SOPHOMORE GIRLS ENTERTAIN MOTHERS
 Girls of the sophomore class of the Shelby high school entertained their mothers last evening at an informal reception at the school building. The home economics room and the auditorium where they were entertained were decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias.

A committee of girls met the mothers in the downstairs lobby and directed them upstairs where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abernethy and other members of the high school faculty. Simple refreshments were served in the home economics room and each mother was given a hand-painted booklet with a mother verse in it as a favor.

The program, presented in the auditorium, was opened with a piano solo by Mrs. Charles Austell. Miss Ina Lewis Forney gave the address of welcome, which was followed by four musical numbers, presented by Misses Mabel Wray Doggett, Mary Frances Blanton, Sara Mull and Sara Mundy Hamrick. Two skits, "The Home Which Cooperates with the School," and "The Home Does Not Cooperate with the School" proved interesting to the mothers present. Both were attractively presented by talented members of the class, the first being given by Elizabeth Fox and Phyllis Yates, and the second by Barbara Cook and Betsy Hall. Evelyn Carter made the farewell address.

A feature of the program was the introduction of the mothers present by their daughters. Afterward an informal get-together of mothers, daughters and teachers was held in the hall.

About one hundred were present.

FULK TELLS PEOPLE JUST WHERE TO WALK

RALEIGH, Oct. 28.—(P)—Arthur Fulk, director of highway safety, urged pedestrians to walk on the left hand side of highways, facing traffic, as he noted today that 363 of the 1,095 persons killed in automobile accidents in North Carolina in 1935 were pedestrians.

"Most of the pedestrian accidents this year have been in rural areas," Fulk said, "and the underlying cause has been walking on the wrong side of the road. Walkers should walk on the left hand side, facing coming automobiles."

INITIATE SAFETY WORK IN SCHOOLS IN THIS COUNTY

Dr. Parker, Red Cross Head Says Drive Is Now On
 With the assistance of school children throughout the nation, the American Red Cross has entered the second year of a fight against accidental deaths and injuries on the farms and in the homes of the country. Dr. S. F. Parker, chairman of the local chapter, Red Cross, declared today.

"Students in both elementary and high schools have cooperated, during the past year, in spreading the doctrine of safety in homes and on farms," Dr. Parker said. "The attention of parents and homemakers has been called to the alarming accident rate prevailing today through check-lists distributed through the schools to approximately 4,000 homes."

More than one third of all fatal accidents and nearly half of all injuries are sustained in and about the home, Dr. Parker revealed, pointing out that 34,000 persons are killed by accidents annually, 150,000 persons are permanently crippled, and more than five millions of persons injured during this period.

The traffic problem in rural areas is extremely serious, he pointed out. He surprisingly revealed that more fatal accidents occurred on rural highways than on city streets, and that last year 64 percent of all traffic deaths occurred on the "open road" and in towns with a population of less than 10,000 persons.

"More children are injured in homes than in other locations," he said. "A six-year survey has revealed that 32 percent of accidents to children were suffered in the home against 19 percent on school grounds, 17 percent in school buildings, nine percent in going to and from schools, with 23 percent taking place in other locations."

"Such shocking injuries taking place within what we consider the most secure of all places, the home, points to the need for more attention being paid this problem by parents," he concluded. "The Red Cross has taken the lead in this fight against such losses and permanent injuries, and seeks the cooperation of citizens everywhere in the struggle against such useless drain on our happiness and security."

The local name for the hump-backed salmon on Puget sound is Haddo.

LAWRENCE LEE IS TRANSFERRED

Rev. Lawrence W. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Lee of the Lawndale community, Cleveland county has been transferred by Bishops Edwin D. Mouson and Paul B. Kern to the Virginia Conference. Bishop Mouson invited a number of the young ministers of the Western North Carolina Conference to go with him to the Virginia Conference; he stated that he lost eight by death and ten were forced to superannuate because of old age.

Rev. Mr. Lee is a graduate of High Point College with an A. B. degree and Duke University with a B. D. degree. Mr. Lee has served two years in the Western North Carolina Conference, adding 150 members to the church during these two years; all the budget was raised each year; this being the first time in the history that the charge which he served paid everything in full.

