chair, and C. M. Busbee, Esq., requested to act as Secretary. Mr. Barringer moved that a committee of three be appointed to prepare suitable resolutions for the meeting. The motion was adopted and the following gentlemen were appointed: Hon. D. M. Barringer, and Messrs G. V. Strong and A. M. Lewis.

Resolved, That the high and honorable place always held in our profession by the late Governor Manly, entitle his memory to the warmest tribute of our fraternal and affectionate regard; and while we mourn his loss as brothers and as members of society, we commend his good example and manly virtues to all who seek and expect success in professional and public life.

MR. POOL'S EXPLANATION.

The Hon. John Pool, in reply to the testimony of Mr. Badger that he had counseled Gov. Holden to have certain citizens "lost at sea" or murdered, made the following statement in the U. S. Senate before the adjournment of Congress: "Mr. President, the Senator from Missouri (Mr. Blair) has referred to a statement of R. C. Badger, Mr. Badger is mistaken in most of the points referred to in his testimony by the Senator from Missouri. There were the statements of two other witnesses taken at the same time, and I presume the Senator from Missouri was not aware of the fact, or else he would not have done me the injustice of suppressing the truth, for both of those witnesses put a different face upon the whole affair. I say, sir, upon that point that I never advised or heard any one advise the arrest of a single individual in North Carolina by name; nor did I ever know, until after I heard of the arrests being made, that any particular man was the one as a person proper to be arrested. I will state that I never advised violence of any sort toward any man, and that I never advised or heard of a resort to military tribunals for trial until long afterward."

In the Memphis court Saturday, Judge Flippen sentenced Samuel H. Poston to death for murder. In their childhood, the death and the criminal had been schoolmates, and had grown up together. To this the judge alluded, and ended his sentence of death upon his old schoolfellow, bathed in tears, in which the spectators took a hand.

An explosion in the new gas works at Chicago on Tuesday, caused by supposed defect of the merte, blew out the north end of the building considerably. The clerk and another person in the office were badly injured.

A secret society of workmen, 50,000 strong, called the "Raft," is in existence in New York. Its object is to influence elections favorably to the working classes. Branch societies are in nearly all the large cities in the Union.

Mrs. Eddy, of Lincoln, caught her better half kissing the servant girl. The doctor was sent for. He says he can patch up Mr. Eddy's face, but he'll always be baldheaded.

A veteran housekeeper affirms that the scarcity of good servants is largely attributable to the scarcity of mistresses who know how to keep an one should be kept.

Of sixty pupils in one school in Cape Elizabeth, near Portland, Maine, the past winter, thirty-five were Juggans. It is hoped that their teacher did not find "Jordan a hard road to travel."

Nearly complete official returns of the election for Justice of the Supreme Court in Wisconsin give the following result:—Lyon, Republican, 67,623; Palling, Democrat, 55,436; Republican majority, 12,187.

The Newbern Times has been shown a specimen of petrified cork with a petrified mushroom attached. The cork was originally attached to a fish net, and from appearances might have been used a thousand years ago.

THE LUTHERAN CHURCH.

A committee of Ministers and Laymen of the Synods of Tennessee and North Carolina, Lutheran Church, met at Mount Pleasant, Cabarrus county, N. C., on the 25th of April, for the purpose of forming and proposing terms of union between the two Synods or branches of the same Church.

The committee on the part of the N. C. Synod was Rev. L. C. Grosseau, B. Scherer and W. Aldrich, and Capt. J. A. Fisher and P. A. Sifford. On the part of the Tennessee Synod: Rev. Dr. A. J. Fox, J. M. Smith and T. Moore, and A. Costner and Alex. Courad, Esq.,—Rev. Dr. A. J. Fox was elected President, and Rev. N. Aldrich, Secretary.

The committee remained in session three days and agreed on terms of union, which will be submitted to the synods for their ratification or rejection. It is thought that the agreement will be cordially endorsed by both parties.—Char. Democrat.

DISCOVERY OF A BROTHER'S GRAVE.
A lady and gentleman from the far South, while here on a bridal tour a few days ago, visited Oakwood Cemetery. Among other objects of interest while roaming through the soldiers' section in that city of the dead, the gentleman suddenly came upon the grave of his only brother, killed in the Confederate service, and whose last resting place had hitherto been unknown to any member of his family. It had been carefully and legibly marked by the good ladies of the Oakwood Association, and there could be no mistake as to its identity. The stranger immediately ordered a marble slab to be erected over the remains, and took the wooden head board put there by the Association to his mother in the South. It is stated that a brother of the bride was also killed during the war, and his remains are interred at another Richmond cemetery.—Hollywood Dispatch.

The village of Milan, in Ohio, is a phantom-haunted locality. According to a correspondent who writes from that place nearly every second house in the village, is developing into a weird sort of a ghostly receptacle. Upon the window panes of these houses faces are gradually appearing, having the effect of the old-fashioned daguerotypes of the years past. Nobody can account for these visitations. They develop themselves on the glass gradually. First an eye, then a nose, then another eye, a mouth, and so on, until the whole face, sometimes bearded and sometimes smooth-shaven, becomes clearly visible to the beholder. Either the people of Milan, Ohio, must be gifted with very strong imaginations, or else a marvel has arisen among them. None of the stupid townpeople think it advisable to remove the glasses, and dispose of them. There's a fortune in those ghostly faces, if they only knew it. —Washington Patriot.

The remains of Baron Steuben were recently removed from their late resting place to a tomb erected for their reception in the town of Steuben, in New York. —The Baron died on November 28, 1794, nearly seventy-seven years ago. The present interment makes the fifth time his remains have been removed. A monument now marks the spot where he lies buried, it is to be hoped permanently.

A fop mother in Kingston, N. Y., keeps an old-fashioned rocking-chair sitting in a corner as an ornament, because in it she has rocked ten babies, all of whom grew up to be men, and are now living and married.

The new mansion for the Governor of Missouri, at Jefferson City, is expected to cost $50,000. Four granite columns to ornament the front have been presented by Gov. Brown who owns the quarry from which they were taken.

A woman cleaned out a gambling den in Lima, Ill., the other day. Her son was engaged in playing cards there, and she conveyed him boldly from the premises, and her action brought the establishment into such odium that it was broken up.

Dio Lewis says that not one case in twenty of rheumatism will hold out if the patient will go without supper, and eat only plain meat, bread and vegetables in moderate quantities, for breakfast and dinner, and going to bed at night drink a tumbler of lemonade without sugar.—But we doubt it.

Philarete Charles, the French savant, has spent his whole fortune of over seven hundred thousand francs in purchasing what he believed to be autograph letters of distinguished men of former times, but which have since proved to be skillful forgeries. Despite his heavy losses he has steadily refused to give the names of the parties who swindled him so basely and systematically.

LIVER The symptoms of Liver complaint are weakness, indigestion, and pain in the side.

Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism, the stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general become costive, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, and ineffectual exertions, and a general feeling of languor, which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved.—Cure the Liver with—