Magistrate Is Running Race From Jail Cell

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(P)—The presidential contest of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred M. Landon will hold the headlines across the nation Nov. 3, but a lot of other interesting things will be happening, too, as follows:

Alex Tinsley, Justice of the Peace in Ansted, Fayette county, North Carolina, W. Va., will be running for the state legislature from a jail cell. He was tossed in the brig after conviction for assault on a fellow magistrate.

He writes letters, sends out handbills from his novel headquarters, but can do no traveling nor speaking.

"Bets" in jail is helpin' me get votes," he says.

There's something highly significant, if it can be worked out, in two election problems that face voters in Nebraska and Georgia.

Nebraskans, for instance, will judge between two candidates for state land commissioner, and at the same time will pass on a constitutional amendment that would abolish the office.

The situation is just reversed in Georgia. DeLacey Allen, nominated by the Democrats for lieutenant governor, is running for an office that doesn't exist. On the same ballot is the question of creating such an office to replace that of Georgia's senate president.

Officials Are Expecting Voting To Break Record In The State This Year

Constitutional Changes Are Attractive Interest As Well As Are State And National Races

RALEIGH, Oct. 28.—(P)—Election officials and party leaders joined today in predicting a record-breaking vote next Tuesday when North Carolinians vote for national, state and local officers and on five proposed changes in the state's constitution.

Democrats and Republicans directing one of the most intensive political campaigns ever waged in the state and Raymond C. Maxwell, secretary of the board of elections, forecast a vote in excess of 800,000, up more than 10 per cent from the record set in 1932 at 711,801.

Proponents and opponents of the constitutional amendments have also been conducting an active campaign and say they expect the balloting on the proposals to be unusually heavy.

The constitutional changes before the voters will be:

(1) To permit the legislature to add as many as two additional associate justices to the Supreme court, and to allow the court to sit in divisions except in cases involving the federal or state constitutions.

(2) To permit the legislature to exempt from taxation homesteads occupied by the owners up to $1,000 in tax valuation.

(3) To permit classification of property for taxation.

(4) To permit levy of income taxes up to 10 per cent, instead of only to six per cent as now.

(5) To limit debt of public governmental units, state and local, by requiring that no new debts, except for certain necessary purposes listed, may be incurred by any unit in an amount in excess of two-thirds of the amount by which the outstanding debt was reduced during the preceding fiscal period, unless such debt be approved by a majority of the voters of the unit.

The proposed amendments bear the endorsement of leaders in both the Republican and Democratic parties.

The Democrats, announcing they will have more than 1,000 precinct political talks Thursday night, have scheduled probably close to 2,000 meetings during the campaign and practically every leader in the party has taken to the stump, including candidates defeated in the summer primaries.

Governor Ehringhaus has been campaigning for the national party ticket in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The Democrats last week reported that some 4,000 persons this year had contributed $12,908.01 to the party's campaign fund, with Senator J. W. Bailey's $478 topping the list, while $7,569.70 had been spent.

Republican contributions showed $5,733.50 between August 1 and October 20, with $5,000 being given by Stuart W. Cramer of Cramerton, and expenditures were listed at $5,908.06.

Dixon Democrat?
 The Republican campaign has been carried on quietly but intensively with few major political rallies. Thomas Dixon, former Democrat and well-known author, has been traveling at the expense of the party attacking the New Deal but denying he is a Republican. Various nominees have also made a number of speeches, but nothing like as many as in the Democratic camp.

Gilliam Grissom, the Republican choice for governor, expressed confidence today he would be elected. "I will gain a majority of around 75,000 of the honestest cast and counted votes," Grissom said, "and we are going to work to hold down the doubtful absentee votes to insure my election."

Wallace Winborne, state Democratic chairman, and D. L. Ward, party secretary, predicted on the other hand that the party would sweep the state as it did four years ago and that the only thing which might keep the majority even as low as the record-breaking 1932 margin of 285,000 would be "overconfidence in the overwhelmingly Democratic counties."

The State Board of Elections reported all was ready for the voting, which will start at sun rise Tuesday and end at sunset. Millions of regular ballots, for national, state and constitutional votes, have been distributed to 1,853 polling places, as $2,000 absentee blanks.
